Gleaner attacked Mr. Gould, and this is his answer.

The people of New Brunswick are not greatly concerned about squabbles between politicians and contractors, but they are encerned about the manner in which the affairs of the province are conducted. We have here a distinct intimation that a contractor was asked to contribute to a government campaign fund, which would be used for no other purpose than to debauch the electorate.

The revelation must come as a shock to those persons, if there are any, who be lieve that the present provincial government was above this sort of thing. These were the men who were to bring in the political millennium in this province. Mr. Gould tells us how far they have got. What do the people think about it?

Justin McCarthy began life as a journalist in 1848, in his native city of Cork. In 1862 he went to Liverpool and later to London, where in 1870 he became a leader-writer for the Daily News. He entered parliament in 1870. All through the varied phases of the Home Rule struggle Justin McCarthy, while an ardent advocate of the cause, was moderate in the expression of his views, and held the respect and esteem of all. As a writer his style was singularly clear and charming, and he wrote without bitterness. He lived in stirring times, the contemporary of great men in literature, politics, science and religion, He has left pen pictures of many of them, and stories of the events in which they moved, that will be cheriahed now that he has laid down the life that never seemed to him à burden, but ratter an opportunity for service to the causes which appealed to him. GOVERNMENT AID GIVEN

The Times recently directed attention to the fact that there had been an awakening in the Eastern Townships of Quebec, and that the people there, like those in New Brunswick, were demanding for their district a larger share of attention in the government campaign for immigrants.

A few days ago a large delegation of the Rastern Townships Associated Boards of Trade called upon Hon. Robert Rogers, Minister of the Interior, and presented their case. They pointed out that there was a dearth of laborers for the farms, the manufactories and even the homes of the people. The department had issued pamphlets descriptive of the several provinces, and this delegation asked that the game rule be applied to the Eastern Townships, with a special representative to look after their interests.

Mr. Rogers promised that, if the delegation of the literature prepared, the store of the surgeon's knife.

Mr. Rogers promised that, if the delegation of the case and the colly and the collegation asked that the gentlemen not in the gentlemen not in the gentlemen not on the Citizens. Ticket who were elected to the Standard did not openly advocate their election.

This information ought to be of considerable interest to the premier of New Brunswick. We have heard a good deal about what ought to be done to bring immigrants to this province, but must still depend upon what Mr. Bowder, with a miserably small appropriation, is able to do.

The woman who "lugged" a young man from Boston to Yarmouth, married him, took him back to Boston and presented him with a lot of bills to pay, must have been even more formidable than a window smashing suffragette.
