

From all I know of his judgment and experience, his zeal and devotedness, I regard Mr. McIlraith as well qualified, under the divine blessing, for discharging the duties of the pastoral office, whether I advert to the Sabbath day services in the sanctuary, or the week day visitations from house to house among the people. I think he has piety, prudence, gifts, and acquirements, which would render him a useful and acceptable Minister, where in the providence of God he may be appointed to labour.

MATHEW COCHRANE,

Minister of St. Peter's Parish, Glasgow.

From C. W. H. Pauli,

Church of England Missionary to the Jews in Amsterdam, formerly lecturer on Hebrew at Oxford, and Author of the Analecta Hebraica and other works.

REVD J. McILRAITH:

MY DEAR FRIEND:

WITH THIS YOUR M. S.

I have read your treatise on Hebrew Syntax, which, if in some parts more enlarged, would prove a benefit to the Student.

You ought to overcome your diffidence, and boldly give it to the printer, bearing in mind, that your knowledge of the Hebrew language belongs to the Church.

Most truly yours,

C. W. H. PAULI.

Mission-house, Amsterdam, April 10, 1857.

. D.,

Nov. 21, 1848.

of the character and y recently licenced to pearance before the
a scholarship as warreer in the service of

I have seen few equal
power of illustration,
in the popular preach-
ceptable as a faithful
th. I marked, at the carefully matured by agination withiu the already acquired, no s which I learn have well grounded, though usefulness.

MEMES, L. L. D.,
Minister of Hamilton.

. D.,

APRIL 19th, 1854.

lified both by personal chial Minister.
raith adds an ardent
best interests of men;
varied and extensive.
r; while there are few
of the duties con-

recommended himself
s charge, by his able m what I know of his confident that he has to prove himself one Scotland.

J. McCULLOCH,
Minister.

me,

v.

12th APRIL, 1854.

y years. I have had ble to say that in my
a views of Christian e of illustration, and est and instruct the