

the sharing of economic, social, and cultural resources. Financed through voluntary contributions, this special programme is designed to complement the other programmes of the Agency and to fill the gaps left by other forms of bilateral and multilateral co-operation. Its functions will be to examine and implement development projects which will meet the needs of member countries notably in the sectors of education, training, research, agriculture, health, and social communication.