Cresolene is a boon to Asthmatics
Does it not seem more effective to breathe in a remedy to cure disease of the breathing organs than to take the remedy into the stomach?
It cures because the air rendered strongly antiseptic is carried over the diseased surface with every breath, giving prolonged and constant treatment. It is invaluable to mothers with small children.
Those of a consumptive tendency find immediate relief from coughs or inflamed conditions of the throat.

Eggs Kept in Water Glass.
Many Canadian farmers' wives have been adopting of recent years the water-glass method of preserving their eggs. And it has proved a very satisfactory and cheap method. Eggs in this solution will keep well for short periods. It has been demonstrated that longer periods make little difference to the quantities of the eggs.
Professor James Hendrick, B. Sc. of Aberdeen University, has been carrying out investigations as to the preservation of eggs by waterglass, and the composition of the preserved eggs, says The Yorkshire Post. He gives the result of his labors in an article in The Journal of Agricultural Science. In ordinary practice it is only necessary to preserve eggs for short periods, but Mr. Hendrick has proved that they can be preserved for two, three or four years, with very little change in their consumption. Eggs preserved in waterglass have a nice appearance as the shells are very clean and fresh looking after the waterglass is wiped off. Even those which had been several years in the fluid had a fine fresh appearance. The contents of the eggs do not shrink owing to evaporation. Eggs kept in the waterglass for a few months could hardly be distinguished in appearance, flavor, and smell either raw or cooked, from eggs three or four days old. Of course, as the eggs got older a distinct change was found, but it took place very gradually and at one year old was scarcely noticeable. Eggs which had been three or four years in the waterglass are easily recognized. The white becomes pink in color, and very liquid. The eggs acquire a slightly peculiar taste, suggestive of soda. At the same time, even when four years old, they have no unpleasant taste or smell, and the white coagulates in the usual manner in cooking. Though there was a slight characteristic odor when the eggs were cooked, it was not a stale or bad odor, and did not suggest sulphuretted hydrogen.

The Public is Often Faked.
Unscrupulous dealers actuated by large profits often recommend corn cures "as good as Putnam's." There is only one genuine Corn Extractor and that is Putnam's. Fairless which is a miracle of efficiency and promptness. Use no other.

Salmon Fed to Dogs.
When I was in Alaska, says a writer in The Travel Magazine, salmon were just beginning to run, and at Bluff the first drying establishment was seen. Nets are used and are placed in the eddies of the stream and the curing is done in rude shacks in which a slow fire called "smudge" is burning. The smoke greatly assists in the process.

It was a matter for surprise to me that a fish so highly prized for food should be put to so common a use as feeding dogs. There is not a cannery on the Yukon, the entire catch being prepared by drying for the above purpose. But when it is remembered that dog-teams are to be fed during the long, weary months of winter, the value of salmon may in no wise be lessened, but the respect one may have for the dog generally increased. It is probably safe to say that during the few weeks in which the salmon are running, thousands of tons are prepared in this way chiefly by the Indians, the catch being made by the men, and the cleaning and drying by the squaws.

End or Mend.
The approaching session of the Imperial Parliament is likely to be one of the most important ever held by that august body, it is stated that the government has prepared a program that will bring the question of supremacy between the House of Lords and the Commons to a direct issue. Should the Lords persist in defeating or emasculating measures passed by large majorities in the Commons there will be a dissolution. The government will go to the country with an appeal for the supremacy of the people in all matters of legislation. Whether it will include the entire abolition of the House of Lords in its policy, or the restriction of its powers that will make it a mere registering body for the will of the Commons, remains to be seen. It would be a good thing for the cause of representative government throughout the world if the government adopted the former policy. Outside of Great Britain, especially in the British colonies and the United States, the example of the mother country has been slavishly followed in the organization of their legislative bodies. The province of Ontario was the first, or among the first, to break away from the old dual chamber plan. The single chamber form was so successful that it has been extensively copied by other provinces, and it is now doubtful whether the dual system would be adopted by any of the territories on entering upon the sisterhood of self governing colonies. There is no logical reason that can be advanced for creating two sets of legislators to represent and carry out the will and wishes of one set of constituents in countries where the people rule through an elective parliament.

IT HAS MANY OFFICES—Before the German soldier starts on a long march he rubs his feet with tallow, for his first care is to keep his feet in good condition. If he knew that Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil would be of such better service he would throw away his tallow and pack a few bottles of the Oil in his knapsack. There is nothing like it.

This is the way your Baking turns out when you use "Beaver Flour"
There is one point about BEAVER FLOUR that every woman appreciates. That's its reliability. Winter and summer—year after year—it never varies in quality. Because the quality of the wheat—and the blending—are always the same.
Beaver Flour
Is a scientific blend of Manitoba Spring wheat. There is just so much gluten—so much protein—so much of the Carbohydrates—so much food property in every pound. The "know-how" is the result of years of milling and baking. Today, BEAVER FLOUR is a perfectly balanced flour, that gives the same perfect baking results every day in the year. Just as good for Cakes, Pies and Pastry—as it is for Bread, Rolls and Biscuits. And it is BEST FOR BOTH.
