

MENTAL HYGIENE ASSOCIATION MEETS

G. A. Hastings of New York Speaks on Need for Psychopathic Clinics in City.

Members of the Ontario Provincial Association for the care of the Feeble-minded were addressed at their annual meeting yesterday afternoon at the subject of "Community Control of the Feeble-minded," by G. A. Hastings, secretary of the mental hygiene division of a New York institution engaged in social and charitable work.

Mrs. A. M. Huestis, president of the association, occupied the chair, and in referring to the work of the past year, stated that committees had been appointed to meet the medical officer of health and the police commissioners, with a view to enlisting their co-operation in dealing with the problem of feeble-minded and insane people in the province.

George A. Hastings gave in some detail the history of the progress of the association he represented in curing and preventing mental diseases. There are, he said, 35 mental hygiene demonstration clinics in New York state, with 2000 patients. It is not fully realized to what a degree insanity and feeble-mindedness contribute to our social problems.

Breeding-Ground for Criminals. A very large percentage of our criminals, he said, are born with some kind of mental defect, and it is essential, continued Mr. Hastings, that scientific and systematic steps be taken to decrease the number of psychological cases. Many forms of mental diseases are curable, and about 40 per cent. of them can be prevented if dealt with at a sufficiently early stage. The chief instigations from the prevention of mental disease are demonstration clinics and psychopathic hospitals. The latter would deal with mild cases, and should be a training centre for teachers who come into contact with mental defectives in their schools. Such clinics should be intimately connected with the universities in order to enable medical students to obtain more comprehensive knowledge of insanity, psychiatry and psychology.

The association's vote of thanks was supported by J. Noble, chairman of the board of education, who contended that the need is for more intensive physical training as opposed to mental training in our schools. The natural stigma which usually attaches to mental cases and institutions in which they are looked after.

VISITOR AT HALL

SPRINGS SURPRISE

Enters Mayor's Office and Applies for Finance Commissioner's Job.

Giving himself the name of William Morgan, a well dressed man called at the city hall yesterday and after drifting around the corridors for some time and speaking familiarly to officials and reports, who apparently did not know him from a tale of hay, he went into the mayor's office and applied for the job of finance commissioner. He had spoken to a dozen persons in the hall including three porters, and Corporation Counsel Geary, but it remained for Robert Clewley, mayor's private secretary, to law bare the plot on the second glance.

This may be William Morgan," said Mr. Clewley, "but he looks uncommonly like Bill Smith."

The ex-fire chief is just back from Los Angeles, where he spent the winter. The chief of the fire department, and besides getting himself all dolled up, Mr. Smith has cut off his moustache.

PROTEST AT T. DEMAND FOR AMERICAN COIN

That a protest should be made against the demand of the G. T. R. for American currency for hauling coal over Canadian territory is the view taken by Coal Commissioner Harrington, who, however, concedes the right of the American roads to ask U. S. currency for an American haul.

It is the commissioner's points out that on the present basis the cost of coal is being increased ten cents per ton to the Toronto consumer.

There is no real shortage, and a possible shortage, and when navigation on the lakes is resumed the supply will be further cut down.

"To the Public: The bearer, Mrs. Leadbetter, is the daughter and sister of soldiers. HUSBAND GIVEN JAIL SENTENCE

Three Months for Shooting at Wife's Paramour—Wrote Filthy Letters.

Sentence of three months at the jail farm was imposed by Judge Coatsworth in the sessions yesterday on George Gurley, convicted of shooting at Reginald Cave. Prisoner was also bound over to keep the peace.

Accused, who served three and one-half years overseas, where he was gassed and shell shocked, told the court he was exasperated at the time of the shooting, and that he had no intention of doing harm to Cave.

According to the evidence adduced before Judge Coatsworth, the prisoner was married just prior to his going overseas. He lived for about ten days with his wife. The wife got letters from him containing filthy disclosures of prisoner's doings overseas. She decided to have nothing more to do with him, and took up with Cave, with whom she cohabited, and two children were born. The returning husband offered to forgive the erring wife, take her back and provide as best he could for her and the children. This arrangement materialized, but only to be broken. The wife went back to Cave, who admitted that he and Mrs. Gurley had cohabited after the shooting on April 20 last.

When prisoner ascertained the name of the man with whom his wife was cohabiting, he shot the following letter to her:

"Thought of Divorce. Mrs. Gurley, in the witness box, said she thought she could get a divorce from her husband, which she repeated so often that Judge Coatsworth and the crown attorney rebukingly pointed out to her the futility of such a proceeding."

At a time the crown attorney despatched an officer for Mr. McKinney of the morality department, in whose charge, at the close of the case, Mrs. Gurley and Cave left the court. Mrs. Gurley further admitted that she got prisoner's assigned pay, etc., amounting to $45 a month, while before her marriage she was only earning $6 a week. "It was a good, church-going girl until I got the letters from my husband. It ruined my life," deplored the witness.

In cross-examination, witness said prisoner had asked her to go to the old country, but she was afraid of being tormented. When her husband came back, she stayed with him for four or five days. "I do not think he had the right to stop me from going to Cave. He would not give me money."
