ing, laboring under the delusion that he was leading a full orchestra and a couple of brass bands, and soliciting contributions from passers-by. After he had created considerable excitement and attracted no small amount of attention, he was escorted by the above mentioned arms of the law to the police station, where he appeared before the magistrate on a charge of being insane. He was remanded until Aug. 16. A charge of insanity laid against Mrs. Margaret Cready was dismissed; four non-workers were given the customary week in which to find employment, and a bibulant, on his first appearance before the tribunal, was allowed to go. For a breach of the liquor by-law, Clarence Wheeler was assessed $12.85, and a charge against Frank Bryans for a breach of the public health act was adjourned for a week.

THE BRANT

Many and successful have been the serial moving pictures shown at the Brant Theatre during the past two years, but it is doubtful if any yet featured in this city have attained such a high degree of popularity as has already been done by "The Iron Claw," the third installment of which is now showing at the Brant Theatre, and is replete with thrills and adventure of the most absorbing nature. The dainty film star, Mae Murray appears also in a five reel picture of great merit, the drama of olden days, "Sweet Kitty Bellairs." A classy singing and dancing offering is that of Lowy and the Lacey sisters, while Collins, Elliott and Lindsay present an acrobatic performance of unusual ability, comprising a number of the most novel feats ever performed in this city.
