NEWCASTLE, N.B., Jan. 2.—
Three-fourths of the New Brunswick pulp mill at Lower Derby, six miles from here, built six years ago and doing a large business, was burned yesterday, leaving only the chemical and boiler plants. The damage was about $100,000 and is about covered by insurance in some 30 companies. The mill, which generally employed 100 people, had been shut down since the middle of last May.
