HAIR VITON.—In common with many others we have felt a lively interest in the investigations which Dr. Ayer has been making to discover the causes of failure of the hair, and to provide a remedy. His researches are said to have been much more thorough and exhaustive than any ever made before. The result is now before us under the name of AYER'S HAIR VITON. We have given it a trial, and with full satisfaction. It equals our most favorable anticipations. Our gray hairs have disappeared, or resumed their original color; and a valuable crop of soft, silken hair has started on a part of the scalp which was entirely bald. (Democrat, Abingdon, Va.)

Last Thursday, says the Post, Miss Whitney, a student from Annapolis, N. S., died at the Ladies' Academy after two weeks illness from brain fever. This institution has been unusually fortunate, this being only the second death that has occurred within its walls since it was founded.

The fashionable courtesy of giving a dinner party or any entertainment to a visitor is now carried to the extreme of not only requesting the lady or gentleman to name the people they would like to meet, but to say what music would be preferred, and what there shall be for dinner. A young lady visiting friends in the city was called upon by a man recently, and invited to make up a party for the house, it being optional with her whether German, reception or dinner—the affair should take; in short, the "inviter" gave the entertainment, and the fashionable hostess had the privilege of paying the bills.—Boston Gazette.

It is often more than a question of taste how far clericalism can be in the pulpit, often to carry unceremonious address and familiar illustration. When it comes to gambling therein, one would be apt to think that only a fanatic could be found guilty. Yet Mr. Spurgeon lately presented a remedy for congregational sleepiness a game of bathtubs and shuttlecock played by the gentlemen in the pulpit. A congregation of his acquaintance did actually go through with this game before his dull congregation on several occasions, and all his sermons, "with the deepest solemnity," when all the drowsy ones were wide awake and wondering at his sportiveness, he rated them soundly for paying more attention to his bathtubs than to his sermons. This recipe of Mr. Spurgeon's would be a dangerous experiment for most ministers.

THE TOWN OF DUNDEE, Scotland, has, within the last twenty years, rapidly grown in population and wealth. Dundee, it would seem, is not above that weakness which usually attaches to a full purse. It can pay for what it wants; and it is determined to have it. Dundee has a magnificent Public School; and it is not inconveniently situated to the ancient University at St. Andrews. St. Andrews' University, in fact, largely depends on Dundee for its students. The good people of Dundee have come to the conclusion that, as they can afford it, they may as well have a College of their own. For this purpose some one hundred and thirty thousand pounds sterling, or six hundred and fifty thousand dollars, have been promised.

The Paris correspondent of the London Guardian, in his letter which appeared Dec. 18, made an assertion which, though the writer of it, has attracted general attention in England. He writes: "I am told by persons on the Continent, in correspondence with Cambray and other Roman Catholics of the same views and party in England, that the present crisis has long been foreseen by the latter, who were fully prepared for the rupture, which they felt to be inevitable, between themselves and their spiritual guides. They knew that a crisis was impending which must lead to a collision sooner or later, and would have done so, whether Mr. Gladstone's pamphlet had been written and his appeal made or not; and I am assured, on the same authority, that there is no intention on their part of yielding anything in the opinions they have expressed, or the position they have assumed. They are a good many funny things on the files of the Civil Service examiners at Washington. For instance, two candidates for $1,400 a year in the Treasury, recently said that George Washington discovered America; another, that the first General in the American Revolution? answered promptly, "Cromwell and Lafayette." A young man, who had asked what clerical experience he had had, "Very little, as he joined a church only last week." A letter on the subject of a delightful original of the points of punctuation and spelling, asking for two places—one for himself and one for his daughter. Her husband had been "in the habit of bringing on the line of the pit of his stomach, in consequence of which he died. On this point he carried the band her claim, and defiantly asked if any one could make a better show."
