some lunatic asylum. 'The Royal Bethlehem. 'What, here?' 'Yes. 'How came you to be there?' 'I was three months taking an extra course, studying insanity. 'There is difficulty about insane people swallowing? 'It is always given in insanity hypochondriacally. 'That is the answer I required. In maniac cases it is always administered internally in small doses? 'Yes, your lordships.' 'You treated most of your patients by correspondence and seldom saw them?' 'Very seldom. 'Crippen, replying further, said his principal practice was eye, ear and nose. He also studied nerve cases and locomotor ataxia. Some more questions followed along the same line when his lordship remarked that the question of administration by the mouth or hypodermically did not appear important.

CRIPPEN BEING CROSS EXAMINED... LAST SAW WIFE ON FEBRUARY 1

London, Oct. 21.—Chief Justice Alverstone, on taking his seat this morning after a note from the foreman of the Crippen jury requesting that the jury be permitted to examine under a microscope the piece of marked skin which was so vital a bearing of the identity of the chief justice before counsel and physicians. Crippen, who was again placed in the witness box, said he complained of the suffering cold through draughts. He spoke in quiet, subdued but matter of fact tones. Crippen was cross-examined by R. H. Muir, crown counsel, as follows: 'On February 1 you were left alone in the house with your wife?' 'Yes. 'Was she alive and well?' 'Yes. 'Do you know of any person who has seen her alive since?' 'I do not. 'Or who has received letter from her since?' 'I do not. 'Or can prove she left the house?' 'I have told you all the facts.' He retired to his room and she to hers, he said, between 2 and 3 in the afternoon.

TO CALL YATES ST. 'BROADWAY'... PROPERTY OWNERS CIRCULATE PETITION

Want Thoroughfare Paved to Fort Street—Department Store Planned for Next Year (From Friday's Daily.) A petition is now being circulated among property owners in Yates street, between Blanchard and Port streets, to have the street paved, and in connection with the proposal is another to change the name of the thoroughfare from Yates street to Broadway. In connection with the petition of owners above Blanchard to change the name of the street, the property owners below Blanchard down to Wharf street are being invited to interest themselves, so that the desire for the change may be expressed as general when the petition is placed before the city council. The clause of the petition dealing with the paving of the upper portion of the thoroughfare provides for an asphalt road with sixteen-foot sidewalks. The argument used by the originators of the change of name for furthering their desire is that many of the big cities of the continent have Broadway, and these are all wide, well-paved and important thoroughfares. With the new city hall established above Quadra street and a large department store on the block between Blanchard and Quadra streets the retail trade will, the property owners of that section of the city believe, be permanently located there. A new department store is contemplated on Yates street, and it is reported that its construction will commence next year.

ONE WAY OUT BALLOON BREAKS... OF DIFFICULTY WORLD'S RECORD

HOW CITY SOLICITOR MAY BE JUSTIFIED... Joint Report on Street Paving From Mr. McDiarmid and City Engineer to Be Considered (From Friday's Daily.) The Times ascertained this morning that at this evening's special meeting of the city council, called primarily to deal with the proposed resignation of city solicitor F. H. McDermid, an effort will be made to adjust the difficulty which has arisen in such fashion as will enable the council to refuse to accept the resignation of the solicitor, and at the same time preserve unimpaired the policy recently adopted of the 'open door' in the matter of awarding contracts for street paving. It is understood that the city solicitor and the city engineer will submit a joint report recommending that the bid of the Westrumite company for the laying down of an asphalt pavement on Vancouver street on standard specifications (that is, specifications prepared by the city engineer) be accepted in lieu of the alternative tender of the same company which was decided to accept at the last meeting of the board. Should the council take this action this evening, it will have adopted the report of the two officials mentioned, there would be no necessity for Mr. McDiarmid pressing for an acceptance of his resignation, as he would then be justified in his contention that the acceptance of the alternative bid was faulty in procedure. But the council's action would involve the expenditure of a sum of $5,000 additional to the amount set out as the cost of the work done under the alternative bid. Ald. Langley said to the Times this morning that he would object strenuously to the proposal that the council should accept such joint report from the city engineer and the city solicitor. 'I am opposed to any such proceeding on the part of the council which would not be asked to retreat from its position just in order to save a situation which is embarrassing to the city solicitor. Then again, we have had a report from the city engineer, the city purchasing agent and the chairman of the streets committee to the effect that the alternative bid of the Westrumite people which has already been accepted complies in every detail with the specifications which had been prepared by the city engineer at the advice of the city solicitor. I do not think the people of Vancouver street should be asked to pay the additional sum of $5,000 just in consequence of what I consider too hasty action on the part of the city solicitor. I shall oppose the acceptance of the joint report, if it comes before the board this evening in the manner it is hinted it will.'

GERMANIA LANDS AT VILLE MARIE, QUEBEC

Remained in Air 85 Hours—Three Racers Not Yet Reported St. Louis, Oct. 21.—Reports received at noon to-day showed that the reported landing of the balloon Helvetia at Ville Marie, Quebec, was incorrect. The Germania was sighted at Ville Marie late yesterday, but did not come down until 7 o'clock to-day, having been swept around in a circle during the night. The Germania is credited with having broken the world's record, having stayed aloft 85 hours. The former record was 78. The balloons sailed from here in the international race on Monday. Some alarm is felt here to-day for the safety of the balloons America II, Dusseldorf and Azuria, which have not been reported since they passed beyond the 400-mile radius. A balloon is said to have been sighted late yesterday at Halleburg, Ont., but which one of the three missing balloons it was, the dispatch did not state. The officers of the Aero club to-day requested the provincial government of Quebec to assist in a search to be instituted for three missing balloons—the America II, Dusseldorf and Azuria—which they fear may have landed several days travel from the nearest civilization. The Hudson Bay Company also was requested to instruct its men to keep a lookout for them. It may be more than a week before the missing pilots are heard from, the officials say.

ST. MUR ROSE TO ADDRESS THE JURY ON BEHALF OF THE CROWN

Mr. Muir rose to address the jury on behalf of the crown, and said he would not himself have thought it necessary for anyone who had observed the demeanor of the jury during the trial to address words to them seeking to enforce upon them the gravity of the task which they had undertaken, but his learned friend had thought it right to drag out of the limbo in which it had rested for many years an old forensic phrase, in order to suggest to their minds that they had to be cautious and certain before, in case of life and death, they found a verdict of guilty. Their ward cases in the books, his learned friend said, which showed that men have been tried for murder, convicted and hanged and then the supposed victims have turned up alive. There were such cases in the books, Sir Matthew Hale, who died in 1676. He mentioned two such cases which were old cases in history. The world had contracted since then for the purpose of finding missing persons. Steamships, railways, telegraphs and newspapers had made a vast difference in the administration of justice, since Hale's time, but his learned friend found it necessary to fluster before their eyes that ancient booby as if they would be afraid to go home in the dark because of the consciousness that they had returned a true verdict. Be as cautious as men could be, as careful as men could be, be as certain as in the affairs of this life they could be. For this no occasion, he thought, would have been necessary, and an attempt to frighten the jury would have been out of place. They would do their duty according to the ancient custom of the law, which developed all doubtful questions in favor of the proscribed on trial. If doubt there was, then the prisoner was entitled to be acquitted. His learned friend had said that newspapers publishing reports of this case had published one side only. Why did they publish one side only? Because the prisoner chose to keep his mouth closed, because he did not choose to go before the coroner, because he did not choose to go into the witness box before the magistrate, because he chose to preserve these precious medical witnesses till this trial, witnesses who would, if they had gone into the witness box, have been crushed.

From the standpoint of the monarchists they were alarming tests. It was with the utmost difficulty that the authorities suppressed them and the opinion is that perhaps they would not have been suppressed at all had not the 'unseen leaders' decided beforehand that the time was not ripe for a widespread revolt. Political prophets predict the next outbreak will occur in the coming winter, when a fierce Socialist attack will begin in the Reichstag upon the Kaiser on account of his claims to rulership by divine right, with simultaneous demonstrations and street fighting in the centre of Berlin. Mr. McKenna declared that Mr. Balfour's jeremiads synchronized with the clamor that had been made for him (Mr. Balfour) to give a lead in the tariff reform agitation, and were an attempt to divert attention away from a difficult subject. The British navy, asserted the first lord with emphasis, had more than the two-power standard in battleships of the first class, and that was all that was required. MEMORIAL TO STATESMAN. Aldrich is reported to have said that a vehicle hit him at Madison avenue and 8th street and that he was carried to the hospital. He was severely injured, the first intimation being when he was found with his face covered with blood and his clothing torn. No report was made to the police. CONNECTIONS OF CRIPPEN

How long had you had that scheme in your mind?' 'About two months.' 'And you needed money for it?' 'Yes. He had told Inspector Dew in July that he had never pawned anything of his wife's. 'Did you forget it?' 'No, I did not. I had it in my property, as I had told her. 'You told Dew she had taken some jewelry with her?' 'She had some money and watch which were hers before her marriage. I had given my wife $5 to buy furs. 'Where do you suppose your wife got money to pay her voyage to America?' Muir asked. 'She always had plenty of money. I did not give any. She threatened to leave several times, but as far as had not carried out her threats. 'The complaint your wife made on the night of the dinner party was most unreasonable?' 'I think it was.' 'Do you think that was sufficient to cause your wife to leave?' 'I think it evidently had been pending a long time. 'Had she any other cause for leaving?' 'No other than I know of.' 'When she left, you set about to 'sink how to cover up the scandal?' 'It involved you a great deal of trouble.' 'That has already been acknowledged.' (Concluded on page 7.)

Reginald McKenna, first lord of the admiralty, who spoke last night at Llanthely, Wales. Mr. McKenna declared that Mr. Balfour's jeremiads synchronized with the clamor that had been made for him (Mr. Balfour) to give a lead in the tariff reform agitation, and were an attempt to divert attention away from a difficult subject. The British navy, asserted the first lord with emphasis, had more than the two-power standard in battleships of the first class, and that was all that was required. MEMORIAL TO STATESMAN. London, Oct. 21.—Lord Roberts unveiled a memorial to the late Sir Curzon Wylie, at St. Paul's cathedral on Wednesday. Lord Roberts, Lord Curzon, and other prominent persons were present. Sir Curzon Wylie was assassinated last year at the Colonial Institute, Los Angeles, by a Hindu student named Wingham, who was subsequently executed for his crime. The murderer declared his deed was dictated by hatred of British rule in India. At the same time Dr. Lalca, a prominent Hindu gentleman, who came to Sir Curzon Wylie's aid, was fatally injured. The murder created a sensation all over the British Isles, and in Ireland placards were found in country districts praising Dinghra for his crime.

WRIGHTS WILL FLY AT AVIATION MEET

Many Prominent Birdmen Will Take Part in Aerial Contests. New York, Oct. 21.—The greatest aviation meet in American history will take place to-morrow. It is expected that more than a million spectators will attend the contests to see many of the world's most prominent aviators in flight. Principal interest centres in the rivalry between the Wright brothers on one side and the other contestants on the other. The coming tournament will be the first in which the Wrights will have pitted their skill against others in the aeroplane world. The Wrights' exclusiveness, however, has been attributed to their claim that foreign and American aviators have infringed their patents.

SENATOR ALDRICH INJURED

Mysterious Affair in New York—Reaches House With Head and Face Bruised. New York, Oct. 21.—It was announced this afternoon that Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, of Rhode Island, who was injured under startling circumstances last evening at 8th street and Madison avenue, was resting comfortably. It is believed that his recovery will be rapid and complete. In spite of the family belief that the Senator was hit by an electric car or struck by a taxicab, it is persistently rumored that Aldrich was murdered by a colleague. Aldrich is reported to have said that a vehicle hit him at Madison avenue and 8th street and that he was carried to the hospital. He was severely injured, the first intimation being when he was found with his face covered with blood and his clothing torn. No report was made to the police. Dr. Holbrook Curtis, Aldrich's physician, to-day described the Senator's injuries, but refused to state how they were received, except to say that Aldrich was 'run down.' The physician said: 'There is a cut over the right eye extending over the forehead. The face and head are both badly bruised. There are no internal injuries. Senator Aldrich will be out and about in a couple of days.'

NATIONAL APPLE SHOW

On Thanksgiving Day the Canadian National Apple Show opens in Vancouver and remains open until Saturday, November 5. There is $25.00 offered in prizes and a record number of exhibits is looked for. Eighteen entries have been made in carload class, which is the carload class more than ever exhibited heretofore at any national or international apple show or world's exposition. Records of previous national apple exhibitions show that for every entry in the carload class there was half a carload for all other exhibits of the show. At this year Canada's first national apple show will have fully twenty-five carloads or 2,000,000 apples as the grand aggregate of the big exposition. The management has engaged the 48th Highlanders in Band, of Toronto, the most famous band of Canada and one of the leading bands of the world. The band will give a three hour's performance each afternoon and evening, including Highland dances, male chorus, soloists, and many novelty features.
