

SCOTCH NEWS.

On Saturday afternoon, in Mr. Gregor's Hotel, Mr. J. H. Stoddard, editor of the Herald, was presented with his portrait, which had been subscribed for by a large number of his friends.

The question of Disestablishment was discussed at great length on Tuesday at a special meeting of the Glasgow Free Presbytery. Dr. Adam moved the transmission of an overture calling on the General Assembly to represent to the State the duty of effecting an early settlement of the question.

THE DUKE OF EDINBURGH IN THE NORTH.

His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh visited Kirkwall on Monday, the eighth anniversary of his marriage. The weather was splendid, and although little time had been available for decorations, the town presented an animated appearance with flags, Venetian masks, and triumphal arches.

On his Royal Highness's walking up the avenue leading to the County Buildings he was accorded perhaps the most pleasing reception of about a thousand children, ranged on each side of the way. Long before the hour the Sheriff Court-room was crowded by the principal inhabitants of the town and country, who had been assembled to witness the ceremony.

The Duke of Edinburgh, in reply, said he thanked the Council for honoring him with the freedom of the burgh. He had a pleasant remembrance of his visit to Orkney 18 years ago, and was happy to renew his acquaintance with Kirkwall.

A Positive Cure for Dyspepsia.

FROM ABRAHAM MERRILL, of Littleton, Mass. I have for several years suffered severely with Dyspepsia, accompanied by weakness and nervous irritability, which made life a burden to me.

A REMINISCENCE OF THE WAR.

During the civil war there was, rightly or wrongly, a lamentable prejudice entertained against brevet rank and brigadier generals. Lincoln's estimate of the comparative value of the miles and brigadiers gobbled up by a confederate raider—the army mule was affectionately known as a "brevet horse."

GLADSTONE'S SHARE OF THE WORLD'S RICHES.

Mr. Gladstone, having a large family to provide for, none of whom have married money, prudently sold the lease of his beautiful house in Carlton House Terrace, some years ago, and removed to Harley Street, where his rent would be half of that of the house he left. Before leaving Carlton Terrace he sold his ceramic collection.

Nor a Half-Way Cure, but a positive, permanent relief, soon experienced, follows the use of Thomas' Electric Oil for coughs, colds, sore throats and chest rheumatism, neuralgia, piles, sores and diseases of horses and cattle.

FASHION NOTES.

Rich chenille fringes, mixed with tinted beads of every description, are in the height of favor for dress trimmings.

Some of the latest gloves of Danish kid are decorated with tiny butterflies made of gold or silver tinsel and chenille in raised work.

The screw earring of solitaire diamonds, and the hoop earring made of pearls or filigree work in fine gold, are the only boucles d'oreille just now in vogue.

A favorite costume of high ceremony this winter for the stately dowagers is a black velvet court trained process dress, over a petticoat of white satin, trimmed with white lace, or pearl and crystal fringes.

Chestnut blossoms, laburnum, snowdrops, and delicate fern leaves "all sprinkled with dew," made of fine cut crystals, are the corsage and collar bouquets par excellence with rich evening toilets.

A new invention as a preventive of neuralgia or rheumatism is a pine-wool vest, which fits the body closely. In addition to their being made of this fabric, whose healing properties are well known, they are lined with chamomile leather, which is perforated, so as not to check or retard the natural action of the skin.

Coffures are extremely simple, and are worn quite low in the neck in collis or plaits, while the brow is covered with waves or high rings of hair. A semi-wreath of flowers is worn upon the left side of the head, while the corsage bouquet is placed low upon the left side of the bodice, inclining toward the shoulder.

Chenille fringes, flowers and foliage are exceedingly fashionable. Some very beautiful branches of hawthorne, golden rod, geranium blossoms, marguerites, golden-hearted pansies, and roses in exquisite shadings of color, mingled with gold or silver tinsel, are worn upon reception or opera bouquets of white or tinted plush.

IRISH FAITH AMERICA!

Elegantly bound in cloth, with an artistic Shamrock-wreathed Cross on side, in ink and gold. Price 75 Cents.

No more fervent tribute to Ireland's devotion to the Faith has ever appeared than this book from the pen of a French Missionary. It glows with enthusiasm and bears eloquent testimony to the truth of Father Burke's words: "Ireland's tree of Catholicity never yielded to any blast, she raises her head to-day as graceful, as beautiful, as loaded with every flower of virtue and fruit of fulfilment as in the day when the dying hand of Patrick waved its last benediction over her, and when with his fading and dying voice he made his last prayer to God that Ireland might keep her faith until the end of time!"

D. & J. SADLER & CO.,

Catholic Publishers & Booksellers! IMPORTERS OF Church Ornaments and Religious Goods,

275 NOTRE DAME STREET, MONTREAL.

CO-OPERATIVE!

The fact that nearly all the Co-operative Stores in England and Scotland have lately become insolvent should be a warning to people in Canada not to risk their money in enterprises that are started for the sole purpose of providing well paid situations. These Co-operative stores are so handicapped that it is sheer nonsense to talk about them making money. In England none but third-rate hands will work in them, because respectable store-keepers will not employ salesmen that have once gone over to the Co-operative system. Employees of said Co-operative stores are treated and looked upon by tradesmen in about the same way as doctors' speak of and treat quacks.

It may be remarked that our prices are altogether lower than the price list published by Co-operative stores. The theory of selling groceries at and below cost and making up the loss by getting low prices for dry goods cannot be carried out.

We can afford to sell at the prices Co-operative stores pay for their goods and still get a fair profit. The best manufacturers will not serve them.
