FAREWELL

Austin Employees Fete Departing Colleague and make Presentation

Miss K. Delahanty, who has been an employee of the Austin Store ever since that institution opened its doors, leaves Thursday for Chicago. There she will accept a lucrative position with her brother Tom, now a prosperous business man of that city.

In view of her coming departure the staff of the store, to the number of sixty, assembled last night in the carpet department, where tables were set and a farewell banquet given their departing colleague, followed by a program. Miss Delahanty's popularity among her associates was quite inadequately attested both by the speakers and in the generally voiced regret over her departure, heard on all sides.

The loss is not only that of her associates and employer, but also that of the community—regret over her departure only being tempered by the thought of the rich success the future holds in store for her.

R. Kilop presided over the program, which consisted of vocal solo numbers by G. Braekin and A. Martin, and a reading by Miss Mabel Carlier. In addition to this a quartette composed of Messrs. Martin, Griffith, Braekin and Smith gave two selections, and a quintette composed of Misses Tickner, Gwilt, Terry, Clements and Carlier sang "Chatham Town." Speeches were delivered by Misses A. O'Reilly and Lottie Morris, and by Messrs. McArthur, E. White, Wm. Primeau, Arthur Dell and Tom McIntyre. Miss A. O'Reilly, gifted with a talent for poetry, composed an original piece for the occasion, which was received with much applause and many complimentary remarks concerning the composer.

As a souvenir of her stay among them Miss Maud Harper presented Miss Delahanty with a splendid diamond ring, the address being read by G. A. Gray. The gathering concluded with "Auld Lang Syne" and other appropriate choruses.

THE ASSEIZES

The Assizes were continued to-day at the Court House.

SWELL TURNOUT FOR WINNI EG

The Wm. Gray & Sons' Co., Limited, sold during the Toronto Exhibition, to Jos. Maw & Co., of Winnipeg, seven of their latest and up-to-date traps. These vehicles were the very acme of perfection in style and design and were among the handsomest vehicles which this noted firm has ever shown at any Exhibition. This speaks well for Winnipeg and indicates that the driving public there are evidently open to invest in the very best that is going, and it is a credit to Mr. Maw's enterprise to have secured such handsome vehicles.

FIRE CAPTAIN KILLED

Thoms Worrell Caught Beneath a Falling Floor.

Capt. Sargent Seriously Injured and Fireman Fox and Robinson Also of the Toronto Brigade Buried Beneath Debris in An Early Morning Blaze—Brown Milling Co.'s Elevator, Princess Street, Goes Up in Smoke.

Toronto, Sept. 19.—One fireman under a blazing pile of debris and watered floor, another fireman seriously injured, and about $100,000 loss was the outcome of an early morning fire in the Brown Milling Co., with premises at the foot of Princess street. Within 10 minutes after the outbreak of the fire the main floor of the four building fell and buried four firemen—Captain Thomas Worrell of hose 4, who was killed.

Captain Sargent of hose 7, lying seriously injured at the General Hospital, and Firemen Robinson and Fox of hose 7.

Went to Death.

The big doors used for the entrance of the cars were thrown open and the Berkeley street section, the first to arrive, went down the lane at the side, the smoke there seeming the thickest. While the men were laying out their branch the Wilton avenue hose wagon pulled up, and Robinson and Fox, noticing the door, crawled inside. The smoke was very dense, but they found the water from their branch cleared the air.

Suddenly they heard an ominous creaking overhead. Hastily scrambling under the cars, the two awaited the fall, in the meantime playing their stream in the burning walls of the elevator.

Chief to Rescue.

As soon as they were safely ensconced the fall came. Turning to look toward the door they were surprised to see Worrell, followed by Sargent, entering the door. They gave a shout of warning, but before it could be heeded the floor overhead fell. The floor above had four bins and the floor became saturated, and so when it fell it was like a mass of paste.

As soon as the crash was over, Chief Thompson led the rush for the opening. He stumbled against Capt. Sargent coming out. He was covered from head to foot with paste. He was led to the railway tracks and the rescuers turned back for more.

Sargent told them of Worrell, but he did not know of the presence of the other men. Chief Thompson ordered streams into the opening and made a desperate attempt to find the missing man. He thought others were missing, but could not be certain.

Worrell could not be found anywhere and made no response to the cries of the rescuing party. Suddenly from under the freight car, crawled Robinson and Fox. They were suffering from small cuts, but continued the fight.
