

“STAR”

Job Printing.

The Office will be thoroughly equipped with material for turning out

TO MAKE ROOM JOB PRINTING

NEATLY AND WITH DESPATCH.

Every description of JOB WORK done at the shortest notice, including:

POSTERS.

HAND BILLS, SHOW BILLS, DODGERS, PROGRAMMES.

BLANKS.

Legal Blanks.

MORTGAGES, BILLS OF SALE, CURRENT SALES, LAW CASES, DEEDS, BONDS, ETC., ETC.

Other Blanks.

BILLS OF LADING, CLEARANCES, INSURANCE BLANKS, BANKING FORMS, INVOICES, SHIPPING BLANKS, ETC., ETC., ETC.

CARDS.

BUSINESS CARDS, VISITING CARDS, ADDRESS CARDS, WEDDING CARDS, MOURNING CARDS.

Miscellaneous.

CIRCULARS, BILL HEADS, LETTER HEADS, NOTE HEADS, PRICE LISTS, RECEIPT BOOKS, NOTES, CHECKS, ORDERS, LABELS, CARDS, TAGS, ETC.

J. E. COLLINS,
PROPRIETOR.
Chatham, Aug 30, 1880.

Local Matters.

New Game Commission.
Mr. James I. Fellows, Game Commissioner for the Province has resigned, and James De Wolfe Sparr, has been appointed in his place.

The Markets.
We have engaged the services of gentlemen connected with the general trades of the town, and henceforth we shall lay before our readers the leading market prices—corrected each week.

Gypsies.
The Gypsies have commenced their annual tour through the North. A party of the Seers are at present camped in the vicinity of Lane's ballast ponds where they will continue to "tell fortunes."

The Tug Luddie.
The tug Luddie, owned by James Neilson, ran ashore between Fox Island and Bay du Vin about 2 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, while on the search for vessels. Thursday night the Gladiator came and towed her off.

Died of Cholera.
The old soldiers of the place are fast passing away. Mr. Patrick Desmond of St. John Street, who came to this country from Ireland forty years ago, died at his residence Sunday of dropsy. Mr. Desmond was an enterprising man in his day; he built a number of the shops to be seen now in Buctouche, 13 years ago.

Departure of the Christian Brothers.
The people of Chatham will deeply regret to hear of the departure of the Christian Brothers. They have left for other parts for good. It is hard to say when the day will come if ever that Chatham will be able to say she again can boast of teachers so eminently fitted to develop the intellectual and moral forces of our young minds. We do not have the cause of the Brothers' departure, but doubtless if the times were better at Chatham they would have remained with us.

Appointment.
In the list of Magistrates in the last Gazette, it gives us pleasure to see the name of Mr. H. G. C. Wetmore, Legislative Librarian. We are certain "Squire Wetmore" will make an excellent Magistrate, and we hasten to congratulate him.

Mr. Richard B. Adams, one of Chatham's most promising young gentlemen has been appointed Notary Public, as also Mr. Allan A. Davidson, of Newcastle who bids fair to take an "upper seat" in the profession.

Wreck of the Vigilance.
A Pictou paper publishes a statement of the wreck of the Vigilance on the 27th inst., while on a voyage from Miramichi to the United States with a load of stone. She began leaking in the Gulf, from laboring in a heavy swell, and had to bear up to Pictou. But as the saying goes when "trouble comes they come not singly but in battalions"—for the leaky ship, before entering Pictou harbor struck on a reef which made her leak far worse. To prevent her sinking she had to be beached on Indian Point near the light house. She was immediately advertised for sale. The Vigilance is owned by Mr. Joseph Goodfellow of Miramichi.

Personal.
Mr. John Henderson foreman in the N. Y. Herald office is visiting his friends in Chatham.

Sir Leonard Tilly, left yesterday for St. Andrews to bring back his family to Ottawa.

Col. McShane was in town yesterday. He was on his way from an inspection of Major Gillespie's volunteers to Newcastle.

The Surveyor General has been in Fredericton the past fortnight attending a meeting of Council, and the sales, etc. of Crown Lands. He left for Newcastle to-day and will be up by to-night train.

Mr. Warren C. Winslow who had been spending his holidays in Chatham, left last night for St. John. Mr. W. studied law three years with Mr. Weldon of St. John; he leaves for Harvard in a few days to complete his course. We wish him every success, and we predict the same for him.

Ship Repairing.
The barge Faany Atkinson is at Muirhead's wharf undergoing extensive repairs. She is 15 years old, but since her repairs is as good as the day she was launched. Her repairs consist of putting in two lower deck beams; lodging knees on fastenings; 16 upper deck beams on new deck, waterways fore and aft, fastened through; warping chocks and main rail forward—also new bits. Those who saw the ship four weeks ago, as they hauled her into Muirhead's wharf to begin repairs, would not believe if they were told that by Monday next she would be loaded and ready for sea. Mr. Wm. Muirhead superintended the work, and Mr. Jas. Desmond was the foreman. They made an excellent job of her, and did it too so quickly as to astonish shipbuilders. She sails with a cargo of deals belonging to Muirhead Tuesday for Belfast. Her commander is Capt. Brebnon, as worthy and as popular a man as sails out of Miramichi.

STAR BRIEFS.
—The oyster season has commenced this month—has an r.

Military Review.
To drive up to Newcastle those past few days, to see the Lincens and hear the thundering of cannon, one might imagine the Shire Town Hobeninden, and the river the Isar. For several days troops that may be called on at any moment to quell insurrection at home have been drilling on the cricket grounds just on the outskirts of the Shire Town, under the command of the dashing and popular R. B. Call. Several military gentlemen came up from St. John to be present at the inspection which took place on Cricket Grounds Thursday afternoon. Among said military gentlemen were Lieut. Col. Price Lewis, Deputy Inspector of Artillery for Maritime Provinces, and Lieut. Col. McShane, Brigade Major acting for the Deputy Adjutant General, who is now in England. The inspection was of the Newcastle Field Battery, under, as we have said, Major Call. The shooting was rather creditable. Sergeant Gopp who won the Governor General's Cup two years ago, making the highest score—41 points. After the inspection Col. Lewis and Lieut. Col. McShane gave addresses in which they complimented the men and eulogized the officers.

—No. 7 Battery, N. B. Brigade, Garrison Artillery under command of the popular Lieut. Col. Gillespie were inspected yesterday by Lieut. Col. Price Shaw, Inspector of Artillery, and Lieut. Col. McShane, acting Deputy Adjutant General. The Battery consisted of Lieut. Col. Gillespie and Lieut. Crimin; Assistant Sergeant Baxter, and 40 non-commissioned officers and men.

The target was struck three times with solid shot and the flag cut away by another. The caulk was completely riddled with shell, the distance fired 1,200 yards. The number of rounds fired was 29 solid shot, 8 common shell, 8 sharp shell.

The Battery not being drilled last year, did not affiliate with the Dominion Artillery Association, and consequently lost the prizes given by the Association. The Inspector in addressing the Battery after the gun practice told them that their shooting was excellent notwithstanding the fact that more than half the Battery were recruits. The drill closes next week, and the honors of war will be over for another year.

Of course there is no need of our volunteers now, but in these troublous times it is a wise man indeed could say what time the noble youths of our land may be called from their beds to stand up for their country. We are now living in an age that is essentially one of war. Upon the one hand there is the United States ready at any moment to send devastating armies down over our Dominion, while among ourselves we have the premonitions of rebellion. Quebec may say day rise up "like a dragon in its wrath" and strike once more for the honor of la belle France—and indeed one might not be surprised some fine morning to see an invasion from Shippegan or Miscon; or in fact the folks from Bay du Vin though said not to be warlike might undertake to overrun our Country—to murder our wives and rob our cattle. Those who now laugh when they see our volunteers perspiring almost to dissolution over an old cannon labelled George III Rex., minus wheels or stove polish, would then drop on their knees before the saviours of our country. There is not half enough money expended for military purposes; and military service by every young man in the country should be compulsory. Our people should endeavor to cultivate a broader and more generous military spirit; ought to be alive to the exigencies of hour—they should not lightly interpret the sounds of disturbance borne in from our borders—and from our own Indians—or tell us

—'Twas but the wind,
Or the car rattling o'er the stony street,"
but they should make up their minds one and all that these signs portend to war.

The Canada Temperance Act Carried.
The election to determine the fate of the license system held under the Canada Temperance Act came off Thursday with the following result:

	FOR.	AGAINST.
Newcastle, Dis. No. 1,	84	21
" "	2, 50	32
" "	3, 36	30
Chatham,	4, 61	5
" "	5, 13	33
" "	6, 74	13
" "	7, 45	20
" "	8, 26	10
Ladlow,	9, 43	5
Blaisfield,	10, 46	27
Blackville,	11, 8	22
" "	12, 45	38
Derby,	13, 24	29
North Ek,	14, 42	36
South Ek,	15, 54	19
Nelson,	16, 32	26
" "	17, 37	48
Glencel,	18, 32	45
" "	19, 33	12
Hardwick,	20, 17	28
Alawick,	21, 4	25
" "	22, 12	55
" "	23, 27	68
Total,	875	673

Notes From the Capital.
ST. JOHN RIVER.—The water in our river is lower at present than ever it has been in the memory of our oldest citizens. Gabe our celebrated Sachem is puzzled.

MOOSE HUNT.—Dr. Stewart of Scotland and a friend of Miramichi, leave this morning on a Moose hunt. They take Gabe with them.

Mr. Lawlor has commenced the second storey of the parliament building.

LATEST GENERAL NEWS.

A QUEEN DROWNED.
This is from Siam: The good young King is overwhelmed with sorrow by the most distressing bereavement. On an ill fated day the Queen and her child were on their way up the river Monan to join the King at his summer palace, Bang-Pa-In. They were in a picnic boat and were going prosperously along when a steam launch ran into them. The frail boat was overturned and the Queen and her child and nearly every person on board drowned. The King's Secretary had charge of the party, and as he is an excellent swimmer he saved himself. He bore the evil tidings to the King, who was so overcome that he fell in the Secretary's arms. The bodies of the luckless Queen and her child were brought to the city amidst the great sorrow of the people.

THE APPARITION AT KNOCK.
Parties of pilgrims from all parts of Ireland for several months past have been visiting the now hallowed chapel at Knock, Ireland. It is not known to most of our readers, for the story has been published in all the leading papers, that a few months ago a glorious vision appeared to a few poor peasants in the remote little village of Knock. An old chaper, standing alone, suddenly became illumined by a glorious light and figures radiant with brightness immediately following appeared on the scene. One of the figures was that of the Blessed Virgin, the other of St. John the Evangelist. When the poor peasants told their story they were not believed, but many of the incredulous came and watched for nights. At length the vision reappeared with increased brightness and the figures with increased distinctness. Reliable men, among whom were several priests, attested to the truthfulness of the story. Then where the wondrous apparition was seen became the resort of those having great faith; and the most wonderful cures were said to have been made by portions of the plaster against which the blessed Virgin is said to have appeared.

It is hard in this Materialistic age to believe a story like this, because wise men are beginning to prove to the satisfaction of themselves and their neighbors that there is no God; that this world once a mere protoplasm was originally evolved from one prime matter by a process of change, and the result of inherent laws developed into a sturdy race. This is why the story of Knock is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool which is relegated to the ages when fairies tripped it on the green and witches performed charms, under the moon; and is sneered at by the wise and pious Christians who read their bibles to laugh at the story of the apparition, forgetting that the tidings of a Redeemer were told to a few ignorant shepherds tending their flocks at night. The Lord would not manifest himself to the learned of our age, for they are so wise they might actually smother him. However, we see by a late paper from Liverpool