

WOMANHOOD

TRY as ye will, ye cannot make it cleer
To me that I was made to stand alone
As stands the stately oak whose pride hath grown
Greater and greater with each passing year.

The consciousness of strength and self-control,
The glow of pride, the triumphs of the mind,
Are these the things required by womankind
To satisfy the cravings of the soul?