CHINESE WILL FIGHT THIS. Will Go to Privy Council to Upset Van-couver Bylaw.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Feb. 28 .- (Special.)—A year ago the city council of Vancouver passed a bylaw against Chinese market gardeners and in favor of its own city market. Chinese were by this enactment prohibited from peddling around the city before 10 o'clock in the morning. A test case came up in police court, and a Chinese peddler fined $5. He has appealed to a full court, and the Chinese deto a full court, and the Chinese de-clare they will carry the appeal to the privy council, if necessary, on the ground that this is class legislation.

The archbishop declared he would not suffer any one to misguide the souls entrusted to his care. His grace did not go into details nor mention names, stating he felt he would be understood, but added he regretted the shameful things that newspapers were bringing to the notice of the youths. The archbishop added he had witnessed in other lands the ruin caused by laws contrary to Christian principles, which laws he thanked God were unknown to the code of this country.

NO MORE CLUB LICENSES Ald. Foster Would Try and Make Social

Ald. Thos. Foster presided at yesterday's Massey Hall meeting of the Canadian Temperance League, and said the future aim of the league should be "to banish the liquor from the club." The next delegation from the alliance to the legislature should try to convince the government of the wisdom of granting no further licenses to social clubs of any kind. He also expressed his hope that the next temperance movement in Toronto would be local option by wards or to the cutting in half of the number of shop

METEOROLOGICAL OFFICE, Toronto, Feb. 28.—(8 p.m.).—Cold weather has prevailed to-day in Ontario and in Quebec, while in other portions of Canada it has been generally mild. Light snowfalls have occurred in Manitoba and locally in Nova Scotia; otherwise conditions have been fair.

seeding generations. It is the problem of our day. What think ye of Christ?
This is the supreme question around which all others group themselves. As we answer it here, so we shall answer it here, so we shall answer it there.
The men of Jesus own time were unable to regard him as a man like other men. In the gospels there was consciousness was separated from all others. When we think of all Jesus did, of what He was to Countless multitudes of human souls all over the earth at this moment, the last of the contemporaries, of what He is to countless multitudes of human souls all over the earth at this moment, the last of the contemporaries, of what He is to countless multitudes of human souls all over the earth at this moment, the last made up its mind that He was a good man—"the highe t, hollest, Thou!"
Disclaiming any sympathy for Unitarian belief, Mr. Jackson remarked that Unitarianism had done good in bringing near to men the fact of Jesus' simple human life. He was the carpenter's son, going about mending furniture and doing the ordinary work of a carpenter. It would do good to many if they allowed that simple fact to sik into their minds. Men and women whose days are consumed with the commonplace should remember that Jesus gave 30 out of 33 years to the commonplace should remember that Jesus gave 30 out of 33 years to the commonplace should remember that Jesus gave 30 out of 33 years to the commonplace should remember that Jesus gave 30 out of 33 years to the commonplace should remember that Jesus gave 30 out of 33 years to the commonplace should remember that Jesus gave 30 out of 33 years to the commonplace should remember that Jesus gave 30 out of 33 years to the commonplace should remember that Jesus gave 30 out of 33 years to the commonplace should remember that Jesus gave 30 out of 33 years to the commonplace should remember that Jesus gave 30 out of 33 years to the commonplace should remember that Jesus gave 30 out of 33 years to the commonplace should remember that Jesus gave 30 out of 33 years to the women whose days are consumed with the commonplace should remember that Jesus gave 30 out of 33 years to the commonplace tasks and duties of His position.

"This is My Beloved Son" was another answer. Dwelling on this point Mr. Jackson remarked that the doctrine of our Lord's divinity, if it was to be of any value, or anything but a por, pale, ineffectual phantom, must be the intellectual interpretation of our own personal relations to Jesus. "I believe in Jesus Christ," he replied, "the only begotten Son of God, who for us men and for our salvation, came down from heaven, and was incarnate by the Holy Ghost of the Virgin Mary, and was made man, and was crucified also for us."

This led to the next answer, that of the Samaritan woman, "He is the Saviour of the World." No man could realize the salvation of Christ unless

TWO MEN DOUCHED IN BAY

Ice Cutters Had Failed to Protect Hole They'd Made.

But for the instinct of the R. C. Y. C. dog, two men would have been drowned in the slip back of the clubhouse.

In the filtention of President Roosevelt to go from the inaugural ceremonies at the Capitol direct to his train for Oyster Bay, and not return to the White House in the carriage with Mr. Taft.

This year's parade is to be a whopper. Thirty to forty thousand men are to be in line. The parade will continue from 1 p.m. till dark, marching past the big stand in front of the White House, where President Taft is to review it. It is to be a great day for the governors of states. Nearly all of them are to be here in uniforms, on prancing steeds, accompanied by their gorgeous staffs. After the morning church, of which he is a member, Mr. Taft went to the White House, spending an hour with Presi-respecting the foreign relations of the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Taft were luncheon guests of Senator and Mrs. Hale, and from 4 till 6.30 this afternoon an informal reception was given Mrs. Taft. Many persons called, and as the president-elect was also present the affair took on pretentious proportions.

Senator Kittredge had an extended interview with Mr. Taft during the afternoon respecting the Mann bill, providing for a government for the Panaviding for a government for the Pana-ma Canal zone, which is pending in

CRITICIZED THE JUDGES

Stenographic Reporters Don't Like Working Far Into the Night.

There was a large attendance at the monthly meeting of the Chartered Stenographic Reporters' Association on Saturday evening. After dinner there was a variety of business transacted. Examinations for diploma were fixed for April 10th, and public dinner for April 23rd E. E. Horton gave a practical demonstration of short-cuts in reporting. Clarkson W. James, secretary to the minister of education, received at the hands of President Bengough the Memorial Portrait of Sir Isaac Pitman, which is to be hung in the gallery at the education department. Judges who shatter the nerves and destroy the eyesight of court reporters by sitting far into the night came in for criticism, as also did public men who put the work of the skilled reporter on a par with that of office shorthanders.
