

ALUMNI STOP CHEMISTS' WIN STREAK

Residence "A", Foresters Tied For Lead In Section "B" of I.B.L.

By JOHN PEERS

The Chemistry Society's winning streak was broken last week as they lost to the Alumni; meanwhile, Residence "A" and the Foresters remained tied for the lead in Section "B".

The Alumni proved too powerful for the previously unbeaten Chemists, as they walloped them 46-24. The winners were led by the accurate shooting of Doug Rogers, who scored 20 points. The Chemists' points were well spread out among the team. The losers out-fought the Alumni, eight to five.

The powerful Engineers rolled over the Arts & Science squad 34-19. The losers were in the game in the first half, but the Engineers moved well out in front during the final twenty minutes of play. Jack Dawson was high scorer for the game, making 15 points. Jim Crockett led the Arts & Science attack with nine.

In Section "B", the Foresters swamped the lowly Residence "B" teams, 55-27. Rudy Hanuslak played an outstanding game for the Foresters, scoring 14 points. Teammate Bob MacLaggan potted 12. Don Fowler was high man for the House with 15. Only three fouls were called in the cleanly played contest.

The Froshomores scored a 32-22 win over the Soph. Foresters in a game that saw 16 personal fouls called. The winners were led by the league's scoring leader, Dave Gammon, with 12 points. The shining light for the hapless bushmen was Gordon Baskerville, who also scored 12.

In the final game of the night, the high flying Residence "A" squad edged the Freshman Bullets, 53-45. Fifteen fouls were called, eight against the losers. Jack Cassidy paced the winners, scoring 22 points. Teammate Stu Vaudry potted 15. The Bullets were led by Blair Watson with 14.

MORE ABOUT SKIING COMPETITIONS

By Andre Breault

Last week I told you about the jump and the cross-country in skiing competitions. Now that I have started I might as well tell you about the downhill and the slalom.

DOWNHILL
The downhill is the most natural form of skiing. All there is to it is to slide downhill as fast as possible (on your skis of course) from the starting line to the finishing line.

Very often a downhill has more than a hundred starters. There is no question about having them starting all at the same time. This would cause uneasiness and accidents on the trails which have narrow corridors or passages in the forest.

The runners slide down at one minute intervals, and their times are compared at the end of the race. Also they all have a racing number which tells the rank they left the starting line. "No. 1" would not mean he is the winner but that he started first.

This order for departure has sometimes a tremendous importance and might decide the winner, especially in competitions which take place in the Spring time. If No. 1 starts at 9 a.m., for example, he will find the snow still frozen and consequently very slippery which will enable him to make good time.

For No. 100, who starts at 10:40 a.m. the snow will be softer and stickier and will make him lose a few seconds, which are very essential as the runners are generally apart by only tenths of seconds. In the winter time the conditions of the snow do not vary considerably and the starting order does not matter too much. These numbers are usually selected at random.

The downhill is the most dangerous of skiing competition; the runners go at full speed. They sometimes take risks, brushing past trees to corners.

In every dangerous place they put a gate so that the runners will brake. That does not prevent the runners from obtaining fantastic speeds of 75 mph. They go down hills sloping pretty close to 90 degrees.

SLALOM

The slalom is a downhill run which follows a fixed trail marked by flags and gates which create artificial difficulties. Audacity and skill are the best bets for slalom runners.

The gates are two flags 10 feet apart. Those flags are placed in many ways to give a different figure to the runners.

For the same reason as the downhill the order of departure has a big importance. More than this, the passage of numerous runners on the same trails digs up the turnings around the flags, tends to produce a bad rut.

To go through the gates is an art and it is necessary to know, before the competition, their positions. The runners are obliged to get up the hill by themselves.

After that, it is a question of skill to brush past a gate; the ski poles must pass close to the flags . . . sometimes they do not make it. Then, it is all over and the race is lost. The slalom is composed of two races on different trails and it is the total of the points which gives the final result.

Now that you know a bit about skiing competitions why don't you start training right away. Who knows, UNB Ski Club might need you in the very near future.

ATOMS EXTEND I.H.L. LEAD; STREAKS BEAT FORESTERS

In one of the best games of the season, the Silver Streaks placed themselves among the top contenders for the championship by downing the Senior Foresters, 4-2. It was the first defeat suffered by the Foresters in Intramural Hockey so far this season. The winners' goals were scored by Duke, MacDougall, Cain and Miller. MacDonald and Fantin were the losers' marksmen.

The Atoms extended their lead to four points as they won by default from the Freshmen. It was their fifth straight win in as many games.

In another thrilling game, Pete Murphy scored late in the third period to break a deadlock and give the Axemen a 2-1 win over the Residence. MacDonald gave Residence an early lead, scoring on a pass from Drummie. Fletcher scored the tying goal for the Axemen.

Charlie Whalen led the Civils 45's to an 11-0 win over the Combines as he scored five goals and drew one assist. Ian Colquhoun picked up five assists.

The Soph. Engineers were dropped from the league as a result of their having defaulted two games.

CO-EDS LOSE TO F.H.S.

In a basketball game that was one of the quietest of the season, the U.N.B. Co-eds absorbed their second defeat, again at the hands of the Fredericton High School squad.

F.H.S. games are usually accompanied by wild and furious cheers and jeers but the spectators who watched the game played in the Devon School Auditorium lacked their customary enthusiasm.

The game itself was a quiet one and, until the last quarter, a slow one. The two teams were evenly matched, the score being 15-11 at half time. But when the game was begun again, the high school girls got a lead which they maintained throughout the rest of the period despite a determined effort on the part of the Co-eds. The final score was 37-32.

High scorer for F.H.S. was Iris Bliss who played her usual fast-moving game and racked up 24 of her team's points. She was followed by E. Stairs with seven.

For U.N.B., Jackie Vey added 12 points to her total, while Marg. Vermeeren got nine, Joan Murdock six, and Jeannette Webb four.

LINEUPS:

U.N.B.: E. Brown, J. Murdock, J. Vey, J. Webb, S. McLeod, M. Vermeeren, E. Scribner, M. MacNaughton, N. Clark, J. Goodfellow, P. Clark, B. Fisher, M. Brown.

F.H.S. I. Bliss, E. Edgcomb, P. Savage, E. Stairs, Squires, J. Hickman, McIntosh, Machum, S. Scovil, Sullivan, Miller, McDade.

by Dennis Har

The U.N.B. Senior basketball team last week lost their first contest of the season when the Dalhousie University squad upset them by a score of 37-30. The loss was caused by a small error at the Lady Beave's nasium, was for the slow and only at open up and producing basketball.

The Red and White were kept from scoring again by the strong defense used by Dalhousie, plus perfect play on both backboards, to keep U.N.B. from scoring.
