We learn that the scale of wages for carpenters and joiners prevalent in the Kootenay district, with the exception of Rossland, is $4.00 per day of nine hours; we therefore consider our demands are reasonable and just as it only brings our wage scale up to the established standard of the district.

We demand the right for our walking delegate to enter your premises to solicit members among the non-union employees of the company while off duty on such premises.

We object to your putting standing ads. in papers-through employment agents-for carpenters when there are plenty of competent men seeking work. We object to you discriminating in favor of non-union men.

The south belt now has a producing mine for the first time in four years, and the event is of more than passing interest. As the strike has not affected the Homestake it is expected that the mine will continue to ship ore in small quantities. The facilities for sending out ore are not as good at the mine now as will be the case later on, and for the present the output will be limited. The management states that the program for the immediate future in this respect has not been definitely determined. The Iron Mask shipments are ahead of last week's record, but not yet up to the point where it is intended to have them remain all summer if the strike proposition is satisfactorily settled so far as the mine is concerned. The Iron
