The Republican party will be relieved by Mr. Denby's action, for the Democrats were making the most of the fact that the man who signed the oil lands leases remained in office. His resignation does not, however, free the Secretary of the Navy from any enquiry into his acts, or from the consequences of any dereliction of duty, if such there were. President Coolidge is bound by his own utterance to act upon any evidence of wrong-doing that may be submitted. What he said on this point in his New York speech is worthy to be quoted as a lofty declaration of purpose on the part of the head of a great nation. He said:—
"It is my dûty to extend to every individual the constitutional right to food articles. The Government has food articles. The food articles. Meanwhile it is an indignation. We have a deep sense of himiliation at such gross betrayal of trust and we lament the undermining of public confidence in official integrity. But we cannot rest with righteous wrath; still less can we permit ourselves to give way to cynicism. The heart of the American people is sound. Their officers, with rare exception, are faithful and high minded. For us, we propose to follow the clear, open path of justice. There will be immediate, adequate, unshrinking prosecution, criminal and civil, to punish the guilty and to protect every more of the consuming public endends as the profits by the people's not exploit to the profits by the people's necessity at such a time.

They have waited long for republished: l want no hue and cry, no mingling of innocent and guilty in unthinking condemnation, no confusion of mere questions of law with questions of fraud and corruption. It is at such a time that the quality of our citizenry is tested—unrelenting toward evil, fair minded and intent upon the requirements of due process, the shield of the innocent and the safeguard of society itself, I ask the support of our people as Chief Magistrate, intent on the enforcement of our laws without fear or favor, no matter who is hurt or what the consequences. Distressing states of the people were revealed by their instant reaction against wrong-doing. The officers of the Government, without respect to party, have demonstrated a common purpose to protect Government property and to bring guilt to justice. We have the trials and perplexities of our day, but they seem insignificant compared with those which taxed the genius of Lincoln. The Government will maintain itself now. which ought to know the plans of Hon. Mr. Meighen and the Conservative party, prints an Ottawa despatch to the effect that the Opposition will challenge the fitness of four of the Ministers to sit in the Cabinet of Premier King. Hon. John Sinclair, Minister without portfolio, Hon. E. J. McMurray are named but the other two are as yet nameless. It is not intimated that any charge affecting the personal honor of these members will be made, but the allegation appears to be that their relations with institutions and matters with which the Government must deal are such as to make their retention as Ministers improper. No reply to the Mail and Empire story has yet been given.

Such a challenge to what is best in the heart of the nation is worthy of the heart of the nation is worthy of the President, and should have a profound influence upon public sentiment in regard to honesty in public affairs. The American nation has been largely free from public scandals involving members of the Federal Government, howeven much they have been hood-winked at times by the seekers after special privileges and graft. President Coolidge reminds the people that character is the only true foundation of the State and proclaims his faith that the heart of the people is sound. The action taken in the matter of the oil lands scandal will be the test of the justification or otherwise of the faith he has proclaimed.

declined to make any comment and Hon. Mr. Sinclair is not in Ottawa. It is evident from the utterances of Conservative leaders who have been carrying on a vigorous campaign of public speaking in the central and western provinces, that they are in a most aggressive mood and have some hope of being able to force the Government to go to the country. The coming parliamentary session will be one of the most lively in recent years.

DENBY AND COOLIDGE

Presque Isle, Feb. 18-Fire yesterday From a far-off, larger life, Where the flood-tides of endeavor Ebb and flow in stress and strife. Who shall stay the magic music? Who interpret to the night All the loveliness that lingers At the gate of heart's delight.

Furry folk in shadowy shelters, Birds that know the airy way. Do they in their moonlit dreaming Hear the fairy pipers play?

Does the flower-bud when the wind stris Fold the sweetness in its heart, Shaping, tinting to that music Every separate perfect part?

O, we know not, know this only: That the mind of man has wrought Power to catch a far-flung cadence, Power to stay a fleeting thought.

Though we dwell in lonely places, Though the great world pass us by, Far-off voices in the twilight Bring us greeting from the sky.
