HIGH TRIBUTE TO SIR M. SADLER

Made Doctor of Literature on Eve of Departure from Leeds—Refers to Canadian Tour.

(Canadian Press Cable)
London, June 8.—Sir Michael Sadler, noted educationist, who is leaving the University of Leeds, where he is vice chancellor, to become master of University College, Oxford, was paid high tribute at the Leeds University today and honorary degree of Doctor of Literature was conferred on him.
Sir Michael Sadler, replying to the tributes and expressions of regret and thanking the university for the degree just conferred on him, referred to his recent tour in Canada. He said the tour had deepened his conviction that liberal education of the widest and highest kind was of fundamental interest to the British Commonwealth and not least to Great Britain itself.

Tries To Reconcile Argentina To The League of Nations

Mills, Questioned In Murder Case, Takes A Fling At Hall's Widow

JAMES MILLS, HUSBAND OF THE SLAIN CHOIR SINGER AND MRS. EDWARD WHEELER HALL, THE MURDERER'S WIDOW.

New Brunswick, N. J., June 8.—James Mills, one of the figures in the recent Hall-Mills case, whose meek manner and helpful attitude in the investigations following the murder of Mrs. Mills and the Rev. Edward Hall won him early elimination from the case, was questioned today by the New Brunswick authorities to the effect that a man "nearly eliminated from the case" was now being watched, have turned all eyes on Mills.
"I know who they mean," Mills told reporters, "but I think they waited a long time to begin picking on me. I say now, as I have said all along, that Charlotte and I and all the wall relics should have been thrown in jail New York District."

Plan To Assist Catholic Youth On Y. M. C. A. Plan

(Ottawa Journal)
Sentiments of deepest loyalty in temporal and spiritual matters were expressed by the speakers at the banquet held in the Chateau Laurier last night in connection with the 20th Ontario State Convention of the Knights of Columbus, now in session here. George H. Bolvin, K. C., M. P., Canadian officer on the Supreme Council of the K. of C., spoke in particular of the discussion which would take place at the Supreme Convention in Montreal next August on ways and means required to assist the Catholic youth in the United States and Canada along the lines similar to the work being done by the Y. M. C. A. If the convention decided to undertake the work, it would be one that would never finish and would be the greatest order had ever attempted, said Mr. Bolvin.
Mr. Bolvin paid a tribute to the work being done by the Y. M. C. A., and said that such a similar organization aspiring to essentially Catholic principles was needed. It would tend to make of the Catholic youth a better citizen, one more loyal to the flag to which he owed allegiance. What the great Montreal convention decided in regard to Mrs. Hall's work, it must do something. Catholicism must go on, and Canada must have the rights of men. The task ahead of the order was the greatest it had ever undertaken, yet in the past it had never failed. It was his hope that the order would be as eternal as the church itself.

GOOD YIELD OF FRUIT PROMISED

Toronto, June 8.—Fruit prospects are generally very good, according to E. F. Palmer, director of the horticultural experimental station at Vineland. All the fruits, with the exception of Japanese plums and early apples, promise good yields. There has been good bloom throughout the Niagara district and fruit is setting well. Peaches give promise of being a bumper crop, according to Mr. Palmer. "The early growing season last year, besides bringing on a good crop, formed a fine lot of fruit buds for this season's crop."

GRADUATED IN LAW.

MISS CANADA BACK FROM CAPE BRETON

Was the Central Figure in Many Functions During Holiday-time—Mined a Half Ton of Coal and Became God-mother.

Winifred C. Blair, as Miss Canada, with her mother, returned from Cape Breton yesterday where she was the central personality in a King's Birthday firemen's carnival at Glace Bay, an exchange of Franco-Canadian courtesies upon that occasion, aboard the French warship Regulus and was the guest at several smart social affairs arranged by officials of the British Empire Steel Corp., the Dominion Coal Co., and prominent citizens of the town. At Sydney she attended in the Great War Veterans hall where she was specially honored by the vets because of her late father.
During her stay in Cape Breton Miss Canada drove a big motor truck in the firemen's parade, descended into a coal mine and mined a half ton of coal with pneumatic drills; visited hospitals, schools, convents and sick adults and children in private homes. In one of the hospitals a new baby was named Winifred Blair Mackenzie, a clergyman christening the child during the visit of the Miss Canada party, the St. John girl acting as godmother. A pretty little cup suitably engraved, the gift of the new baby, is one of Miss Canada's cherished mementoes.

France's Greeting.
The commander of the French cruiser Regulus delayed his ship's sailing—through wireless permission—to take part in the King's Birthday fête at Sydney. He invited Miss Canada and the St. John girl to the ship in official ceremony. In carrying out this pretty procedure the ship's officers and crew were drawn up on deck and gave the snappy salute of the French navy. A luncheon was served aboard. In the land programme Miss Canada was received by the military at the "present arms" for which permission was granted by Ottawa, a salute permitted on such an occasion in the name of Canada, to board his ship in official ceremony.
