The Steamer Danube to Carry Another Large Contingent of Miners to Dyea.

She Leaves To-Night or To-Morrow-The Seattle Late-Other Shipping Matters.

From Friday's Daily. Wharf street is very busy to-day, and every avenue or slope leading to the waterfront is thronged with people. The busiest part of the waterfront, of course, is that in the vicinity of the C.P.N. Co.'s steamer Danube, which is taking on freight preparatory to her trip to Dyea and Skagway Bay. The Danube has been at the outer wharf for the pas' two days loading freight, and she did not come in to the inner harbor until about noon to-day. In the paddocks near the Kingston's wharf are a number of pack horses, which a local man is selling to those going up on the Clon-dyke trail, and he is finding a ready sale. Local produce dealers are sending up a large quantity of hay and other food for the horses now up there, and almost every merchant is contributing to her cargo in one way and another The City of Seattle, which arrived from the Sound about noon, brought over a number of miners who will be passen-Brook, brought with him six horses, four mules and a large amount of produce and provisions. The Danube will call at Vancouver, but will not touch at any of the other ports, the Louise, which sails to-morrow, attending to the northern business. will sail at 8 o'clock, or as soon after on the Yukon river.

The steamer Eugene, which will carry a cargo of provisions and a large number of men up the Yukon river to Dawson City for Messrs, Davidge & Co., is due to arrive in the Roads on Monday next. She will not come to Victoria for many reasons, the saving of pilotage and ed. The plans of the Bristol have been ward from Comox she will come on to any criterion she will have a full cargo

Notwithstanding the fact that the Clondyke boom is keeping them very busily engaged, the C. P. N. Co. are not neglecting their vessels. The Princess Louise, which sails for the Northern way ports to-morrow evening; the Danube, going to Dyea and Skagway direct, has been repainted, and the Transfer, which has just come off the ways, looks like a new vessel, having been repaired and overhauled thoroughly. The Transfer left for the Frager this afternoon to resume her run on the Chilliwack route. The increased trade is also affecting them in other ways, for now there are more men on the pay-roll of the company than there has been for years. In the are busily engaged building gang planks, hustle all along the line.

At the Clayoquot cannery but 200 cases have been taken so far. Mining is the thing on the coast at present, and prospectors are as thick as hotel runners around an incoming steamer at the C.P.N. Co.'s wharf. They are to be met everywhere. The Willapa brought down seve al sacks of ore, including about half a ton for W. J. F. M. He brought with him a large amount o machinery, the loading of which detain ed the steamer many hours on the Sound. This machinery, which was purchased from the well-known Seattle ship building firm of Moran Bros., consists of boilers, pipes, cylinders, etc. Mr. Yorke, with a party of Victorians to help him carry out the work, will leave Victoria about the beginning of next week on the steamer Thistle, which has been chartered for the trip. The Thistle will land the expedition and passengers and freight at the mouth of the Stickeen river and from there the machinery and men will be taken by a smaller vessel up the river to Telegraph creek, from which point the trail will be taken to Teslin Lake. The Capital Lacrosse Club has practically dropped out of the provincial league, and in a manner that lays them open to considerable censure. They have played all their home games, with one exception, while they have two engagements away from home, one at West-minster and the other at Vancouver.
