

JOURNAL OF EDUCATION,

Upper

Canada.

VOL. XX.

TORONTO: MARCH, 1867.

No. 3.

CONTENTS OF THIS NUMBER:

	PAGE
(1) The London Collegiate Institute. (2) Progress of the Collegiate Institute	49	Baptist Canadian Literary Institute. (7) County vs. Township Superintendents. (8) Irregularity of attendance at School. (9) Enactment Regarding Education in the Canada Confederation Bill. (10) School Provisions of the Canada Confederation Act	54
II. BEQUESTS FOR EDUCATIONAL PURPOSES.—(1) Noble Literary Legacy to Laval University. (2) Munificent Bequests by the late Rev. John Spence, of Scotland. (3) Mr. Peabody's Donations. (4) Mr. Peabody's Munificence in aid of Southern Education. (5) American Educational Benevolence. (6) Education of Priests in Illinois. (7) "The First Gentleman of the Class."	51	V. PROGRESS OF EDUCATION IN OTHER COLONIES.—(1) Progress of Free Schools in Nova Scotia. (2) Education in New Brunswick. (3) Education in Barbadoes	58
III. PAPERS OF METEOROLOGY, &c.—(1) Abstract of Monthly Meteorological Results. (2) Kingston Observatory Lectures. (3) Meteorology in Iceland and Faroe	53	VI. PROGRESS OF EDUCATION IN OTHER COUNTRIES.—(1) National Schools in Italy. (2) College of the Sorbonne, Paris. (3) Gymnastic Education in France. (4) Military Education in England. (5) The High School in Boston. (6) Mode of Teaching in the Latin School, Boston	59
IV. PROGRESS OF EDUCATION IN UPPER CANADA.—(1) Schools of New York and Upper Canada. (2) Schools in Massachusetts and Upper Canada. (3) Common Schools in New York and U.C. (4) University Education in England and Canada. (5) The Hamilton Grammar School. (6)		VII. BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES.—No. 8. Colonel Gourlay. 9. Mrs. John, the Daughter of Brant. 10. Col. Jacob Potts. Recent Canadian Deaths	61
		VIII. MISCELLANEOUS.—(1) The Popularity of the Royal Family. (2) "Queens shall be thy Nursing Mothers."—Queen Victoria. (3) Count Montalambert on England	62
		IX. EDUCATIONAL INTELLIGENCE	63

1. THE LONDON COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.

The information which we gave in the January number of this Journal, in regard to the public collegiate institutions of the country, would scarcely be complete without some reference to the principal of that class of them which is so well represented by the London Collegiate Institute. Among the many excellent private schools of the province, it stands, confessedly,

THE COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE, LONDON, UPPER CANADA.