THE FARMERS' LOAN FAILURE.

The collapse of the Farmers' Loan and Savings Company is owing not so much, if at all, to the depression in real estate as to the dishonesty of the officials and the negligence of the auditors and directors. The publication of the facts connected with this financial wreck should not, and we believe will not, adversely affect the other loan companies. The failure of the Farmers' Loan does not prove that Toronto real erely goes to show that dishonesty and egligence are capable of wrecking any astitution, 1. matter how strong it may be. It will rather be in the interests of the loan companies that the collapse of the unfortunate company should be thoroughly investigated. It will be in the interests of every financial corporation in the city that such an investigation should be held. It is in the interests of the city of Toronto and the public generally that we should get to the botton of the disaster. It is a serious enough have such a failure occur in the city. But it would be ten times more serious if it were spread abroad that we were trying to hush the matter up, or if we failed to institute whatever civil and

INVITING COMPETITION

According to the statement of the superintendent of the Toronto Railway Company the carrying capacity of a surface tailway in Toronto has reached its kimit. The railway company can handle no more traffic during the crowlhours than they now take care of. What is the remedy? Clearly the time has arrived for selling the franchise for an elevated service. A light elevated railway to Parkdale, via Front street, would give a superior service to the surface lines. Such a service would pay, and if the Toronto Railway take the position that they have reached the limit of their capacity, the city would be justified in asking for tenders for the elevated franchise, which it still retains in its posfound to undertake the construction of elevated lines-north, west and east. There is still another remedy available. The city is not debarred from licensing an auto-car service. Such a service is quite possible now. Horseless vehicles have reached a satisfactory stage of development, and there would be no difficulty whatever operating a system around the belt line, for instance, and along other routes. Does the company really desire a competitor in the field? It certainly is inviting trouble for itself in admitting that its system is no capable of handling the traffic.
