On the evening of 14th July I was standing in the barn at home, after sundown and saw the mail driver coming down the road with two passengers—a lady and gentleman. How A CURATE BECAME A RECTOR.—A curate of a London parish, of most exemplary conduct, was accustomed to remonstrate very freely with any of his people whose life was not what it should have been. They wished much to get rid of him, but could find no pretext for complaint, either to the rector or the bishop. They therefore hit upon this cunning plan—they drew up and signed a memorial to the bishop setting forth the admirable character of the curate, lamenting that his eminent worth should not be rewarded, and earnestly recommending him for preferment. Soon after, this very living innexpectedly became vacant, whereupon the bishop, considering how acceptable, as well as deserving, he appeared to be, presented him with it, informing him of the memorial. The good man thanked his people with tearful eyes, rejoicing that they had taken in good heart his freedom of speech, and assuring them that he would continue all his life the course which had won their approbation.
