

Men and Scenes Prominent In Noted Los Angeles Case

McManigal barn near Indianapolis, where explosives alleged to have been stored by Los Angeles Times dynamiters were found by detectives, on confession of Orle E. McManigal.

WILLIAM J. BURNS,
Noted detective who directed trans-continental man hunt.

William J. Burns, the detective who has been on the trail of the Los Angeles dynamiters, is the most resourceful criminal hunter in the country.

He has figured in the biggest cases of this generation. His work in the San Francisco fraud cases put Abe Ruef in prison. He stopped the work of a band of busy rascals in the Oregon land frauds.

Burns is the son of a Columbus, Ohio, tailor. His father was a police commissioner and the detectives came to the Burns store and talked over their cases. Young Burns became interested. He began to advance theories. He was successful.

In 1885, when he was 24, he went to St. Louis as a full-fledged detective to run down a band of firebugs. His success in this case and others got him a government job in 1890.

His greatest feat in those days was the capture of the Philadelphia and Lancaster counterfeiters. He ran down Taylor and Bredell, photo engravers who were making $100 counterfeit bills, together with the tobacco firm that employed these men to make bogus revenue stamps. Burns landed the two men in prison and performed another feat a few months later when he discovered that the two men had made a $200 counterfeit plate while confined in their cells.

He ran down the principals of the Brooklyn counterfeiting gang. He caught Brockway with the goods before he was able to get rid of $2,000,000 worth of bad money.

In 1896 Burns left the government service to get the evidence in the San Francisco graft cases. He was shot at, threatened and offered a $100,000 bribe, but didn't quit.

JOHN J. McNAMARA,
Secretary International Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' Union, alleged master mind in dynamite conspiracies.

J. W. McNAMARA,
Brother of Union Secretary and implicated in Los Angeles crime.

This is the McNamara home in Cincinnati where the alleged dynamiters spent their boyhood days—Their mother still lives there.

FRENCH PICTURE STATISTICS

LES MESDEMOISELLES MOYENNES.

How four French provinces get their feet wet every year. The French are always ingenious and original, even in dealing with statistics. This amusing pictorial diagram, in a Paris weekly, shows the average rainfall in four provinces in the basin of the Seine. The figures represent millimeters, and a millimeter is .0394 of an inch, so you can figure it out for yourself.

IN THE COURTS.

Supreme Court Chambers.

In Supreme Court Chambers yesterday morning Justice McLeod on the application of W. H. Thomas Company, Ltd., a creditor of the A. E. Hamilton Company, Ltd., appointed Thomas H. Somerville, provisional director of the Hamilton Company, and adjourned further hearing until Saturday, May 13, at eleven a.m. The estimated value of the property of the Hamilton Company is $20,000. Mr. Somerville will be required to furnish his own bond for $5,000 and two other sureties for $2,500 each. J. H. A. L. Fairweather appeared for the petitioning creditor, and the Canadian Oils, Ltd.; G. F. Sanford, for Hilyard Bros.; C. H. Ferguson for Alexander Watson; Cyrus F. Inches for Emerson and Fisher, Ltd.; G. Earle Logan for Thomas Bell, and D. King Hazen for H. W. Woods, M. P. P., and the Hon. J. K. Flemming, M. P. P., all creditors.

After the petition was presented, S. B. Bustin for the company, asked for an adjournment, as Recorder Baxter, K. C., and A. A. Wilson, K. C., counsel, were out of the city. This request was granted.

David O'Connell has a first mortgage on the property for $10,000, and the directors of the Hamilton Company, S. B. Bustin, Thomas Nagle, A. E. Hamilton, A. J. V. Russell and John O'Regan have a second mortgage for $5,000. The mortgages are now in possession of the property. Mr. Sanford informed the court that these mortgages had only been recorded within the last forty days, hence the action of the creditors in placing the company in liquidation.

Incomparable "In Good Taste and Convenience"

From Subscriber No. 3452: "I have never seen an encyclopaedia or similar book of reference which in respect of good taste and convenience for use would compare with these books."

"The Excellence of this New Edition"

From Subscriber No. 1696: "I beg to acknowledge the receipt of the first fourteen volumes of the Encyclopaedia Britannica, and desire to add my word of praise for the excellence of this new edition, which, to my thinking, places it far above any other work of a similar nature."

Special Features of the 11th Edition

(1) The new edition is being published by the Press of the University of Cambridge, England. (2) It comprises some 40,000 articles, 41,000,000 words, more than 7,000 illustrations, 450 full-page plates, and 417 maps.

(3) Though a lineal descendant of ten editions of the Encyclopaedia Britannica, the new work is in no sense a revision of the obsolete text of its predecessor. It has been completely recast and re-written, and is an absolutely fresh, authoritative and up-to-date survey and exposition of the whole field of human knowledge.

(4) The plan of the encyclopaedia has been thoroughly reorganized with a view of combining comprehensiveness with brevity, exhaustive treatment of major subjects with the greatest facility of reference in the case of minor subjects. (5) Something like 15,000 new headings have been added.

(6) The articles have been written by 1,500 contributors—scholars of the highest distinction, and experts and practical men and women whose authority in their special subjects is unimpeachable.

(7) A large and distinguished staff of editors (constituting with the 1,500 contributors a virtual College of Research) has been at work for eight years on the production of the new edition; and the organization and editorial control have all along been so perfect that an unprecedented congruity and co-ordination have been attained.

(8) Each article is right up to date, and all the latest discoveries and results of research have been incorporated.

(9) The whole work has been written simultaneously and is being published practically at one time, not volume by volume as heretofore. (10) To an extent never before realized this work is cosmopolitan—universal. Each article is the work of a first hand authority, irrespective of whether he happened to live in Great Britain, Canada, France, Germany, Japan, the United States, or any other civilized country. On the list of contributors are to be found the names of 131 members of the staffs of 42 Canadian and American Colleges and Universities.

(11) The problem of bulk has been happily solved by the issue of an edition on India paper with flexible bindings. In this format the volumes, though containing 960 to 1,064 pages each, are only 1 inch thick. There is also an impression on ordinary book-paper.

"Bound to Quicken Intellectual Life"

From Subscriber No. 1820: "It seems to me that this publishing event is bound to quicken the whole intellectual life of our generation. . . . I am especially struck with the delightful literary flavor of many articles on subjects which one expects to find treated in the dust and ashes manner."

"A Treasury of Progress"

From Subscriber No. 108: "The new Encyclopaedia Britannica is a treasury full of a wonderful record of the progress of civilization. Its beautiful volumes of thin paper and flexible covers are admirably adapted for reference and use."

Advance-of-Publication Prices Soon to be Withdrawn.

All subscribers who register their applications before May 31st will effect a very substantial saving, and will acquire the foremost work of reference at a price which has never before been possible.

The New Edition is sold direct to the public and through the leading booksellers. No Agents or Conveyancers are employed or recognized.

Readers are reminded that TIME is now of urgent importance. It is only by PROMPT application that they can get particulars of the new Britannica in time for their orders to reach Toronto before the advance of publication offer is withdrawn.

"Models of Fullness and Condensation"

From Subscriber No. 4334: "I must tell you how abundantly I am pleased with these fourteen volumes. I have read several articles or parts of articles and find them models of fullness, or of condensation, as required. . . . Certainly the whole work is a new and wonderful departure in encyclopaedic enterprise."

"Incredibly Light and Thin Volumes"

From Subscriber No. 1641: "Apart from the extraordinary perfection of the literary contents and their arrangement, I am amazed at the beauty and effectiveness of the material features of the India paper edition. It is indeed a pleasure to handle these incredibly light and thin volumes."

"A Readable Encyclopaedia"

From Subscriber No. 902: "I am delighted to be the owner of a readable encyclopaedia."

"Reference is Now a Pleasure"

From Subscriber No. 3307: "I find it a pleasure to refer to the Encyclopaedia now, where before with the old edition it was a hardship. My hearty congratulations to you for your innovation in style and binding. I am simply delighted with the books, and the subjects, as I have found them, are pleasurable reading because presented and couched in understandable language."

"A Delight to Both Eye and Touch"

From Subscriber No. 114: "I can think of no modern work of such magnitude carried to so great perfection. The flexible cover is a delight to both eye and touch. The little weight of each volume, the delicacy of each page of India paper, all are in extraordinary contrast to the profundity of knowledge contained."

"Far Surpasses All Previous Editions"

From Subscriber No. 39: "We are much pleased with the new volumes; so light and so handy for constant use. . . . This new edition far surpasses all previous ones. . . . The more it is used the better it will be appreciated."

"Have Praised Them to My Friends"

From Subscriber No. 1309: "I heartily endorse all the nice things that have been said of the 11th edition. . . . I like these books, and I have praised them to my friends."

"So Magnificent a Work"

From Subscriber No. 1662: "I congratulate you on the production of so magnificent a work." From Subscriber No. 370: "A magnificent production."

"All I Could Hope For"

From Subscriber No. 4049: "The work is certainly all I could hope for. It is simply wonderful, surpassing anything else in the way of an encyclopaedia in the English language, and I know them all. . . . I like the fullness of your treatment. There are some things which cannot be stated in a brief way."

"A Triumph in Book-Making"

From Subscriber No. 178: "Needless to say, the new edition in India paper affords me the keenest satisfaction. It is a triumph in book-making."
