THE EARL AMHERST. We regret to announce that the Earl Amherst expired at 9 o'clock on Friday night, at Knowle Park, near Sevenoaks, Kent.—He was born in 1773, and early in 1816 was appointed Ambassador Extraordinary to the Emperor of China. He left England in the Alceste in February of that year, on his mission. On reaching the precincts of the Imperial Palace at Pekin, and refusing to submit to the humiliating ceremonies of the Emperor's court, he was refused admission to the presence of the Emperor, rendering his mission useless. On his return in the Alceste he was wrecked off the Island of Pulo Leat. In 1817, on his return to England, he visited the Emperor Napoleon at the Island of St. Helena, and was honoured with several interviews by that illustrious captive He subsequently was appointed Governor-General of India, and for his services there was in 1826 created Earl Amherst and Viscount Holmesdale. Since his second marriage, in 1832, his lordship has led a retired life, rarely interfering in politics, and chiefly directing his attention to the welfare of the poor on his estate in Kent. He is succeeded by his only son, William Pitt, Viscount Holmesdale, whose eldest son, Captain Amherst, of the Grenadier Guards, becomes Viscount Holmesdale.
