The Evening Chit-Chat

By MISS CAMERON

Let us not care too much for what happens.
 Let us not leave our peace of mind at the mercy of events.

"Oh, yes," said she, "we are going to take a long walk and come back on the trolley and it is such a beautiful day, I know I shall have a fine time."
 "But that isn't riding and you love to ride so."

"Well, I'll tell you, Miss Cameron," she answered, more soberly, "what I always say to myself when things happen like this, I say, 'if I can't have what I want, I'll want what I can have, and I try to do it, too, and you don't know how it helps.'"

Of course, I don't know what that girl's life will be; whether it is desired to be full of heart's desires fulfilled or of longings thwarted, but I do know one thing, and that is that she will always be a blessing to herself and those about her because she will always be happy.

Not to "care too much for what happens;" not to "leave our peace of mind at the mercy of events."

To learn to say, "If I cannot have what I want I'll want what I can have."

If we cannot realize our ideal to try "to idealize our real."

Surely all these are signboards on the footpath to happiness and serenity.

No, none of them are the easiest things in the world to accomplish. In fact, they are some of the hardest.

But tell me this. Did ever the "easiest way" lead to the Journey's End of Peace and Happiness?

Miss Cameron

When You Think

Of the pain which many women experience with every month it makes the gentleness and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle.
 While in general no woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring source of pain.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, and gives them freedom from pain.
It cures irregularities, subsides inflammation, helps licitation and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private and confidential.
 Write without fear to World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.

If you want a book that tells all about woman's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 31 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing copy, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers.
 In handsome cloth-binding, 30 stamps.

Loose mesh canvas is a popular fabric for the white hat. Sometimes it is stretched over colored frames and trimmed with simple scarfs or chambray, foulard, or soft suede.

For cool days at the shore stunning white serge and camel's hair suits are trimmed with many rows and arrowheads of colored silk. Blue green, tan and black are featured.

Lingerie gowns are elaborately trimmed with all-over eyelet embroidery and wide lace banding and insertion. In fact, many resemble monster corbets, so open are the meshes.

Fruit is one of the most popular forms of mid-season hat trimming, but most of the "fruit" is made in black velvet, no matter what the color of the finished article might be.

Dark blue seems to be the favorite fabric for suits, frocks and wraps.
 Still there is a vogue for black and white combinations.

Plain colors in self-materials are rather freely used in combination on front and back panels, wide knee bands, sailor collars and cuffs.

A notable feature in hat trimming now is that we no longer see the ribbon bow or flowers placed at the back.
 All trimmings are gradually working around toward the front.

In most of the tailored coats of the hour the sleeves are like those of men's trousers, put in without fullness at the top, cut straight and finished off with a small turnback cuff or a few buttons.

Cotton foulards, which in reality are a sort of batiste, with silk foulard patterns, are delightfully cool, and in dark or medium colors may be worn for the best part of the summer without visiting the laundress.

Foulards are again appearing in veiled effects, the new veiling being in every shade and design, with the lovely chiffon cloth or voile or marquisette swinging away from it in drapery or in deep folds, fuchs or ash ends.

Black velvet bands, one or two, studded with gold or jeweled buckles, are for the classic style of corset, while the more coquette girl uses them finished with a band on each side, a spray of silver alights on one side, or a bunch of drooping silk rose balls.

Wills $3,000,000

One-Third of Which is For Charity.
 Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin, Aug. 2 The will of Edward Rutledge, a lumber manufacturer, admitted to probate yesterday, disposes of personal property approximating $3,000,000.
 One million dollars is set aside as a trust fund, the proceeds to be used for charitable purposes. The proceeds are to be distributed to the worthy poor and to worthy charitable purposes.
 The residue of the estate goes to twelve or more nephews and nieces, most of whom live in Canada and never saw their uncle. Frank B.
 Clegg, a newspaper editor, of Spokane, Wash., a stepson, is not mentioned in the will.

Made a Mistake.

Jackson was busy in his front garden at No. 11 yesterday, when an important individual accosted him.

"Good afternoon!"
 "Good afternoon!" was Jackson's reply.

"I've called from Brown and Co. to collect your little account with them."
 "You have, have you?"

"Yes. This makes the sixth application."
 "The sixth? You are sure it's the sixth?"

"Quite sure; and I'm instructed to say that if you don't settle up to-day proceedings to recover will be taken against you."

"Indeed!"
 "Yes. Are you going to pay it now?"

"Certainly not. I'll see you and Brown and Co. hanged first before I pay you a cent."

"Very well, sir, very well. You'll be sorry for this if I'm not mistaken." Mr. Jones.

The debt-collector hurried off, but had scarcely taken twenty steps when Jackson recalled him.

"Oh, you've thought better of it, have you, Mr. Jones?"
 "Be good enough to call me by my right name, if you please."

"What aren't you Mr. Jones?"
 "No, I'm not Mr. Jones, nor was I ever a Mr. Jones. If you want to know where Mr. Jones lives, find out.
 He doesn't live here."

And the debt-collector walked off, figuratively kicking himself for mistaking No. 11 for No. 17.

MINARD'S LINIMENT Co. Limited, Gentlemen,—In June, 98, I had my hand and wrist bitten and badly mangled by a vicious horse. I suffered greatly for several days and the tooth cuts refused to heal until your agent gave me a bottle of MINARD'S LINIMENT, which I began using.
 The effect was magical; in five hours the pain had ceased and in two weeks the wounds had completely healed and my hand and arm were as well as ever.

Yours truly,
 A. E. ROY,
 Carriage Maker,
 St. Antoine, P.Q.

Anglo-American Pecuniary Claims

Some Centenary Old, and in Many Instances Claimants Dead.

Washington, July 31.—The American claims to be arbitrated under the Anglo-American pecuniary claims treaty recently negotiated amount to $4,320,000, the British claims $2,966,- 000.

Some of these claims are a century old, and have been the subject of long diplomatic negotiation. The original claimants, in many instances, are dead, and whatever benefits accrue from the arbitration will go to their descendants.

Black and white as a combination is more in evidence than ever. Black and white stripes, black hats with white crowns and the other way around, white lingerie frocks trimmed with black velvet bands, white stockings with black shoes, are some of the many ways in which the vogue is expressed.
