EVANGELINE

Lay as if new-created in all the freshness of childhood.

Peace seemed to reign upon earth, and the restless heart of the ocean

Was for a moment consoled. All sounds were in harmony blended.

Voices of children at play, the crowing of cocks in the farm-yards,

¹⁶⁵ Whir of wings in the drowsy air, and the cooing of pigeons,

All were subdued and low as the murmurs of love, and the great sum

- Looked with the eye of love through the golden vapours around him;
- While arrayed in its robes of russet and searlet and yellow,

Bright with the sheen of the dew, each glittering tree of the forest

¹⁷⁰ Flashed like the plane-tree the Persian adorned with mantles and jewels.

- Now recommenced the reign of rest and affection and stillness.
- Day with its burden and heat had departed, and twilight descending

Brought back the evening star to the sky, and the herds to the homestead.

- Pawing the ground they came, and resting their neeks on each other,
- ¹⁷⁵ And with their nostrils distended inhaling the freshness of evening.
 - Foremost, bearing the bell, Evangeline's beautiful heifer,
