INSTITUTIONS.
Our readers will notice in this issue the advertisement of the Mount Allison Institutions at Sackvile, "N. B.
The University, Ladies' College and Academy grouped together on the summit of a hill overlooking the beautiful and historic Tantramar Marsh, offer superior educational advantages both along practical and theoretical lines. A splendid residence provides accommodation for the male students of the University, and its close proximity to one of the largest Ladies' Colleges in Canada guarantees social intercourse for students of both sexes with the best class of young men and women in our country. The situation is healthy, the coursees are complete and thorough, and the social and moral surroundings in the Institutions are of the best. The Academy offers splendid courses leading to the University. Those who are considering a college for the young man or young woman in Canada would do well to inquire concerning Mount Allison.
