As purveyors of pantomime the Hanons stand singularly alone. They are the originators of all that is new in this line of work. Their productions have been marked by generous set-tings; their tricks and illusions have een most ingenious, and their company usually talented and versatile, despite the fact that there is an in-firite variety of entertainment in the pentomimic work alone, they each seaon interpolate into their performances lot of high-class vaudeville talent; European marts are scored each sea-son for specialists, talented and origi-nal in their acts. This season, it is said, has been no exception to the rule, and specialty acts consisting of ground and specialty acts consisting of ground and lofty tumbling, difficult acrobatic feats, grotesque contortions, dainty dancing, character singing and other novelties have been introduced.

The new tricks that have been added are legion; the whole first act is now given up to a fairy barn-yard, where all the denizens of that well-known locality peregrinate and perform many amusing and unheard of feats by the aid of the peculiar and wonderful contrivances that the Hanlons with their odd bent in that direction can invent. odd bent in that direction can invent. A word of praise might be added for the gorgeous new transformation scenes, some of which, it is confidently expected, will create a strong sensation

The cast contains many new faces this season, and everywhere the stamp of novelty can be detected. A feature this year is a grand corps de ballet, consisting of thirty beautiful girls who dance special compositions known as the "Quack-Quack" dance, ballet of Pierrots and Pirrettes, Oriental Flower Ballet, and the "Incantation."

The engagement commencing at the Ballet, and the "Incantation."

The engagement commencing at the Princess Monday night is for one week with the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees, and a special matinee Good Friday. "Superba" is one of those clean, wholesome attractions that parents feel like taking their children to, and there is just enough left of Humpty-Dumpty to fill the young mind with pleasurable delight.

THE PASSOVER. What and How Our Jewish Fellow-Citizens Are Celebrating.

Commencing at 7 o'clock Saturday night the 3000 Jewish residents of Toronto, in common with their brethren throughout the world, entered upon the celebration of the Feast of the Passover. The feast is held in accordance with the Divine command to commemorate the exodus of the Israelites from the land of Egypt—the birthday of liberty, as they call it, During, the continuance of the feast all Jews refrain from eating anything that contains leaven, leavening being looked upon as a type of sin, and being at the same time a reminder of the way in which the Israelites were forced to bake their cakes, thrown hurriedly into the first two nights of the Passover are called Seder nights. In each house the narrative of the departure from Egypt is read from the Hagado, and after the evening meal is taken psalms of thanksgiving are sung.

There are a number of other peculiar ceremonies observed on these evenings. In addition to the unleavened bread, a sauce called Charoses is prepared. It is something like mortar, and symbolizes the hardships the Israelites underwent in making bricks for King Praraoh. Bitter herbs to typify the bitter bondage and oppression they endured 'a bone of the lamb, which is a reminder of the Paschal Lamb, and salt water, typifying misery, are also used in the ceremonies. Throughout the Passover all Jewish house-wives are particular not to have anything that is leavened in their houses. They are Passover all Jewish house-wives are particular not to have anything that is leavened in their houses. They are careful, also, not to drink anything not prepared by Jews, in order that they may be sure it has not undergone fermentation.

In the synagogue to-day there will be Hallel said, and special passages will be read from the Pentateuch relating to the Passover. The first two and last two days of the Passover only are kept as hely days.

PRIMA FACIE EVIDENCE.

This is the Finding of the Committee re
Rev. George Nesbitt.

At the Synod office, Saturday morning the commissioners appointed by the Anglican church to investigate the charges made by Miss Osborne of Sutton against Rev. Mr. Nesbitt, clergyman in that village, brought in their report. They find that there is a prima facie case against the minister. This judgment will be transmitted to the House of Bishops, which will meet shortly to try the case, Representatives from the office of the solicitors of the parties interested were present at the reading of the judgment. at the reading of the judgment.

The commissioners were Rev. Canon Cayley, Rev. Canon Sweeney, John A. Worrell, Q.C., and George F. Harman, barrister.

Miss Marie Studholme, the Greatest Beauty on the Stage, to Appear in "Au Ar-tist's Model." Thursday, Fri-day and Saturday.

Miss Studholme has the bluest, most childlike eyes imaginable. She is prettler off the stage than on, and how merrily and frequently she laughs. Miss Studholme manages to be a beauty without getting any of that beauty sleep which is said to be had only before midnight. Her duties as an actress prevent her from going to bed in time for that; but if she never rettres before midnight, she never rises before noon. Miss Studholme does not play the model in "An Artist's Model," but she has in her brief career yielded to the persuasions of London artists and stood or sat as a real model. Doubtless, readers of this have seen copies of the picture of the girl sitting on the moon, called "Luna;" Miss Studholme was the model for that. So she was for the picture, "Life is but a Dream," and for that one entitled "As In a Looking-Glass."

that one entitled "As In a Looking-Glass."

The surprise of people who have heard of Miss Studholme merely as a beauty is to find that she is not of the statuesque type, like the usual stage beauty. She is all animation and activity on the stage, and her proportions are far from herole. She is, in fact, in the Dresden china class. She weighs only 120 pounds. She is 5 feet, in the high. Her bust measurement is 36 inches, that of her hips 36 inches, that of her hips 36 inches. She was born at Baildon near Leeds in Yorkshire. She first appeared in Dorothy, then in La Cigale, next in Haste to the Wedding, in which she made a great hit, and then in Morocco Bound. After that she joined the Galety Company, appearing as Gladys Stourton in The Galety Girl. She took London by storm at the Galety, and has been under contract to Mr.George Edwardes ever since.

When Miss Studholme came to America and appeared at the Broadway Theatre, the New York critics for some time took off their hats to an English beauty, and admired her withcut their usual reservations, and for once the Philadelphia and Boston critics deemed the example of New York critics worthy of following.

The engagement is for three nights and Saturday matinee.

The Lenten season, which is always dull at the theatre, will end Saturday inght, and on Easter Monday the springtime will be ushered in with one of the most notable dramatic attractions Toronto has had in many a day at the Grand Opera House. In consequence of the rain and the windy weather the scene was robbed of its accustomed brilliancy. Bright dresses were seen nowhere, not even on the club stands, but instead mackintoshes, cloaks and dripping umbrella; were the order of the day. The Cambridge men were out in their boat at 11 o'clock to see that everything was right. They rowed hard for ten strokes and then paddled for half a minute and returned to the landing stage. Afterwards the Oxford men made a similar trial. The betting had not undergone any change over night, and everybody was predicting a hard race, both crews being greatly above the average in form. Cambridge, having shown the greater speed in the time tests made within the last few days, was more admired than her rival, and it was regarded as quite probable that she would upset the calculations of the Oxford men that they wild add one more to their string of 512 consecutive victories. The usual crowds witnessed the launching of the boats, both crews being heartily cheered as they paddled away to the starting point.

creep up, while the roughness of the water hampered the Cambridge boat. Combridge's loss of the lead was brought about gradually, making it a close race throughout.

The Oxford boat from this point drew ahead, and reached the ship hotel at Mortlake, the finishing point, a winner by a quarter of a length, in 20.01, adding one more to Oxford's list of six consecutive victories since Cambridge had won a varsity race.

consecutive victories since Cambridge had won a varsity race.

The usual deafening cheers and screeching of whistles greeted the victorious crew, and the usual scenes in other respects were enacted, for, except the slightest differences made by the weather, one year's show along the Thames championship course from Putney to Mortlake is exactly like another.

Putney to Mortlake is exactly like another.

During the greater part of the race both crews rowed a stroke of 32 to the minute, which was extraordinarily heavy work. The style and regularity of Cambridge's rowing did not avail them anything, owing to the frequent squalls and the consequent roughness of the water. Ferrie, Cambridge's stroke, pulled a long powerful stroke, with high feather, which greatly pleased the critics, but the oarsmen in the middle of the boat did not answer well. The Oxford men were determined throughout, and tugged steadily at their oars. Gold, the stroke of the Oxford boat, made a terrific spurt at their oars. Gold, the stroke of the Oxford boat, made a terrific spurt at their oars. Gold, the stroke of the Cambridge crew, whose boat was almost waterlogged. Bell, Bieber and Bonsey of the Cambridge crew, were rowing rather wild toward the end of the race.

Oxford has now won 30 and Cambridge 22 races, the contest in 1877 haveing resulted in a dead heat.

WHAT WILL BE RESULT

WILL THE NOVA SCOTIA SYST BE THE ONE ADOPTED

By the Conferees at Winnipeg. Who A Trying to Settle the School Dafficulty? -An Attempt Will Still Be Made to Pass the Remedial Bill Into Law-

Ottawa, March 29.—(Special).—Reports from Winnipeg to the Government yesterday and to day all point to a compromise on the school question. What the nature of the suggesed settlement is no one outside the circle of Cabinet Ministers knows definitely, although the general impression is that something like the Nova Scotia system will be agreed upon. In brief, while the Nova Scotia system does not recognize Separate schools, under the law, Catholics have practically their own schools, their own teachers and receive provincial aid to their schools. All Catholics, however, contribute to the Public schools in the matter of taxation. There should be no difficulty in reaching a settlement on these lines, as Mr. Ouimet, the Ministerial champion of Catholic schools, has admitted that it would be acceptable to the minority in Manitoba.

It is stated, however, that no mat-ter what understanding is reached in Winnipeg, the Remedial bill will, if possible, be passed into law with the proviso which was referred to the moviso which was referred to the other day.

Many Conservatives here hope this determination will not be carried into effect, as they consider it implies a lack of trust in Manitoba to carry out the agreement which everyone expects is to be reached.

pects is to be reached.

Fishing in the st. Ciair River.

Mr. Costigan, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, has reached a decision regarding the changes in fishing regulations for the Detroit and St. Clair Rivers. Hitherto the American fishermen on these rivers have not been restricted. There has been no close season in spring or fall. United States fishermen have been allowed to use destructive methods of fishing, including bare hooks, as well as an excessive number of pound nets. Under these conditions they have certainly monopclized the lion's share of the fishing in the narrow waters. The Minister has, therefore, decided to grant every privilege to Canadian fishermen that is now enjoyed by U. S. fishermen. Ilmited only by certain restrictions which are statutory. These latter will include the issue of licenses. The deputation which was here the other day asked for free fishing, but the Minister will not concede this, holding that the department must retain some control over the fisheries. It is hoped that Mr. Costigan's decision will lead the American authorities to see the necessity of agreeing upon fair regulations in waters contiguous to both countries. Otherwise it is obvious that the fisheries in tinese rivers, Detroit and St. Clair, must soon come to an end, and Lake Erie, for which they are the spawning grounds suffers in consequence.

Religion in Schools.

Dr. Carman, superintendent of the Methodist Church, preached educational sermons here to-day. To-night at Dominion Church he said it should not be different to the control of the control at Dominion Church he said it should not be difficult for Anglicans, Roman Catholics, Methodists, Presbyterians, Baptists and all other Christian denominations to agree upon some form of religion to be taught in the schools of Canada, If such an agreement were arrived at the public authorities would not dare to refuse to accept it. His honest conviction was that the very people who were making the greatest howl about religion in the schools were people who were keeping God and religion out who were keeping God and religion out of the schools. Mr. Earle, M.P.; who has several vessels engaged in the sealing industry, has reports up to last Monday of the coast catch of the British Columbia fieet. The Oscar and Hattle is the top liner, with 240 skins, one of Mr. Earle's vessels, the Fawn, being second, with 180. This represents six weeks' work, but the catch is not up to the average, owing to the bad weather.
