German Campaign in the States.

Yesterday we referred to the campaign being carried on by Germans in the United States to influence public opinion with a view to bringing pressure to bear on President Wilson to force him to follow out the dictates of Germany in reference to the Great War. The great objective of the campaign is to obtain from the administration an order prohibiting Americans from manufacturing or selling arms and ammunition to the Entente Allies. Mr. Wile, a correspondent of the London Daily Mail writes in this connection:—

"For six months following the outbreak of the war, roughly up to February 1, the Germans waged a 'campaign of education' through the country at an expense believed to be not less than £200,000 a month. That represents to date a total outlay of nearly £1,500,000, which exceeds by £200,000 the greatest 'fund' ever raised for national political purposes in the United States during the celebrated McKinley campaign conducted by the late Senator Mark Hanna against Mr. Bryan in 1896. Mr. Roosevelt's campaign in 1912 cost only £100,000, and with the new requirement to publish campaign contributions it is doubtful whether more than £400,000 or £600,000 will ever again be spent on the election of a United States President. The Germans in their six months of crusading have therefore broken the campaign fund record in America."

Not only are the Germans trying to foment opinion against the Entente, but they are going further and organizing political clubs with a view to influencing politicians by threats of loss of votes of German-Americans. It is a question how long the non-German-Americans will stand this kind of thing.

Naval Fables.

This war has been productive of many fables about naval fights. The most sensational and unfounded was circulated at the beginning of the war. A few days ago we received a message which conveyed the impression that a naval battle had just been fought in the Black Sea and that the Russians had sunk six Turkish warships and a transport. A reading of the full message destroys this pleasant intelligence and shows that the story was a review of what had happened on various dates since December 12th last, and that the warships sunk were three gunboats, two torpedo boats and one destroyer. Athens has been the location of many fake stories. One was that the Amphyst had rushed through the Dardanelles and reached the Sea of Marmora. To-day we have another Greek story about the Renard, a destroyer, penetrating 10 miles into the Straits, and this is given as the furthest yet, whereas three weeks ago we had the story of the Amphyst through the Chanak gut to Nagaira, 10 miles further than the best yet as given in to-day's story. It is clear no reliance can be placed on stories from Tenedos.

LONDON BUDGET.—GREAT FIGHT FOR THE GATE OF HUNGARY.—RUMOR THAT THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT WILL MAKE THE ENTIRE BUSINESS OF THE MANUFACTURE AND SALE OF ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES A GOVERNMENT MONOPOLY, AND MANUFACTURE AND SELL ONLY LIGHT BEERS.

LONDON, To-day.
Two gateways into Hungary still remain barred, despite the tremendous hammering by Russian forces and as Beskid Pass is the less important of the two strategically, further advance into Hungary hangs upon the possession of Uzok Pass, where the invaders are meeting with a most stubborn resistance. Several days ago the Russians captured a position which gave them the command of the road leading to the rear of Uzok Pass, but since then the Teutonic Allies have checked the movement in this direction. The importance of the Carpathian operations is indicated by the half-hearted actions reported from other sections on the long eastern front, where even a counter offensive in East Galicia, which evidently was planned to divert the Russian efforts from the Passes, seems to have been prosecuted with little energy. The people of the Dual Monarchy are said to be greatly cheered by the number of German reinforcements passing through Budapest on the way to the Carpathian front to take part in operations which are now believed to be in charge of the German general staff. The whole campaign in the east pivots on Uzok Pass, where the Austro-German forces are in such great strength that the efforts of the Russians to reach the Hungarian Plains are likely to be prolonged. In the West the French apparently are satisfied with their recent successes between the Meuse and the Lorraine frontier and claim only to have come into contact with German entanglements in this region. Official German reports assert that determined attacks by the French have been repulsed along this section. Probably no session of the British Parliament since opening has been awaited with keener interest than the sitting which will begin to-morrow. "Dry" England, unknown except for a period of two years, 150 years ago, is not beyond possibilities, but the Government has not given the slightest official hint as to what action may be expected in its undoubted determination to attack the problem of restricting the consumption of alcoholic liquors. Several days ago an opposition paper published a forecast of the Government's plan which it asserted contemplated prohibition of all liquors except light beer, which would be manufactured by the Government, which declared that the entire business of the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors is to become a Government monopoly.

RUSSIAN WEDGE MENACED.
PETROGRAD, To-day.
The German commanders in the Eastern war theatre have effected another of their rapid sics, made possible by superior railroad facilities, and despatches received from Lemberg to-day intimate that the Russian invasion of Hungary through the Carpathians might have to be temporarily abandoned. The Russian wedge moving southwest and south of Przemysl to the Carpathian passes is now menaced on both flanks. Immediately following their offensive against the Russian left wing in Stry region, the Teuton allies have begun an advance in force eastward from the Dunajec River to strike the Russian right.

PROPHETS.
By GEORGE FITCH.
Author of "At Good Old Slivash."
A prophet is a man who is able to say "I told you so" and prove it. He is a man who wears his hindsight before; who is able to read the future as readily as if it were a Walt Mason prose poem; who can write a book of interesting history beginning with the day after next year and can then sit around at ease waiting for time to catch up with him.
Prophecs are as old as history but have been steadily deteriorating for thousands of years. In biblical times there were great prophets who could not only tell what was going to happen in the next generation but would linger along and see that it came true. Nowadays, however, about the best a prophet can do is to put his prophecies a long way ahead and live on his reputation, discreetly retiring from view before history hurls him the cruel, raucous ha ha.
A batting average of .001 is very good for a modern prophet. Still people are very easily satisfied now-

ITALY SUPPORTS SERBIAN CLAIM.
LONDON, To-day.
After prolonged negotiations, says the Daily Mail's Rome correspondent, Italy has agreed with the Entente Powers to support the Serbians' claim to an outlet on the Adriatic coast.

DESTROYER'S SCOUTING EXPLOIT
LONDON, To-day.
Reuter's Tenedos correspondent telegraphing on Tuesday says: the British torpedo boat destroyer, Renard, entered the Dardanelles yesterday on a scouting mission and ran up the Straits at a high speed for over ten miles, penetrating the waterway probably farther than any of the British ships have yet done. A heavy fire was directed at her, but the destroyer was not hit. The British battleship London which followed the Renard into the Straits drew most of the enemy fire. The battery bombarded by the Triumph, on Saturday, apparently is permanently out of action. The weather is rainy and murky, hindering aerial reconnaissances.

STRUCK SMALL PATCH.—LOST CHANCE OF KILLING BULK BY LACK OF GUNS.
Copy of message received by Job Brothers & Co., Ltd.:—
S.S. Beothic, April 14th, 1915. "Struck small patch at noon, estimate patch at 5,000, sent men out, fully ninety per cent. took to the water; whitecoats more plentiful as we go Northwest, could have shot four thousand this afternoon if we had ten guns; took 500 to-day; all well."

PADS AND FASHIONS.
Sleeves are usually full length. All-black hats are again smart. Organdies are so sheer as to seem diaphanous. Very smart motor coats are in checks. The one-sided jacket is again fashionable. New serge suits are trimmed with self-folds. Exquisite gowns are being made of voiles. Silk blouses are more than ever decorative.

Sealing News.

The new styles certainly favor the custom dressmaker.

STIRRING SCENES MARK REMOND'S REVIEW OF TROOPS.
Dublin, April 5.—A band of the Irish Guards, which even a few months ago would have received an unfriendly greeting anywhere in Ireland, arrived here yesterday on a recruiting tour, and was enthusiastically cheered as it marched to the Mansion House, playing "St. Patrick's Day." The bandsmen were received and welcomed by the Lord Mayor and sheriffs.
There was another remarkable scene here when John E. Redmond, the Irish Nationalist leader, reviewed 25,000 of the Irish National volunteers, and in a speech said that of the Nationalist and Ulster volunteers who had organized to fight one another, more than 50,000 were now fighting side by side on the Continent, or training to go there.
Limerick also has altered its opinion of the British army. Officers, who during the week secured 300 recruits in Limerick, were heartily welcomed by the people, and the recruits were lustily cheered when they presented themselves.
Perhaps for the first time in Irish history such scenes have been witnessed, and certainly there has been a change from the days when an Irishman who joined the army was shunned by many.

McMurdo's Store News.
WEDNESDAY, April 14, 1915.
We have still a fine selection of Willard's Forkport Chocolates, but they are going rapidly, and if you want a specially nice box of Chocolates come along at once. Judging by the large number of these high-class sweetmeats we sell, it is pretty evident that our St. John's public are becoming increasingly convinced that only the best is good enough in the way of chocolates. Willard's Chocolates keep up their quality all through their varieties.
If you want to know about Sutton's Seeds, send to us for one of our Catalogues. They are gratis and post free.
