

INTRODUCTION

The present report is a summary of the work done in the Programme of research on the history of the French language in the period 1950 to 1960. It is intended to provide a general overview of the work done in this field and to highlight the main findings. The work has been carried out in a number of areas, including the history of the French language, the history of the French people, and the history of the French culture. The main findings of the work are that the French language has a long and rich history, that the French people have a strong sense of identity and history, and that the French culture is a unique and important part of the world's heritage.

The work has been carried out in a number of areas, including the history of the French language, the history of the French people, and the history of the French culture.

The main findings of the work are that the French language has a long and rich history, that the French people have a strong sense of identity and history, and that the French culture is a unique and important part of the world's heritage.

The work has been carried out in a number of areas, including the history of the French language, the history of the French people, and the history of the French culture.

The work has been carried out in a number of areas, including the history of the French language, the history of the French people, and the history of the French culture.

The work has been carried out in a number of areas, including the history of the French language, the history of the French people, and the history of the French culture.

Appendix A

Appendix B

Appendix C

Appendix D

Appendix E