HARRIS & CO. PROPRIETORS.

WATFORD, MAY 25, 1906.

License Law Changes.

According to the new license law no woman will be permitted to tend bar, nor will any boy not of age. A license will entitle a bartender to follow the occupation in the municipality only in which it is issued, unless it is endorsed by the license inspector of another riding. Bottles in case goods must not be filled, and the inspector is empowered to test all liquors. Violation of this clause of the act renders the guilty person liable to a fine of from $20 to $100. The change in the Indian list is important. The man must be notified of the issuing of the notices. It is forbidden the hotel-keepers to permit such a man to loiter around the barroom or such place where liquor is sold; it is ordered that the man himself shall not loiter around such places. If he does he is subject to a penalty of not less than $10 nor more than $20. But if the person having the habit of drinking to excess and against whom notice has been served within twelve months attempts to secure liquor from parties with whom notice has been served or loiters around their premises, he will be subject to a penalty of not less than $10, nor more than $20 or imprisonment for one month.

Heavy Penalties.

The committee on election laws, of which A. H. Clarke, K. C., M. P. for South Essex, is a member, commenced the actual work of revising the existing Dominion election laws with a view of securing cleaner elections. The most important change adopted was that which provides that an elector who neglects to discharge his duty as a citizen by exercising the trust reposed in him as a voter shall be disqualified from voting for six years unless he shows upon oath good reason for his failure to go to the polls. Another important change which will be, it is expected, almost as far-reaching in its effects as that referred to above was in the clause referring to the hiring of carriages on election day. A person demanding or receiving payment for the use of a horse or team on election day is also made liable to a penalty of $100.

The Summer Evenings.

A writer in the Strathroy Age has the following which some Watford young men would do well to ponder over:—Now, young fellow, how are you going to spend them? You know how you spent the winter ones and can tell if you spent them to advantage or not. They are gone, and gone forever. But the summer is before you. What are you going to do? Have a good time. I hope so. But that, I trust, does not mean wasted time. If you are inclined to sport take it up, if it be honest, harmless sport. But for any sake, don't loaf around the street corners. If you like baseball get in to the game. If you prefer rowing get hold of a boat and get some one to teach you how to manage it. And if you can do nothing else buy a bike. You may run somebody down, but what of that, if you save your own precious neck? Choose your sport with a view to building your physical system, and take care not to over do it. It makes me madder than a wet hen to see the same fellows parading up and down Front street, night after night with their hands in their pockets and a hunk of tobacco in their mouth and every now and then "flagging" some girl as she happens along. Once a week is quite enough for that sort of thing.

DEATH OF MADAME RIEL.

Mother of Louis Riel, The Metis Leader.

Winnipeg, May 21.—One of the notable characters of the West, as well as one of the landmarks of the past, died yesterday in the person of Dame Julie Lagimodiere Riel, mother of Louis Riel, the turbulent and misguided Metis leader, who headed two rebellions against the Canadian authorities. Madame Riel was 86 years old, and was born in St. Boniface, her parents being the first white settlers of Western Canada. She was married there 64 years ago, and long life was characterized by unwavering faith in the unhappy son, which even the hardest criticism could not assail. Sorrow over his tragic end in paying the penalty of treason was the only cloud of her declining years. She had ten children, and one of her boasts was that in all her long life she had never been attended by a physician. Three children, two sons and a daughter survive.

Moloy's flax mill, in Thedford, has closed for the season. About 20 hands were employed, and most of them will be provided with work in the new evaporator now in course of construction.

Principal Craswell, of the Sarnia Collegiate Institute, reports 236 pupils on the rolls for the month of April. Principal Karr, of the Public schools, reports 1,359 pupils on the Public school rolls for the same month.

Wm. Thomas, a former well known Petrolia ball player, late with the Buffalo team, is believed to be drowned. He was with the team when the boat left Jersey City, but disappeared during the night, and no trace has since been found of the missing man.

KERWOOD.

A year ago the people of our prosperous little village displayed their loyalty to their country by celebrating the 24th of May. This year two of our harmonious societies have united hands and are going to benefit their fellow men by giving them an opportunity of enjoying a real twentieth century garden party.

Animals That Need Little Water.

Patagonian llamas live for years without tasting water and a breed of cows near Losere, France, and noted for the richness of their milk, takes it very rarely.

Saskatchewan Filling Up.

Battleford, Sask., May 21.—It is estimated from the large number of people looking for homesteads, and the fact that there appears to be very few obtainable, that at the end of the year there will not be a homestead left in the noted Saskatchewan wheat belt.

Shot by Unknown Man.

Ottawa, Ont., May 22.—J. B. Roy, merchant of this city, when returning from his farm on Cyrville road, was shot at by one of two men who passed him in a rig.

The shooting was done with a shotgun, apparently loaded with duck shot. The shot plowed several holes in Roy's left cheek, and badly injured his left eye. The hat Roy wore was literally riddled with holes. His face was also badly burned by the powder, showing at what close range the gun had been discharged. Roy has no idea who his assailants are.

To Keep Out Flowers.

A little salt put into the water in which cut flowers are kept will lengthen the lives of the flowers. The water should be changed each day and the stems should be cut a trifle and washed by being held under the faucet. Roses immersed in a large, deep basin of water at night and set in a cool place may be kept fresh for many days. Let them lie deep, with the blossoms upon the surface like pond lilies.
