BRITISH DOMINION WINE.

Manufactured from the Best Canada Grapes without the use of either artificial coloring or distilled spirits in any form.

After repeated chemical analyses of the Wines made by Robert Bradford of No. 595 Parliament St., Toronto, I do not hesitate to pronounce them to be unsurpassed by any of the native Wines that have come under my observation.

Analyses show them to contain liberal amounts of the ethereal and saline elements, sugar and tannic acid etc., characteristic of true Wine and which modify materially the effects which would be produced by alcohol alone.

Retaining to a high degree the natural flavor of the grape, they serve the purpose of a pleasant table Wine as well as that of a most valuable medicinal Wine.

What Causes Pimples?

Clogging of the pores or mouths of the sebaceous glands with sebum or oily matter.

Nature will not allow the clogging of the pores to continue long, hence, inflammation, pain, swelling and redness.

What Cures Pimples?

The only reliable cure, when not due to a constitutional humor, is CUTICURA SOAP.

It dissolves sebaceous or oily matter, reduces inflammation, soothes and heals irritated and roughened surfaces, and restores the skin to its original purity.

Besides being the most effective skin purifying and beautifying soap, it is the purest, sweetest, and most delicate of toilet soaps.

Sold throughout the world. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Sole Props., Boston.

HEALTH AND HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Crab Fritters.—For a one-pound can use two eggs, well beaten; a good half teacup of milk, a lump of butter size of an egg (melted), a pinch of cayenne pepper and four table-spoonfuls of powdered cracker. Mix with the crab meat and fry in butter. This makes seven good sized fritters.

Orange and Lemon Ices.—The rind of three oranges grated and steeped a few moments in a little more than a pint of water; strain one pint of this on a pound of sugar and then add one pint of orange or lemon juice; pour in a freezer, and when half frozen add the whites of four eggs beaten to a stiff froth.

Turkey Saute.—Cut the meat of a cold cooked turkey into dice, or small pieces. Melt two ounces of butter or dripping in a saucepan. Saute or brown the pieces of turkey first on one side then on the other, until they are a delicate brown. Add one table-spoonful of flour and stir until smooth; then add one cup of stock, stir until it thickens, and serve. Peas can be added, if desired.

Ivy on the Dinner Table.—Pots of ivy are cultivated by New York florists for table decoration. Several plants are clustered so as to cover the earth, and growth is forced from the stem. Creeping Charley, Wandering Jew, the green variety, and all the mosses and small ferns are effective. Foliage is usually better than cut flowers for the dining room, where savory and scented odors may not make the most agreeable bouquet.

In Reserve.—Of course, every one makes lemonade and needs no recipe for it; but here is a little trick every one has not thought of, and which is invaluable at picnics and lawn parties, or even in a large family: It is simply to keep in reserve a jar or small pitcher filled with clear lemon juice, of which a portion can be added to the lemonade from time to time and it becomes weaker and sweeter from standing, as it invariably does.

Raspberry Cordial.—Real raspberry cordial is prepared by mashing four quarts of ripe berries in a stone jar with one pound of white sugar. Pour over them one quart of the best cider vinegar, and set the jar in the hot sunshine for four hours, after which the mixture is strained, bottled and sealed. Lay the bottles on their sides in a cool cellar, and for drinking mix in the proportions of two table-spoonfuls to a tumbler of iced water.

Tomato Rice.—Tomato rice is as good as it is pretty. Boil half a pound of rice in some well-flavored stock with an onion, soup herbs, a few peppercorns, three cloves and a blade of mace; when tender, lift out these, slice an onion, pull it into rings and fry a golden brown in a little butter and stir this into the rice with a half pint of tomato conserve or reduced and seasoned tomato pulp strained to free it from seeds. Season with cayenne and salt and serve.

Display Apartments.—A writer in the Fortnightly Review condemns too much "artistic designing." Carpets, hangings, furniture, mantels, and walls are covered with cheap designs, and often it is the fate of one room to contain many and unrelated kinds. Such a room lacks repose. There is no place where the eye can escape the all encompassing pattern. "How much," is the comment, "the English might learn from the Japanese in the matter of leaving large spaces undecorated, so that the single good design, the graceful spray of almond blossoms, the group of flying birds, the one fine bronze or porcelain, should have its proper advantage and the spectator's attention not be distracted by a rabble of in-artistic patterns and ornaments."

Getting Rid of Roaches.—"I tried every remedy I could hear of," writes a housewife, "and I was always inquiring. They seemed to fatten on my poisons; at least their numbers did not suffer diminution. One day I took up an old almanac, and idly turned its tattered, yellow pages, and on the last fragment of a leaf came this: 'Equal portions of cornmeal and red lead mixed with molasses and spread on plates will destroy roaches.' And it did. I put it in several dishes and set them on the floor, and at nine o'clock stole softly out to see if they ate it. The dishes were so covered with roaches that the mixture was scarcely visible. The next night there were fewer at the feast, and in a week not a roach was seen. I lived seven years thereafter in the same house and never saw one."

TIRED, WEAK, NERVOUS,
Means impure blood, and overwork or too much strain on brain and body. The only way to cure is to feed the nerves on pure blood. Thousands of people certify that the best blood purifier, the best nerve tonic and strength builder is Hood's Sarsaparilla. What it has done for others it will also do for you—Hood's Cures.

Hood's Pills cure constipation by restoring peristaltic action of the alimentary canal.

Has Her Hands Full—the woman who won't use Pearline—her hands full of work, and her head full of worry. Suits herself.

If she'd rather work hard, and keep everlastingly at it, it is nobody else's business. But that isn't all of it. The clothes that she washes, with her careless, tiresome, rub, rub, rub, are soon worn out. That's your business, if she washes your clothes. It will pay you to look after it. Pearline saves them.

Send it Back Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearlinc." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearlinc, be honest—send it back. 324 JAMES PYLE, N. Y.

"Why not memorial gardens?" asks the Westminster Gazette. "That is the question, The Gardeners' Chronicle asks, apropos of memorials to Charles Kingsley in the shape of a stained glass window and a renovated font in the novelist's native village of Holne. Kingsley was a great admirer of the floral beauties of the earth; and if there are to be more memorials of him, why not a garden? Another suggestion thrown out by our contemporary—that public gardens should be named after our more 'fascinating immortals'—is also worthy consideration. There is no reason whatever why we should not have a Gordon Garden or a Tennyson Garden, or, for that matter, a Gladstone Garden."

M. Grandeau, of Nancy, states that the world uses 19,500,000,000 bushels of wheat and 25,000,000,000 bushels of maize annually. Of the latter about 7,500,000,000 bushels are used by man, the rest being fed to animals.
