The death of Richard Ryan, of Dereham, removes a man of strong indi-viduality, a typical representative of the old school of Ontario pioneers. He was well known and highly esteemed among his neighbors in Dereham and exerted a very wide influence among the people of his own faith in that district, and his was probably the most familiar figure as the meetings and conventions of the party during all the years that the Liberal Association of the south riding has existed. Mr. Ryan's death removes a picturesque figure from the rural and political life of South Oxford. His name will long live in the annals of the district. He was a true man, a splendid type of the early pioneers.
