In the Police Court yesterday Harry Hansen was fined $40 for assaulting Adolph Johnson and breaking a door in the West End House, Louis was charged with threatening his wife with a knife, was given two months to get out of the city, and a woman, No. 3 Court, was fined $10 for being drunk.

Wilson—I despise a hypocrite.

Tomson—So do I.
Wilson—Now, take Jackson, for example; he's the biggest hypocrite on earth! I despise that man!
Tomson—But you seem to be his best friend.
Wilson—Oh, yes! I try to appear friendly towards him. It pays better in the end, you know.

A PLEASANT EVENING IN FAIRVILLE CHURCH

"Father and Son, Mother and Daughter" Banquet in United Baptist Church Prov'd Most Enjoyable.

Last evening in the gymnasium of the United Baptist church of Fairville a unique banquet was held. It was the father and son, mother and son banquet. All the young people from twelve years of age and upwards use the gymnasium and social hall of the church for at least one evening during the fall and winter months. These young folk last night brought their parents, each boy sitting with his father at tables at one side of the room, and each girl with her mother sitting at the other side. Those who were not entitled to sit at the tables served the supper. The rooms had been decorated for the occasion, charts and mottoes which explained the work of the church for its young people, were posted prominently on the walls, and the supper presented an inspiring scene. After the large number of guests had eaten together a round of songs followed. These songs varied in character, from rollicking round-plays to inspiring hymns of youthful consecration. Toasts to the King, the ladies, the church and the "gym" followed and then came the speeches. Mr. H. O. Bonk, physical director of the St. John Y. M. C. A., and Arthur Gregg, boys' secretary, were the speakers of the evening. They explained the close work of the Canadian standard efficiency tests which are being used in the work of the church with the young people. These tests are the most comprehensive programme of religious education that has ever been devised. They are used in toto for the boys and young men, and have been modified in form so as to suit the young ladies and are used also for them. Last winter the gymnasium and social hall were actively in use every week night except prayer meeting night and for this year a larger programme has been prepared. After the speeches Rev. P. R. Hayward, the pastor of the church, made an address in which the details of the work to be carried on this year were carefully explained for the benefit of the parents present.

This banquet is the close of a week of special services in connection with the thirty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the church. On Monday evening of this week a supper and conference was held for the executive of the Sunday school at which the work of the church for the year was mapped out. On Tuesday evening a similar evening was spent with the workers in the young people's work. Wednesday evening was the official anniversary at which Miss Mildred Black read the history of the church, and greetings were brought from other churches of the Baptist and other denominations. Thursday evening was given over to a roll call and congregational reunion at which the address of the evening was given by Rev. H. R. Boyer, former pastor of the church. Sunday, Sept. 10, is being observed as rally day in the Sunday school.

The Fairville Baptist church was organized on Sept. 6, 1881, and of the twenty-six charter members five are known to be still living, four of these were present on Wednesday evening and the fifth was in the church has been at times remodelled and added to its property and is now free of all debt. Three men have entered the ministry from the church's membership and a total of 564 members have been received. The church has celebrated its anniversary by planning its work for the coming year and the members are looking forward to a winter of successful service.

COL. GUTHRIE FOUND STAFF AT MILITIA HEADQUARTERS WORKING ON FINE SYSTEM

Officer Commanding the 236th Returns from Ottawa Impressed with Magnitude of War Machine Organized by Sir Sam Hughes and His Efficient Aides — Notes Concerning the Kiltie Battalion.

With reference to his recent visit to Ottawa, from which he returned yesterday, Colonel Guthrie, O. C. troops in New Brunswick, stated that he found headquarters, as usual, very busy.

Hon. F. B. McCurdy is holding down the position of Minister of Militia in the absence of Sir Sam Hughes, K. C. B., and seems to have quite a grasp of the situation. The great burden of work, however, which has been carried on previously by the minister himself is now distributed through the various departmental heads. This is easily understood when one stops to consider that General Hughes possesses the working capacity of about twelve ordinary men and puts in from 6 a. m. to 11 p. m. in his office, excepting only a few minutes for lunch and dinner. Deputy Minister General Fiset, Adjutant-General Hodgins, Colonel Gwynne, director of mobilization; Major-General MacDonald, quartermaster-general; and Colonel Duroche, who is director general of engineers' services, all seem to be particularly hard worked.

The magnitude of the pay office occasioned by the war seems to be wearing down the rugged constitution of Paymaster General Borden, whose responsibilities become heavier as enlistments increase.

Although there is hardly an officer or clerk in the whole military machine but who is working early and late to keep up the ever increasing work occasioned by the war.

As time goes on new ideas present themselves to the higher officers by which rapidity and efficiency are brought to bear, and as a result red-tape is becoming less and less, and prompt businesslike action ever on the increase.

The bringing into the service of men who have had charge of large business enterprises and who are full of young Canadian forcefulness and determination is the means of making Canadian headquarters an example that might well be followed by other countries who have not thrown off the European mode of routine brought about by their many years.

The Kilties' Campaign.

In connection with the Kiltie Regiment Colonel Guthrie says that the plans for the opening campaign—fired hill tops, fiery cross, etc.—are among topics of common discussion. In official circles the military authorities are looking forward to the outcome of the scheme with a great deal of speculation. Those who are favored with a little Scotch blood are particularly impressed.

An order was put through by the acting minister for the recall of all N. C. O.'s for the Kiltie Battalion. This has been held up for some time, but upon explanation being made that it was the desire of the officer commanding this battalion to have all his officers and N. C. O.'s from among men who have seen service at the front, and that this scheme had been sanctioned by General Hughes there was no hesitation in obtaining the necessary authority.

Cables have been sent forward for the recall of the men whose names had been previously mentioned in the press, and their friends will, no doubt, soon have the pleasure of meeting them once again after their long and strenuous period on the western front.

The Kilties' Crest.

In conference with Major General MacDonald, quartermaster general, arrangements were made for the registration of the Kiltie Battalion badges, and while in Montreal on Wednesday last Colonel Guthrie met Mr. Stanley of Messrs. Stanley and Aylward, Toronto, and entered into contracts for the supply of regimental badges, and many other canteen articles, which are to bear the battalion crest, and which are to be sold through the regimental canteen at Fredericton. Among these articles will be swaggers, sticks, riding crops, brooches, pennants, notebooks, stationery, rings, watches, etc., all bearing the battalion crest.

WILLIAM ROBERTSON & SONS, Water street, Halifax.

It is proposed by the O. C. Kiltie Battalion to have agents in each city and town of New Brunswick to dispose of these souvenirs on a commission basis so that a certain amount of profit will accrue to the canteen fund.

Kilties Here Next Week.

A cable received recently from Hobson and Sons, London, England, who are the manufacturers of the kiltie to be worn by the Kiltie Battalion, stated that the first consignment is being shipped and will be here next week. In this connection the doublets and balmorals with black feather are also expected to be on hand next week, as arrangements were made by the O. C. with quartermaster general for the hurrying up of the order.

When campaigning starts therefore and the men begin to come into the headquarters at Fredericton, after they have passed the doctor, they will be supplied with every article necessary and to which according to regulations a soldier is entitled. This will get over the difficulty experienced by many units last year where men were kept in civilian clothes for some little time awaiting issue of their military outfit.

Notes of the 236th.

Yesterday Captain Jago, of the Military Engineers' Staff, Halifax, spent the day in Fredericton with Captain J. Douglas Black, quartermaster of the 236th, going fully into the arrangements for the quartering of the entire battalion at Fredericton.

Headquarters staff, machine gun, signallers, pipers, drummers, and other details are to be quartered in the soldiers' barracks, Carleton street. Two companies are to be placed in the two exhibition buildings, in the premises occupied by two companies last winter, to which has been added extra space by the exhibition authorities.

Two companies are to be quartered in the old Government House. The necessary instructions for this work have been given by military headquarters, Ottawa, and work will begin on Monday next to put the place in shape so that everything will be in readiness for the kilties when the campaign starts.
