COMMANDER IN CHIEF.-The rrespondent of the Daily News ere is a report in camp that ir William Codrington, Comhe Light Division, is to be the nander-in-Chief of the Brinsh the East. If this be true, the coffic r will have been remark-I. He is a Guardsman, and by family ties with the late shal Lord Raglan, and to these aces, he is thought by some owe his selection; but it may al fairness be supposed to be the recommendation of General and especially to the fact, that of what may be termed the list general officers in the field. il Codrington is now only in his th year of service. When the inded at Scutari, he was still a 1 the Coldstreams, but a colonel my. By the Brevet of June, became major-general; and, ntly, when Colonel Airey vacaonimand of the First Brigade of Division to the higher appoint-Quartermaster-General, was apy Lord Raglan to be his suchis command he held throughout aign, until the resignation of Genieorge Brown, when h of Division. He is invariably of as a painstaking, active comalways accessible, and one to remove all just grounds of it, and to rectify abuses. Whepossesses the varied qualities and necessary for a Commander-ina large army can only be as-I by experience. His friends dem as possessing conciliatory mani, at the same, time, an excellent e of modern languages, so that reason to hope, that the same nderstanding and accord which herto existed betwen the generals of the allied armies may continue in their tuture operations.

THE BRITISH MAIL unexpectedly arrived at 11 o'clock on Thursday night, and was roady for delivery at the Post Office before 8 o'clock for delivery at the Post Office before 8 o'clock on Friday morning—the H. Ingram performing her trip with the punctuality of a Steamer. The news by this arrival is of an interesting anture.—The successes of the Furks in Asia,—the accession of Sweden, and probably that of Denmark, to the Western Alliance—more than anything that has lately hangened will tend to prise the accession of Sweden, and probably that of Denmark, to the Western Alliance—more than anything that has lately happened, will tend to alarm the Czarand make him anxious for peace,—the destruction of a great quantity of the enemy's stores in the Sea of Azoff,—the likelihood of a speedy fall in all kinds of provisions,—and many other items, which we have copied into this day's paper, will be interesting to our readers.

POLICE COURT.

Dec. 7.—Michael Morricy, drunk and dis-orderly; convicted; fined 5s, or be imprisoned

John Sheridan, for assault on Michael Rielly. convicted; fined 60s, with 19s costs, or be im-prisumed 50 days.

Thomas M.Gonnel, for alleged assault and battery on John Sheridan, case dismissed each party to pay costs.

These assaults are two of the many results ensuing out of that low-bred practice by far too prevalent in this community viz.: Raffles, where drinking, cursing, swearing, and too often fighting occur, depraving the morals and stirring up all the had passions of nature. In this instance the aggressor somewhat the worse of liquor, used insulting language to M-Gonnel, when the latter assaulted him and he fell; on setting un it was discovered that he had an when the latter assumed him and he fell; on getting up it was discovered that he had an open knife in his hand, which three persons in the company endeavoured to take from him, Rtelly being one of the three, and though he used no further violence than to hold Sheridan used to further violence than to hold Sheridan by the collar while the others took the knife, the latter treacher only turned upon Rielly (the oldest and most fee de of the three) some little time after he had been released, struck him a blow on the head which felled him head him a blow on the near which reflect him head foremost into a deep hard frozen gutter, caus-ing contusion, and for some days Rielly's life was dequire! o—had this resulted in Rielly's death, of what avail would regrets have been! It is to be regretted that the peroicious practice of Raffling cannot be put down till life is forfeited through it.
