

FORGED PARNELL LETTER AND PIGOTT EVIDENCE RECALLED BY THE ZINOVIEFF DOCUMENT

Tense Scenes in Commons and in Court as Irish Leader Defended Himself and was Exonerated Thirty-Three Years Ago.

(New York Times)

At a time when politics are passing on both sides of the Atlantic there has been injected into the affairs of Great Britain a document which has raised a storm of protest and comment. The charge of forgery often follows the publication of a document of such a character as the alleged Zinovieff "propaganda letter," and, in fact, has been made before in the past on somewhat similar occasions. At times Government officials and the press have been forced to admit themselves the victims of a malicious hoax. The charges and counter-charges of the game of politics as it is played on the continent now and again prove somewhat astonishing and devious to the trans-Atlantic mind. The Zinovieff letter, at all events, produced an amazing furore in the midst of a hot election campaign—in fact, it exhibited all the explosiveness of a bombshell.

While it may or may not prove to be in itself a cause celebre it has given a good deal of food for thought and reminiscence. The "forged letter" has a unique place of its own in the chronicles of Great Britain's political history. It has cropped up before and, as a weapon in the hands of the unscrupulous, it will doubtless crop up again. While the Zinovieff letter came at a time when the elections were at a critical stage it did not strike with nearly the compelling force as the most famous "forged letter" of them all—the Parnell facsimile, printed by England's most trustworthy newspaper and which, although later proved to be an out-and-out forgery, had the entire empire by the ears before the truth became known in court.

There was a far more stirring background to this letter than to any other forgery before or since. Charles Stewart Parnell had battled with the leadership of the Irish party in the House of Commons and on the floor

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean white ointment made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite—colds of all sorts. Seldom fails to deliver results. 40c and 75c, at all druggists.

Better than a mustard plaster

Ireland was torn by factions—it was a land aflame with animosity toward England. Lord Cavendish, newly appointed Chief Secretary for Ireland, and an under-secretary named Burke, had been brutally murdered by Irish assassins in Phoenix Park and Parnell, the acknowledged chief of the party in Parliament, had signed a manifesto bluntly denouncing the crime. He had stated frankly to friends that the knives of the slayers had undone his work of years.

And then The Times printed a letter. On March 7, 1887, it had commenced publication of a series of articles entitled "Parnellism and Crime" which essayed to prove that the Parnell movement was interwoven with the wave of violence that was sweeping Ireland and that it was aimed to overthrow British authority. The letter which stunned all England purported to bear the signature of Parnell himself and its contents openly condoned the Phoenix Park affair. This is what London and the whole of the empire read:

Dear Sir: I am not surprised at your friend's anger, but he and you should know that to denounce the murders was the only course open to us. To do that promptly was plainly our best policy. But you can tell him and all others concerned that, though I regret the accident of Lord Cavendish's death, I cannot refuse to admit that Burke got no more than his

Sore Throat

It aches and throbs with pain. The tonsils are so swollen that it hurts to swallow. And the chest feels "as tight as a drum."

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens so
Naturally Nobody Can Tell

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the money to buy it. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray disappears, but what delights the ladies with Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces a soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

thrust upon him. His adherents looked, quite naturally, for a storm of righteous anger, for tremendous eloquence and for vigorous phrases. Instead Parnell spoke almost dispassionately.

Called It False

"When I saw what purported to be my signature I saw plainly that it was an audacious and unblushing falsification," were his words. "Many members of the House have seen my signature and if they will compare it with what purports to be my signature in The Times they will see there are only two letters in the whole name which bear any resemblance to letters in my own signature as I write it. I cannot understand how the members of a responsible journal could have been hoodwinked, hoaxed, bamboozled—and that is the most charitable interpretation which I can place on it—as to publish such a production as that as my signature, my writing. Its whole character is entirely different."

He went on in this way, calmly and with a measured voice, until his hearers wondered at the nonchalant with which he dismissed a tremendous charge.

"I unfortunately write a very cramped hand. My letters huddle into each other and I write with great difficulty and slowness. But the signature in question is written by a ready penman, who has evidently covered as many leagues of letter paper in his life as I have yards. If the House could see my signature and the forged, fabricated signature, they would see that, except as regards two letters, the whole signature bears no resemblance to mine. The same remark applies to the letter. The letter does not purport to be in my handwriting. We are not interested in the absolute and irrefutable evidence of want of genuineness and authenticity. Politics have come to a pretty pass in this country when the leader of a party

The Appealing Charm of Health and Beauty!

London, Ont.—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription proved very beneficial to me as a tonic and nerve. After motherhood I was very weak and could not regain my strength. I did not appear to have any blood, but after taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for a short time my health and strength came back. I heartily recommend Favorite Prescription to all weak and ailing women."—Mrs. Harvey Dishman, 184 Rectory Street.

DRINK WATER IF BACK OR KIDNEYS HURT

Begin Taking Salts if You Feel Backache or Have Bladder Weakness

Too much rich food forms acids which excite and overwork the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Flush the kidneys occasionally to relieve them like you relieve the bowels, removing acids, waste and poison, else you may feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, the stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get irritated, obliging one to get up two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids and flush out the body's urinous waste, begin drinking water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine and bladder disorders disappear.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and also bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and there to help prevent serious kidney and bladder disorders.

By all means, drink lots of good water every day. Have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

of 86 members has to stand up at ten minutes past one in the morning in the House of Commons to defend himself against such an anonymous fabrication."

Such was the defence of Charles Stewart Parnell, as taken down by a witness of that tense scene. But The London Times had had an expert pass on the handwriting who had pronounced it genuine before publication. What did Parnell have to say to that? He had nothing to say. He let the matter drop while still the articles on "Parnellism and Crime" continued to appear and more and more the nation was aroused. It was a remarkable example of coolness in a crisis. Presumably, however, there came a sudden sweep into the dramatic. An ally of Parnell's was attacked in the articles and he carried his fight into court. What did Parnell have to say to that?
