Medical history

of the Centre d'etudes academiennes at the University of Moncton; it reminds us of our ancestors' resourcefulness in developing medical remedies in a time when doctors were a rare commodity.

The Chalmer's Medical Collection constitutes a recent donation Dr. E. Chalmers made to Fredericton's York-Sunbury Museum. On display will be such items as the first electrocardiograph in Fredericton, an early examining table and a number of early surgical instruments. It presents an interesting look at medical practice in our own community.
