

Relaxing the Tension with a Good Gillette Shave

A day a-wing over enemy lines—scouting, observing, fighting, dodging shells and machine-gun bullets—is a nervous strain that has no precedent and probably no equal. When our airmen alight at last, after flights an eagle might envy, they certainly do enjoy the refreshing relaxation of a cool, smooth Gillette shave.

Nor is this appreciation of the Gillette Safety Razor limited to our airmen, or even to our own British armies. Every service has its own tense moments, hours or days, with its welcome intervals of relaxation when the Gillette is a friend indeed. Keen, compact, always ready for action, the Gillette Safety Razor is treasured in tens of thousands of hands on every fighting line on land and sea—and by no means least in the land of its birth, with the forces of our newest Ally.

Nor does its service end here, for "the man behind the man behind the gun", who in the factory, the office or on the land is bending every energy towards production—he too gets solid comfort and satisfaction out of the Gillette Safety Razor and its wonderful three minute shave.

Spend a five dollar bill to send a Gillette to one of your defenders—and get one for yourself to see how much he'll appreciate it!

LOGGIEVILLE

Loggieville, May 14—The sincere sympathy of the citizens of this town is extended to Miss Katie Mills one of the local school teachers here. Last week, Miss Mills was advised of the death of her brother Archie Mills of Hardwicke, who was one of the heroes of Vimy Ridge. Pte. Mills enlisted for overseas service with the 132nd battalion. After his arrival in England, he was drafted into the 42nd Royal Highlanders of Montreal, and went with them to France. His letters to his friends here were always cheerful. He was a splendid type of young manhood, and his relatives cannot but be proud, even in their great sorrow, that he recognized and accepted his duty to his country without a moment's hesitation, making the supreme sacrifice at the early age of 23. Pte. Mills was very well known here, having been in town frequently. Pte. Roy Mills of the 104th battalion is a brother of the deceased.

The 13th anniversary of Knox church here will be celebrated on Sunday next, by special services. Rev. Mr. McKelghan of St. David's church, St. John, has been engaged as the special speaker for the three services.
