VALUABLE POINTERS ON LIFE INSURANCE.

"Benjamin Franklin was not only a philosopher, but he was, in a sense, a financier, although he never joined the millionaire coterie. Benjamin always talked horse sense, though. He said: 'It is a strange anomaly that men should be careful to insure their houses, furniture, ships and merchandise, and yet neglect to insure their lives, surely the most important of all to their families, and far more subject to loss.'"

"Whimsical women often oppose the insurance of their husband's lives just for a freak, or from pique, or to be odd. When the husband dies uninsured they do feel rather odd, surely. It would have been better for them to feel even. Now, wouldn't it?"

"Create a competence for your old age, if you can afford an endowment. But do not neglect a straight life for your family under any circumstances. It will be sinful for you to do so."

"You should gauge your life insurance in accordance with your yearly earnings. Life insurance proffers protection to the maximum income, the minimum income, and the moderate one as well. Let not the wealthy man despise the insurance day of small things, nor the poor one think the prize of life insurance beyond his reach."

"Praise is due, of course, to the man who keeps his life insured, even for a nominal sum. 'Half a loaf is better than none.' But the man who deserves the fullest praise is he who keeps his life insured completely and fully."

"It is a mighty good idea to get your life insured, but we can tell you a better one: Keep it insured. Don't miss paying a premium on your life."

The policy which is suitable to a man of limited income, to one of moderate means and to another of affluent circumstances, is the Compound Investment of the North American Life Assurance Company.

Too Weak to Walk.

FRIENDS HAD GIVEN UP HOPE OF RECOVERY.

The Trouble Began With a Cough Which Settled on the Lungs—Subject to Fainting Spells, and at Last Forced to Take to Bed—Restored by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills When All Other Medicine Had Failed.

From L'Impartial, Tignish, P.E.I.

Mr. Dominick P. Chasson, who lives on the Harper Road, about two miles from the town of Tignish, P.E.I., personally took the trouble to bring before the notice of the editor of L'Impartial, the particulars of the cure of his daughter-in-law, Mrs. A. D. Chasson, through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The case is certainly a remarkable one and we cannot do better than give it in Mr. Chasson's own words. "My son's wife," said he, "has been sick for some seven years past, but previous to that time was a strong, healthy person. Just about seven years ago she took a severe cold, which attacked her lungs, and from that time up to the beginning of the past summer her health has been feeble, and at times we despaired to save her life. It was not her disposition to give up easily, and on some occasions while engaged in household work she would be seized with a fainting spell, which would leave her so weak that she would be confined to her bed for several days in a semi-unconscious state. More than once we thought she was dying. There was a continual feeling of numbness in her limbs, and almost constant severe pains in her chest which were only eased by a stooping position. Added to this she was troubled with a hacking cough, sometimes so severe at night that she did not obtain more than a few hours sleep. About the end of 1894 we had given up all hopes of her recovery, and the neighbors were of the same opinion. She was reduced to almost a skeleton, and could scarcely take any nourishment. She had grown so weak that she could not walk across the bedroom floor without help. We had often heard and read of the great cures effected by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and at this stage, when all else had failed, I urged that they be given a trial, and procured a half dozen boxes. After using them for about three weeks she could walk across her bedroom floor without aid, and from that time on she continued improving in health from day to day. She continued taking the Pink Pills for about four months, with the result that she is now a healthy woman, and it is now no trouble for her to walk to church, a distance of two miles, and the grateful praises of herself and friends will always be given Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

The experience of years has proved that there is absolutely no disease due to a vitiated condition of the blood or shattered nerves that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will not promptly cure, and those who are suffering from such troubles would avoid much misery and save money by promptly resorting to this treatment. Get the genuine Pink Pills every time and do not be persuaded to take an imitation or some other remedy which a dealer, for the sake of the extra profit to himself, may say is "just as good." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure when other medicines fail.
