THINK GERMAN
NAVY OFFICERS ARE INSULTED

Von Tirpitz Partisans Take News of Arabic Settlement Very Hard -- "Doubt a German's Word"

Berlin, Oct. 13--The news of the Arabic settlement was almost lost in the discussion over the Balkan situation and is arousing no general interest. The press, with a few exceptions, refrains from comment, but gratification at Count von Bernstorff's success is expressed in quarters which have consistently worked for a good understanding with America. The von Tirpitz partisans take the news very hard, certain phrases in Count von Bernstorff's letter to Secretary Lansing apparently being felt by them to be an insult to the naval officers.

Count von Reventlow, in the Tages-Zeitung, refuses to believe the report until it is officially confirmed. He says: "It seems out of the question that statements made under oath by the German commander and his crew regarding the Arabic's intentions were weighed against sworn statements of English steamship officers, and were found lighter. Moreover it seems out of the question that a trained, experienced, cool-headed commander, with a crew of the same character, should have been so deceived as to the intentions of the approaching liner. From this standpoint to ## brand publicly the report and oath of the German commander and crew as inaccurate is to cast reflection on the professional reliability of German naval officers. It is to be hoped that all authentic German explanation will be published, so as to clarify a subject on which the whole people feels so strongly."

DISAPPOINTMENT SURE,
BERLIN PAPER WARNS

Final Results of War Are Bound to Prove Bitter Pill--Some Plain Talking

Amsterdam, via London, Oct. 14--The Korrespondenz of Berlin, which is the organ of the national liberal party, warns the nation not to be too hopeful. The newspaper asserts that the government does not permit public discussion of Germany's objects in the present war and that the German people are bound to be disappointed at the final results of the war, which will bring most intense bitterness to the people throughout Germany.

Dr. Bernhard Dernburg, writing in the Tageblatt, launches a proposal to punish Italy for her alleged betrayal of the German cause, by every German pledging himself to refrain from visiting Italy for five years after the war.

The Tageblatt opposes this idea and many Germans criticise it as foolish chauvinism. The idea is warmly welcomed in military circles, however.

Deliberately Misled, Being Told Just a Few Trenches Have Been Lost--Widespread Depression

London, Oct. 13--There has arrived in London Miss Lorette Weir, a young American woman who has just left Berlin after studying music there for two years. She told the Daily Chronicle many interesting stories about recent events in Germany.

"Ten days ago," she said, "four hundred thousand picked men were sent towards Turkey. Their ultimate destination, so I am told, was Egypt, which they intended to seize. No American correspondents were allowed with the troops. The journalists were ordered to remain in Berlin and were told that when circumstances permitted these would be allowed to follow."

"The news of the great advance of the Allies was kept from the German people, so I am told, was Egypt, which they intended to seize. No American correspondents were allowed with the troops. The journalists were ordered to remain in Berlin and were told that when circumstances permitted these would be allowed to follow."

"Among the German people there is widespread depression. If the Socialists were allowed to hold meetings there would be a demand for peace at any costs, but their mouths are silenced."

"When the news was spread that the station and a fourth of the city of London had been destroyed, many upper-class Germans expressed regret that such a fine city should be wiped out, but many people firmly believe that before the war is over London will be destroyed by fire."

"There is a great shortage of raw materials. Rubber has been smuggled in in the form of sausages. The scarcity is so great that no private individual in Berlin is allowed to use his automobile except the doctors. Rubber floors have been taken up and every scrap in any shape or form has been used."

"So far as food is concerned, the poor have meat only once a week. Butter is sixty cents a pound. Potatoes are very high. Pork is now the most expensive meat in Germany. Sugar is seventy-five cents a pound."

betide the miscreant, or the group of them, if they are caught.

Some fifteen houses around Oromocto were entered on Monday night, and at the first of the week several more breaks were made around Margerville. It is believed that two or three men are concerned in the matter.

Among those whose houses have been entered are Mrs. Stanley Clowes, Mrs. Thomas McCaffrey, Charles Ward, George Kimball and Misses McCaffrey. From Mrs. Clowes' house $15 was taken and others suffered the loss of various articles.

RECRUITING MEETINGS

A Contrast Between St. John and Small Nova Scotia Place

(Amherst News)

There were two remarkable recruiting meetings held in the maritime provinces last Friday evening. One in St. John, attended by more than one thousand people. The speeches were eloquent, the stage settings were all that could be required and as a result four St. John men enlisted. The other recruiting meeting was held in a country hall at the cross roads at Southampton, a small hamlet in this county. A downpour of rain preceded the meeting, making the roads almost impassable. E. N. Rhodes, M.P., and Lieutenant J. L. Ralston, M.P., political opponents in days of yore but now united in the dire cause where the speakers. There were not fifty present at the gathering but at the close of their addresses five stalwart recruits were added to the ranks. The "boys" of Southampton knew that Lieutenant Ralston had given up one of the largest law practices in the province to do his part in the fighting. They knew that Mr. Rhodes had offered his services in any capacity in which he could be useful to the government. Ten per cent of the audience volunteered. That small meeting held in a little hall on a lonely country road should go down in history.

WERE BLANKETS AND SADDLES STOLEN?

(Amherst Guardian)

The preliminary examination of P. T. Smith, who is charged with having in his possession military stores knowing them to have been stolen will begin before C. E. Casey next Friday afternoon.

The crown will be represented by J. A. Hanway and it is understood that F. L. Milner and C. R. Smith will appear for the defence. One of the witnesses is a clerk in the store of the accused.

In addition to the saddles and other military goods found last week when a search of Mr. Smith's premises here and of several buildings at Tidnish was made by Detective Kennedy of Halifax and local officers, some 200 military blankets have also been traced and found by the detective. It is alleged that these blankets were disposed of by Mr. Smith to the persons in whose possession they were.

The disappearance of the goods found in the recent searches was reported to military headquarters at Halifax some time ago. Detective Kennedy was assigned to the case and did energetic work on it before the search and the arrest were made.

Getting ahead in this world calls for mental and physical forces kept upbuilt and in trim.

Often the food one eats "makes" or "breaks"--it depends upon the kind of food. In many cases the daily dietary lacks certain essential elements for keeping brain and body at their best.

WANTS $6,000,000 FOR
U. S. ARMOR PLATE PLANT

Secretary Daniels Urges Congress to be Independent of Private Concerns--Navy Yard Underbids Competitors

Washington, Oct. 13--Secretary Daniels will ask Congress at its coming session to appropriate sufficient money to begin work on a great government armor plate factory.

He said today that official reports to the department show such an establishment would cost between $6,000,000 and $7,000,000. Navy officials say Congress will be asked to appropriate first only from $400,000 to $500,000, for site and preliminary work.

Establishment of a government plant has been under discussion for about twenty years and various commissions have reported on the advisability of such an institution.

Secretary Daniels pointed out that the government powder plant has been a practical success and that by next year the government will be able to get from its own sources all the powder it needs.

With a government armor plate factory and powder plant in active operation, the government, it is said, would be at all times prepared for emergencies.

It is expected the armor plate factory will be built somewhere near the coal fields of Pennsylvania or Virginia.

Official figures given out at the Navy Department today show the government navy yard at Mare Island, San Francisco, can build two of the proposed new torpedo boat destroyers for $712,680 each, which is $156,800 less for each vessel than the amount asked by William Cramp &amp; Sons of Philadelphia, whose bids was the lowest made by any private concern. Mare Island promises delivery in twenty months.

LATER WORD ABOUT
OROMCTO BURGLARIES

Further word comes to the Times about a series of daring burglaries which have caused tremendous excitement along the St. John river in the vicinity of Oromocto. Doors which had not been locked for ages are now closely barred at night, windows are buttressed and the men of the house retire to sleep with fire-arms close at hand. The whole neighborhood is on the watch, and was
