PRINCE LOUIS BANISHED. Berlin, July 6 .- Prince Louis of Bavaria, who raised a storm in Germany by his protests at Moscow against being classed as a follower of Prince Henry of Prussia, who represented Emperor William at the coronation, has had an interview with the Empero at Kiel. It was brought about by the Prince Regent, Luitpold, and lasted 20 minutes. His Majesty was reserved and haughty, and expressed no direct criticism of Prince Louis' sensational Moscow speech. The prince, instead of remaining with his regiment at Augusburg, as had been intended, has been ordered by his father to proceed to his Hungarian estate, as a sort of mild banishment.

ENGLAND'S STRONG CASE. London, July 6.-In expressing the hope for an early friendly solution of the Venezuelan dispute, Dr. Emil Reich, in the New Review, declares that the question offers no real ground for arbitration. The article is important, because Dr. Reich has been called upon by the Government for confidential reports on the records here, in Holland and at Caracas. He contends that both law and history prove to the hilt England's claim on the basis of effective occupation. Venezuela, says, has no serious case, and England would never arbitrate but for intervention of the United States and the supreme English popular desire to relove all obstacles to Anglo-American friendship. Great things were hoped from his visit, a German coaling station in China, big orders to German firms, etc.; but no such orders have been given, and nothing has been done. Secretary Detring, of the Chinese statesman's staff, returning thanks on behalf of Li Hung Chang,

Progress of the Recounts in Various Constituencies.

THE MAIL'S RED HERRING Ottawa, July 6.-The Journal (Indeendent) has the following: "The Toronto Mail and Empire keeps up its suggestions that Mr. Laurier's victory and the defeat of the Conservative Government is due to the race cry in Quebec. "A simple enough condemnation of and there was very little suggestion of this baseless idea is the fact that the Conservatives lost just one seat less in Ontario, the Mail and Empire's own province, than they did in Quebec. "At dissolution, the Conservatives had 29 seats in Quebec. Now they

"The Conservative loss in the rest of Canada was greater than in either Quebec or Ontario. The party made a net loss of 5 seats in Nova Scotia, 5 in New Brunswick, 3 in the Northwest and 4 in British Columbia. And the party did not gain anywhere, except possibly one seat in Prince Edward Island, and that by an Independent Conservative candidate.

"The Journal rehearses these facts because the Conservative party ought to realize and must realize if it is to fight successfully now an uphill battle, that the causes of its recent defeat were not racial, were not sectional, were not accidental. The defeat was due first of all and above all to general public distrust of the party leaders, due to incompetence, extravagance and unscrupulousness. In the best interest of the Conservative party, as well as of that which is above all party and for which every good citizen should be ready to sacrifice party, namely the good of the country, the true moral of the Conservative defeat should not be dis-
