

The "Sta-Zon"

THE "Sta-Zon" Eyeglass embodies all the best features of the rimless variety, being of the horizontal or low spring idea, but immensely superior to any of its predecessors; its most potent features being the construction of the spring, which is made in two circular coils, doing away entirely with sharp corners and with the liability of breakage which has been the worst defect of the older kinds. The bend necessary in placing the "Sta-Zon" on the face, being against the compression of these two coils causes it to rebound to exactly where it started from, thereby producing the maximum amount of resiliency instead of unbending as was the case with former varieties of low-spring glasses. We cheerfully recommend the "Sta-Zon" as being the best eyeglass extant to-day.
