BRAINY WORKERS

Working Shoemakers, Chimney Sweepers, Trimmer Men, and Seamstresses Are Among the Most Learned.

Genius like murder, will out, and the history of modern literature provides us with some striking examples of men and women who, although humbly born and denied by circumstances any educational advantages, have given to the world some remarkable literary works. At the present time, for instance, the compilers of the great Oxford English Dictionary are deriving much help in their work from a Concordance of the words of Thomas Kyd, a learned literary man and dramatist of the sixteenth century, which has been compiled by Mr. Charles Crawford, a London railway clerk.

Mr. Crawford is a great authority on Elizabethan English, and published his Concordance five years ago. His knowledge of words has been acquired through close study, and is certainly extraordinary, for often when experts have failed, without investigation, that such and such a word or phrase occurs only in certain writers, or does not appear in certain authors, Mr. Crawford has produced abundant evidence showing the statement to be incorrect.

The Shoemaker Historian

An even more remarkable work than Mr. Crawford's Concordance, however, was that compiled by John Mackintosh, LL.D., who died at Aberdeen four years ago. Although Mackintosh was a shoemaker by trade, he was one of the most notable personalities that the North Country has of recent times produced, and his "History of Civilization in Scotland," in four big volumes, has been described as one of the most complete histories of Scotland ever written.

It is only a few weeks ago that the University Extension Board appointed Mr. Walter Hunt lecturer on sociology. Mr. Hunt has had an amazing career. He started life as a sailor, spent some time in the fire brigade, and then set up as a chimney sweep at Streatham. He then decided to attend the Robert Browning Settlement in Walworth, and in time was led to write a book about the question, "Are we a declining race?" which attracted much attention among critics. Mr. Hunt's successful writings on race deterioration, involving as they did an immense amount of research work, are the more remarkable when one considers that his calling took him out at four o'clock in the morning. Most of his study was done at night time, and he confided in an interview a little while ago that he found no time to read anything but works on science and history. "Life is too short to waste time in reading fiction," he said.

It might be mentioned that London also possesses a linguistic treasure in the person of Mr. Richard Hobdell, of London, who is employed by the London County Council as a pointman on the car system. Mr. Hobdell has a perfect knowledge of Arabic and Sanskrit, and has just finished translating a book from Sanskrit into English. Hobdell, who was with Lord Roberts on the famous march from Kabul to Kandahar, has devoted much of his leisure time since leaving the Army to the study of languages—a study of which he has always been very fond.

The literary sensation of last year was a book, "Marie Claire," written by a Parisian seamstress, Marguerite Audoux, who worked as a dressmaker in one small room on the sixth floor of a house in Paris. The story won a prize of $1000 and royalties—a prize given every year by what is known as the Goncourt Academy for the best novel of the year. It took her a great stress ten years to write her book. "I did not write it to be published," she said, during the course of an interview, as she sat in her little workroom. "It is just my life. And it is because Marguerite Audoux told the story of her life in plain, simple language that she scored such a literary success."

A CONTRADICTION

The Case of the Fox is a Curious Contradiction—He Exists Solely by Reason of Persecution.

The position of the fox is a curious one—he exists solely by reason of persecution. Once let humanitarians step in and put an end to the cruel treatment of foxes, and he must come to exist.

At present a huge sum is spent every year for the apparent purpose of exterminating canis vulpes, yet an entire race of single-descent foxes by artificial means occurs. A fox is a woman, yet he is more carefully protected than most game, and, save in the hunting season, his person is sacred.

True the naturalist, interested in one of the last wild beasts existing in England, tries to make out as good a case for him as he can. He points out with perfect truth that foxes kill rats, when they come across them, and that they eat worms and beetles.

"MY STOMACH IS FINE" Since Taking Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets

Mrs. J. M. Hingler, Waterloo, Ont. enthusiastically recommends Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets. Her experience with them, as she outlines it, explains why. "I was greatly troubled with my stomach," she writes. "I had taken so much medicine that I might say to take any more would only be making it worse. My stomach just felt raw. I read of Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets, and a lady friend told me they were very easy to take, so I thought I would give them a trial and really they worked wonders. Anyone having anything wrong with his stomach should give Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets a trial, they will do the rest. My stomach is fine now and I can eat any food."

One of the many good features of Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets is that they are so pleasant and easy to take. The relief they give from heartburn, flatulence, biliousness and dyspepsia is prompt and permanent. Try one after each meal—they'll make you feel like a new person.

Premier Flemming at Gagetown Banquet.

Tells of Plans to Try to Get More Families in Province.

Gagetown, B. F., 8.—More than a hundred and sixty people attended the banquet in honor of Premier Fleming, Mr. S. L. Peters was chairman and Mr. J. R. Dunn vice chairman. Mr. Peters read a letter from Hon. Mr. Hasen in which he regretted his inability to attend. When Mr. Fleming rose to speak, he was greeted with loud and continued applause. He said he believed that the Valley Railway would be a great factor in the development of the province. But the government intended to acquire the deserted farms and improve them, selling them to settlers at cost. These farms would be in condition to produce a crop the first year and they will be sold to the settler at an initial cost of 25 per cent. of the whole, with the balance payable in ten equal instalments with 5 per cent. interest. This would be quite independent of a plan which would be worked out in conjunction with the Canadian Pacific Railway for assisting worthy immigrants into the province. Then there was another plan to assist immigrants already here to bring their families out.

W. M. F. BUCK

C., who afterwards became Superintendent of motive power on the Atchafalpa, Topeka and Santa Fe railway, died on the 31st ult., while being carried by a special train to Los Angeles from the hospital at Albuquerque, from an attack of tonsillitis.

This is the season of the year when "mothers feel very much concerned over the frequent colds contracted by their children, and have abundant reason for it as every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality, and paves the way for the more serious diseases that so often follow. A Sign of the Times

PEOPLE are becoming very careful about what they eat and drink. The preference for goods in sealed packages—especially in food stuffs—is now quite definite and becoming more so every day.

We must frankly admit that there are sound reasons for this preference. Food stuffs cannot be exposed to varying atmospheric conditions without losing both strength and flavor.

Tea—of all articles of everyday diet (excepting coffee, perhaps) needs protection most, and best merchants have been quick to appreciate the fact. So much is this the case that the selling of loose Tea in bulk will soon be a thing of the past.

According to Government Estimates

was made in Western Town Property during the year 1909

Did you participate in these huge profits or did you "pigeon hole" the propositions submitted to you by your western friends for future consideration? In short, are you the man who made a profit or the unfortunate one who has been deceived by the opportunity or sufficient courage to close a deal? The man or woman entitled to sympathy is the one who says: "Five or ten years ago I had the chance to buy this or that property at $100 or $200, and now it is worth $10,000." The average person sneers at the person who makes such a statement and says: "I would have bought and made that money." Are you going to say five years from now that you had a chance to buy a lot at Poe, Alta., for $50 to $100 each, or are you going to be the man who will have from $1,000 to $10,000 in cash as a result of having bought property in this town in this year of grace, 1911?

POE A COMING COMMERCIAL CENTRE

Poe is located on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway between Edmonton and Saskatoon. It is located in one of the finest farming districts in Western Canada. The surrounding country is settled by a progressive type of farmers, and consequently will become the market centre for Northern Alberta. Poe district possesses rich coal mines, is close to rivers and lakes and large forests are easily accessible from this point. These natural resources insure for the residents of the town, first, low cost of living, and second, great commercial activity, two essentials in the building of a large town, thus creating valuable real estate.

POE AS A MANUFACTURING CENTRE

This townsite and contiguous territory has the requirements outlined by large manufacturing concerns for the location of large factories or large enterprises of any kind requiring large numbers of people. The rivers and lakes furnish water, the coal fields and forests supply fuel and cheap building material, the fine farming lands furnish farm products, enabling the residents to live at a low cost.

The town is located on the main line of a transcontinental Railway, assuring the necessary transportation facilities. These combined conditions will furnish cheap labor, one of the most important features of a manufacturing centre.
