The Austrians have admitted a retreat more than once in Bukowina in the present engagement before im-mensely superior numbers, but the Russians hope to be able to cut off and destroy the bulk of them south of the Dniester before they can take to the Carpathians. out by the Germans yesterday afternoon for a short time, according to the OI British official communique issued last night. The batteries of the enemy were also unusually active immediately north of La Bassee Canal and in the Loos salient. The British successfully exploded mines in the neighborhood of the Souchez quarries and Cuinchy, and the Germans exploded a mine near Givenchy, but it did 90 damage.

Before Verdun the French success in capturing about 1100 yards of 27 German trenches on the southern slopes of Le Mort Homme provoked the Germans not only to make counter attacks to regain the lost positions, but to make attacks to seize the ridge which the French retain north of Thiau-PATE mont farm on the western banks of the Meuse. These night onsets were all repulsed and the day was spent in a comparatively calm fashion. Intermittent bombardments, however, were maintained. In all the French took 200 prisoners in the taking of the Mort Homme trenches.

In Mesopotamia the British column under General Gorringe is preparing in a methodical manner to attack the Turks at Sannaiyat, on the Tigris, and to this end it has pushed its trenches up to within 200 yards of the position' of the enemy. Imam Masura, on the south bank of the Tigris, has fallen into British occupation. A unitive expedition has effectively dealt with a tribe of unfriendly Arabs who persistently cut the telegraph line north of Hamar Lake. The Turkish artillery fire destroyed three British Tigris barges on June 10. * * * * * * .
