ASSERTS POWER EXPORT WOULD STOP PROGRESS

Shawinigan Vice-President Says Industrial Competition Would Increase

FULL DEVELOPMENT LIKELY IN 25 YEARS

Canada Visioned Getting Fuel Independence Over U. S.

MONTREAL, Oct. 14.—Leading engineers of Canada and the United States, delegates to the convention here of the American Society of Civil Engineers, today staged an argumentative battle on the subject of the exportation of Canadian waterpower to the United States.

The discussion followed remarks by Ira W. McConnell, vice-president of the Dwight P. Robinson Company, of New York, who endeavored to show that this exportation would be beneficial to both nations, arguing that there are hundreds of millions of kilowatt hours "running to waste" every year in Canada. To this assertion Julian C. Smith, vice-president of the Shawinigan Water and Power Company, replied that there is no waste so long as no development and no money has been spent.

WOULD BUILD UP U. S.

Mr. Smith combated another argument of Mr. McConnell that there was no threat of a shortage of water power in either Quebec or Ontario, and that its exportation across the border would benefit Canada by stating that the export of power would, on the scale desired by American promoters, provide the United States with a supply of low priced energy which would serve to build up industrial communities in direct competition with Canadian centres.

PREDICTS DEVELOPMENT.

Mr. Smith said also, if the combined power requirements of the Provinces of Quebec and Ontario are met without regard for provincial distance of the international boundary will be under development within 25 years to meet wholly requirements, so that within a generation Canada, instead of having surplus power, would be contending with serious power shortages. In conclusion Mr. Smith said, "If the most desirable and largest water power sites in Central Canada are developed primarily for the country, the industrial progress of this country will be thwarted. It will never be possible to recover such power."

WOULD CONSERVE COAL.

Defending the exportation of Canadian power to the United States, Mr. McConnell said that it would conserve coal and diminish the amount of labor employed in the United States in generating power rather than reduce the cost of power. Waste of United States coal is detrimental to Canada as well as to the United States, he contended, because Canada now imports 22,000,000 tons for use in connection with the development of only 15 per cent. of the water power in Quebec and Ontario, so that it might need to import 160,000,000 tons if all water power were developed and used internally.

COAL CHANGES SOUGHT.

Mr. Smith answered this argument by stating that while it was generally known how indebted to the United States that Province of Quebec and Ontario were for consideration during critical times of coal shortages, the Canadian government's federal fuel board was endeavoring to reduce coal importations by suitable coking of bituminous coals, by the importation of British coal, by a more extensive use of Canadian coals from the Western and Maritime provinces, and by the substitution of hydro for steam generated energy. He believed that gradually the two provinces were becoming less and less dependent on United States fuels.

"The people of Canada would indeed be in a sorry plight if in 25 years hence their continued industrial development and domestic comfort were not only dependent upon the availability of U. S. coal, but also on the return of their own exported hydro power," said Mr. Smith.

JEALOUSY BLAMED IN MURDER OF WIFE

Husband Angry Because She Went Out While He Was Working at Night.

JERSEY CITY, Oct. 14.—Jealousy because she went out for a good time while he was working at night is believed to have caused George Winters to murder his wife, Margaret, 21, here today.

When he came home from work last night his wife was not at home. He went to the apartment of friends, where he found her hiding under the bed, it is said. Winters did not molest her but left the apartment. After a wait of several hours, he went to their home and found his wife, who had returned. Screams aroused the neighbors and the police who forced an entrance, found Mrs. Winters dead with three stab wounds and her husband bleeding from a self-inflicted injury. The police say he confessed to the murder.

TO WIDEN NIAGARA SPAN.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Oct. 14.—The lower steel arch bridge will be widened by 10 feet, the directors at a special meeting have decided.

Even the ancient Egyptians had incubators for hatching chickens.
