Making Fairs Educational Communication Three years ago when F. W. Hodson, ive stock commissioner, pointed out to the annual meeting of the association of fairs and exhibitions the utter ineffeciency of many of the agricultural societies of Ontario, and unfolded a systematic plan of improvement, he was looked on by many of the delegates as a langerous iconoclast. The fact that fairs which received government grants were intended to be educational seemed to be almost forgotten, and the proposal o arrange the fairs in convenient circuits and send them expert judges who would give educational addresses in the ring was considered impracticable by many. Still the project was taken up it is expected that about 170 agricu societies in Ontario will arrange with the provincial department of agriculture for the services of expert judges. Last year 152 societies in that province were supplied with judges, while in the other provinces and the Territories many of the fairs had expert judges furnished by the local and Dominion departments of agriculture.
