

NEW TIPPERARY.

By T. D. SWILLIAM.

We have many towns in Ireland that can boast a hoary age. That can trace their far beginnings to our history's earliest page.

They saw the proud Milesian, and the Norman in his mail. They bore the brunt of Strongbow's spears and Cromwell's iron hail.

They have ancient rolls and charters, they have memories and grand. But the newest town in Ireland is the glory of the land.

IRELAND'S RICHEST TREASURE

EMMA HOWARD WIGHT.

After three hundred years of penal law and persecution, having tried by every means of bloodshed, confiscation, and persecution, to rob Ireland of her faith, an act of legislation, counteracted by England's Minister and England's Queen, solemnly declared it all to have been in vain and England acknowledged herself beaten, and the sacred standard of religious liberty was lifted up over the green hills of Ireland.

But in all the victories of material force over material force is there not something commonplace, and something also to be deplored? Bismarck, Prime Minister of Germany, waves his victorious sword over the prostrate form of a great and generous nation, but he must remember that before he shouted victory he had twelve hundred thousand men at his back; and that that victory was purchased at the cost of the best blood that flows in German veins.

In a word, the triumph of force over force is a commonplace thing which happens every day, but it is not once perhaps in a century that we find a triumph of great principles, of a high and noble cause, dear to the heart and mind of a people, defended through centuries of sorrow and bloodshed, and at length crowned with an unblemished victory.

Then, in time of trial, when property, liberty or life is threatened, men and nations alike have often again and over again renounced divine faith. Over and over again have nations changed their faith and shaken their God.

Where to-day in England's faith; or the faith that reigned supreme in Prussia and Northern Germany; or which was so dearly loved and well practised in Scandinavia, Sweden and Norway? It can be found only in the traditions of the past, in the recorded story of the people's perversion.

But where to-day is the faith brought to Ireland fifteen hundred years ago? In the heart and mind of the Irish race, wherever they may be scattered over the world. As pure as when like a white dove it sprang from the lips of the Apostles, and nestled in the Irish heart.

Then Henry the VIII, England's King, called upon Ireland, the nation he had almost conquered, a divided people who seemed incapable of defending their liberty, to give up their faith. And what was the result? To Henry's amazement, and terror, the whole Irish nation rose up as one man; and the sword about to be sheathed was grasped in a nation's hand.

collected in the world's history. What greater hero ever lived, and still lives immortal, than Daniel O'Connell, the leader of the Irish?

Breaking Limbs to Cure Deformities.

Everybody knows that the mending of broken limbs is an important feature of the work at all accident hospitals; but it is not generally known that a great many patients are admitted to Bellevue for the purpose of having their legs broken by the surgeons.

Are Irish Catholics Intolerant?

The argument which is occasionally argued against Home Rule, that Irish Catholics, if left uncontrolled by a superior power, would immediately begin to persecute their Protestant fellow countrymen, is one that, to any one with even a moderate knowledge of Irish history and of the Irish people, carries its own refutation.

The Late Father Magin.

The Catholics of Glasgow, says the Glasgow Observer, have as yet scarcely realized the loss they have sustained by the death of the Rev. Michael Magin while still in the prime of manhood.

Woman's Home Influence.

The third of a series of lectures by the Rev. J. A. McCallan, under the auspices of the St. Patrick's T. A. & B. Society, on Tuesday evening, 15th instant, was very largely attended.

He Gave to God.

The will of Mr. James Walsh, who died April 8, at Washington, D.C., makes the following bequest: To Bishop Nease of Kentucky, $25,000 for St. Mary's Cathedral, Covington, Ky., to St. Peter's Hospital, St. Louis, Mo., $10,000, and to St. Joseph's Hospital, St. Louis, Mo., $10,000.

pagan times to the Christian woman, restored to her rights and privileges, man's companion, helpmate, guardian angel and queen of the Christian household.

A Defence of the Priesthood.

During a recent notable trial in San Francisco, that of the Bryan O'Connor Will contest, one of the counsel for the contestants in the case made an uncalculated attack upon the Catholic priesthood, which drew from Mr. D. M. Delmas, counsel for the widow and respondent, Mary O'Connor, the following able answer:

La Grippe or Lightning Catarrh.

Mr. Editor—"La Grippe" or Russian influenza, as it is termed, is in reality an epidemic catarrh, and is called by some physicians "lightning catarrh," from the rapidity with which it sweeps over the country.

Death of Mrs. O'Farrel, of St. Malachy.

We learn from St. Malachy, County of Donegal, of the death of Mrs. O'Farrel, wife of James O'Farrel, farmer, and mother of Rev. Father O'Farrel, parish priest of Frampton, and James O'Farrel, secretary-treasurer of the municipality of St. Malachy.

Fifty-five Millions.

The railway subsidies brought down in the House of Commons are somewhat startling in amount, totalling up $3,505,410. Sir John Macdonald appears to have bravely over the fit of economy which appears to have animated him when he declared that it was time to call a halt in the subsidizing of railways and confine such appropriations to what could be spared from surplus revenue.

Catholic Progress in India.

The progress of the Catholic Church in India has been marvellous. Fifty years ago there were in the Indian vicinities of Madras, Hyderabad, Nagpur and Vizagapatnam only 23 churches or chapels; there are now 225. Half a century back the same diocese possessed only 30 schools; now, there are 155. The Hyderabad Cathedral is thus described: The cathedral built about 1848, and dedicated to the Blessed Virgin Mary, under the title of the Assumption, is a splendid structure of the decorated style of Gothic architecture.

Rome Under the Popes.

Bayard Taylor wrote of Rome under Pius IX. as follows: "There are more free hospitals for the sick, the poor and aged, the suffering of every class, in Rome, in proportion to the population, than in any other city of the world. The city of Rome has more free public schools than New York in proportion to her population, and what is still better, a larger proportion of children attend them. The Papal States, with a population of less than 3,000,000, have seven universities."

A Model Railway.

The Burlington Route, C. B. & Q. R. R., operates 7,000 miles of road, with termini in Chicago, St. Louis, St. Paul, Omaha, Kansas City and Denver. For speed, safety, comfort, equipment, track, and efficient service it has no equal. The Burlington gains new patrons, but loses none.

Expensive Education.

Miss Urban, from the city of O., there's no doubt that town life enlarges a person's mind. Mr. Hayes, who once spent a week in London: "You enlarge the mind; but now it narrows the pocket-book."

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all other Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellow-men.
