THROWS AWAY LARGE SUM

Thief of $10,000 Hurriedly Rids Himself of Loot.

Portland, Me., Sept. 10.—A hand bag containing $10,000 in currency, stolen at noon on Thursday from the automobile of Victor H. Hanson in Exchange street, was dropped in Monument Square a few blocks away, by the thief, with the contents untouched. The bag had been cut open with a knife, but nothing removed so far as the owner could discover. Hundreds of people were passing in the square when the bag was left there and it was picked up but a few yards from a policeman. It had been returned to the police station before the owner had telephoned of his loss.

Prussian Crop Lighter.
London, Sept. 10.—The Prussian harvest officially is estimated at considerably less than that of last year, according to a wireless message from Berlin.

ATTRACTING ATTENTION

One booth which has been attracting big share of attention at the exhibition is that of Crethans, Ltd., Montreal. With each purchase is given a guess on the number of Maraschino cherries in a jar; to the nearest guesser, the jar and a $10 box of chocolates will be given. Second and third prizes will be awarded. The prizes will be awarded on Saturday night by the exhibition secretary in the cabaret in the amusement hall. Miss Evans, who is engaged by the Crethans Company to sing in their booth, has been found during the week to the Exhibition Association to sing before the grand stand. 9-18.

BATTLE OF CONFETTI ON SATURDAY

Thousands enjoyed the dancing at the cabaret in the exhibition buildings during the fair and for Saturday the management has to close with a gala carnival and battle of confetti, commencing at 7:30 standard time. The floor is in better shape than ever and the big orchestra has attracted so much attention that many people who do not dance attempt to hear the delightful music and watch the dancers. The cabaret is open every afternoon and evening and Miss Evans is heard in new songs at each session. 9-11.

A FINE COLLECTION OF FOSSIL FAUNA

Fossil fauna, forming, as it is believed, the finest collection in the world, are to be presented to the St. John's Natural History Society through the generosity of Dr. George F. Matthew, the eminent scientist, who is at present engaged in the work of preparing for classification some thousands of specimens which he and Prof. C. P. Hart first commenced to gather some twenty years ago. The specimens which form this collection were gathered along the shores of the Bay of Fundy, from Eastport to the head of the bay, and along the Bay Shore particularly. Dr. Matthew has them in an outer store room connected with the Natural History Museum and will devote the greater part of the coming winter to the work of cleaning and classifying them.

Johnnie Connors, a 10-year-old boy in Winchendon, makes a business of supplying bait to fishermen. He says he gets a dollar a quart for night crawlers, $1.25 for garden worms, 5 cents apiece for frogs, and a cent apiece for grasshoppers. Last year he made more than $100.
