

A suggestion—Make pin money painting little scenes on post cards.

Sending part of her birthday money to buy a badge for some less fortunate member.

Another badge goes over the seas. Yesterday one made a bee-line for bonny Scotland.

The boundaries of Each and All are widening. Last week, one bee spread wings and started to far-off Hawaii.

The Helpful Spirit of Each and All

An Organization in Which the Poor Girl and the Rich Girl Take Rank Together—A Letter and Its Answer

A FEW days ago I received a letter which set me to thinking. The writer has belonged to Each and All for some time, but I had not heard from her for a good while. She apologized for not writing sooner, but said she had not had the time or the stamps. She went on to say: "I have been reading your talk on sub-clubs. It is a splendid article for the girl who has leisure time, money, girl friends and a home that she can invite them to (I have neither), and last, but not least, good clothes. For nowadays people don't look at your manners or morals; they look at your clothes. Many a girl would join the club, but cannot afford many stamps, and 50 cents for a badge is more than she could dream of spending when it is needed in the house so badly."

How many of you girls feel as this correspondent does? I really wish to know. Myself, I don't altogether agree with her—and I recognize her honest belief in what she says.

Let me say, in the first place, that this is emphatically not a club for rich girls. Neither is it a club for poor girls. Money makes absolutely no difference. The club is for the girl who needs it, to whom it can give help and who can give help through it. I can't bear to have talk of money or social position creep into it. Some of you may recollect that several weeks ago a girl wrote me saying that she was a mill girl and that she understood I despised mill girls. I cannot tell you how that accusation hurt me. It was unfounded, as a matter of course, but it stung me that I should be accused of such a feeling.

I am afraid my correspondent must have had some hard experiences before she came to the point where she could speak so bitterly of the girl who has leisure time, money, girl friends, and a home. Of course, everybody likes good clothes, just as everybody likes to see good-looking persons, or a pretty view, or an attractive room, or scores of other pleasing things. But life does not consist in having the things you like, by any manner of means. And the friends who value you for your clothes and scorn them for the lack of it. Are you, then, so much better than the rest of the world? Will you not give others credit for possessing the same qualities as your own? So much for that. Now, as to the other part of the letter, which to me seems much more important. Is the Each and All really not a club for all the girls, no matter what their circumstances?

I can fully appreciate what the writer says about the difficulty of finding time or money for anything besides work. We all of us understand that, although in different measures. As I said to some one the other day, who remarked what a comfort it would be not to feel harassed by the cost of little things: "Everything of that sort is comparative. The woman who owns a private automobile feels her house is much more of a burden than the necessity of economizing in dollars as we feel at having to economize in cents."

It is the same way all through. We have to let something be crowded out in relaxation or enjoyment; but I have hoped that Each and All is one of the things that will come close enough to the girls to make them take it as part of their daily life. I don't want them to feel it requires an expenditure of time and money which it is beyond their power to give.

I wish my correspondent had told me a little more clearly what she wished for. I mean for her. For there are so many things that can come without much time or money. If the postage for a continual correspondence is beyond her, cannot she form a sub-club among those about her? We have a number of these. They are for different things. One kind of sub-club is to do their sewing together, while one reads aloud. Another kind is studying together, taking books from the free public library. The book club nothing and the time they give to these, while not long, is yet enough to move them to desire to know more and to widen their views. Another kind of sub-club is a walking club, and they take long tramps on Saturday afternoons, Sundays and holidays. Still another club is trying out of their little luck and help others, and the members do ing are not worth having. They are not the real kind, and they do not know the real YOU at all. Don't trouble yourself about them. But don't be too ready to accuse others of holding a standard of values you yourself would despise. You don't value your friends for their "finery" and scorn them for the lack of it.

ving ways in which to earn money to lift these worse than themselves out of financial perplexities. Another point suggested by this letter I wish to emphasize. This club is EACH AND ALL! That means the girls are to help one another, and that those who have more are to share with those who have less. There should be no talk of favors granted on either side. The girls who have a little more money than the others give that, but they may get back what is worth far more than money in companionship, in encouragement, in examples of patience, of pluck, of strength, of kindness.

Objects and Aims of "Each and All"

PERHAPS some of you, seeing this page for the first time, wonder just what the Each and All Society really is. Well, there is about its aims and objects to create as widespread an interest among "young girls of all ages" as possible. This society was founded in February, 1905, with Christine Terhune Herick for its president, and with a group of instant members, girls in almost every State in the Union and in Canada.

Its object is to help girls help themselves by developing their talents into something the world wants; to solve difficult problems—the sort a girl wants a calm, unbiassed, out-of-the-family opinion upon; and to promote the exchange of general help.

Any girl can belong. There is no red tape about it. The sending of your name for membership gives you the range of every opportunity the society boasts. And Mrs. Herick stands ready to welcome, to advise, and to help.

Send in your name for membership.

The Post Card Exchange and Correspondents

ADDRESS of post card collectors given exclusively to members. Each card and every request for addresses must be accompanied by stamped and self-addressed envelope.

I would like to correspond with somebody who could tell me where I could find a good place for a dining, dining, or nice cooking. I can also read nicely in my own home, and I am not one of those who do not laborious work at present.

M. C. (Brighton, Mass.)

I would like very much if you would give my name and address to some girls who live in the Western States, and wish to exchange post cards.

JANNAH (Schuykill Haven, Pa.)

Will you please give my name to any one who wishes to exchange post cards with me? I am a member of the Each and All Society, and I think it would be a good idea for a correspondent.

B. B. F. (Camden, N. J.)

I should like very much to exchange post cards with some of the girls, especially those who live at a distance.

F. O. K. (Malden, Mass.)

I would like to exchange post cards with some of your girls. Our town furnishes very pretty ones. I have a large collection already, but would like to add a few more. I read a great deal, and am interested in art and music.

I would like to have more knowledge about both. Could some of your girls furnish it? I would like to correspond with you.

LYNN MATRON (Lynn, Mass.)

Will you please give my address to any member who wishes to exchange post cards?

MICHELLE B. (Boston, Mass.)

I would like to hear from some girl living near the water. I have a very nice view of the water, and I would like to exchange post cards with her.

I would like to hear from some girl who is a member of the Each and All Society, and who is interested in the subject of post cards.

LOUIE (Los Angeles, Cal.)

I am 13 years old, and have finished the grammar grades. I am going to high school in my grade. I am large for my age, and weigh 110 pounds. I never sleep, and can run very fast. I am a member of the Each and All Society, and I would like to exchange post cards with some of your girls. I can swim a mile or more, and I always spend my vacations at Catalina Island, thirty miles from Los Angeles. You may give my address to any one who wishes to hear from me.

LOUIE (Los Angeles, Cal.)

I should like to hear from any of the girls who write Osgood's shorthand, and will also exchange souvenir postcards, preferring those from distant cities. Will some member who is an enthusiast in the latter subject please inform us how we can obtain postcards from foreign countries?

F. R. (Pittston, Pa.)

I am married, 25 years old, and just out of the hospital from a year's illness. I should like to have the girls write me. I have an hobby, fancy work, plants, photography, and progress, and also am a lover of music and singing. Won't some member please write me?

LYNN MATRON (Lynn, Mass.)

I am 16 years old, and I would like some girl of about the same age to write to me.

MIDGE (Rutland, Mass.)

I am 15 years old, and go into high school this year. I am a member of the Each and All Society, and I would like to correspond with some of your girls. I would like to correspond with some of your girls who are interested in the subject of post cards.

I am 13 years old, and I live with my cousin, who has had me since I was a tiny baby. I would like some of the girls to write to me. SUGGESTIONS AND QUESTIONS BY MEMBERS

A General Letter

Dear Mrs. Herick: I am, or was, a school teacher, can crochet, knit, hemstitch, etc., but have worried health, so cannot indulge in such work much. Housework takes all my strength, with the care of my 3-year-old child.

Now for a suggestion. Sweaters are still much worn. I crocheted one from dresden, and know one girl who knit them for others. She made a great many at 5 cents each, and I sold them for 10 cents each. I have a few more, and am much in demand, and if the crocheting be regularly and carefully done, should find a ready market. Ready to Exchange

Dear Mrs. Herick: I have the following idea on my mind: I am a stenographer and am studying for speed in shorthand, but I need some one to take dictation for me. I would like to exchange post cards with some girl who is a member of the Each and All Society, and who is interested in the subject of shorthand.

I am 15 years old, and I would like some girl of about the same age to write to me.

To Suit Different Tastes

Dear Mrs. Herick: I have the girls in Los Angeles and towns near could all meet at some place, and in that way become acquainted. We could form a social and athletic club. This would be for the girls who are interested in the subject of post cards.

I am 15 years old, and I would like some girl of about the same age to write to me.

Will Somebody Design a Frame?

Dear Mrs. Herick: I want to ask some of your clever girls to design a photo frame to hold, say, six Each and All photos of our members, and I want to ask some of your clever girls to design a photo frame to hold, say, six Each and All photos of our members.

A Companion

Dear Mrs. Herick: I am going to ask you if any of your girls know of an elderly lady that would like a companion. I am 25 years of age and not good looking. I have never worked for strangers before, but circumstances alter cases, and I want to go to work soon. I would like to know if any of your girls know of any lady that would like a companion. EACH AND ALL TALK WITH THE EDITOR

LET me thank the girls who have interested themselves in the "Badge Fund" and have sent in contributions to help purchase pins for those who cannot afford to spend the money for them. I do not print the names of the donors, for I am sure they would rather remain anonymous, but I thank them all in my own name and in that of Each and All. I wish also to thank the members who have sent me the copies of Eugene Field's poem, "Faint Things at Night," in response to the request of "K. M. D." Pouchard, E. C. Two or three copies of the poem are still in my possession. If any other member should wish one and will send for it, including a stamped and self-addressed envelope, the following suggestion may prove of value to some of our girls. It comes from a woman who knows what she is talking about.

The Woman Agent's Life

Dear Mrs. Herick: I have been obliged to stay at home with my little niece, and if I had better health, I feel sure I'd go out as a woman agent. One woman, who is a member of the Each and All Society, has been very successful. She has plenty of fresh air, is more independent and should be a great help to me. I am a member of the Each and All Society, and I would like to exchange post cards with some of your girls. I can swim a mile or more, and I always spend my vacations at Catalina Island, thirty miles from Los Angeles. You may give my address to any one who wishes to hear from me.

LOUIE (Los Angeles, Cal.)

A Clever Suggestion

Dear Mrs. Herick: Some day when you have an opportunity, suggest to the friends you have and want to help, that if they make paper dolls, big ones and little ones, a family of mother, father and children, with some pretty dresses, they can sell them readily both at the exchanges and through the Each and All Society. I would like to see a set of dolls, and if you can get me one I will pay it for the set if they are nicely made, and I think that those who like to paint and draw can do them very well.

C. S. (Lodge, N. C.)

The Oldest Wall Paper Existing

Dear Mrs. Herick: I have some buttons and old wall paper I would like very much to sell. Of the buttons I have over a thousand, no two alike. It was a sad young man some years ago to see who could get the largest number. I would like very much to dispose of them at some price.

I am 15 years old, and I would like some girl of about the same age to write to me.

MIDGE (Rutland, Mass.)

Suggestions for Games Offered

Dear Mrs. Herick: I would like to see suggestions for games. I should be glad to help them as much as lies in my power.

E. M. R. (Wakefield, Mass.)

Would not some of the girls interested in games like the address of "K. M. R."?

To Would-be Trained Nurses

Dear Mrs. Herick: I read with much interest each week your page. I was a trained nurse before my marriage, and I am sure I could be of great help to some of your girls. I am a member of the Each and All Society, and I would like to exchange post cards with some of your girls. I can swim a mile or more, and I always spend my vacations at Catalina Island, thirty miles from Los Angeles. You may give my address to any one who wishes to hear from me.

A Little Mountain Girl

Dear Mrs. Herick: I hope you will like to hear from a little mountain girl. I long to be an author, and I think I have some talent in that direction. I would like to exchange post cards with some of your girls. I can swim a mile or more, and I always spend my vacations at Catalina Island, thirty miles from Los Angeles. You may give my address to any one who wishes to hear from me.

LOUIE (Los Angeles, Cal.)

Interested in Religious Work

Dear Mrs. Herick: I and perhaps others, am most anxious to get in touch with some of your girls. I am a member of the Each and All Society, and I would like to exchange post cards with some of your girls. I can swim a mile or more, and I always spend my vacations at Catalina Island, thirty miles from Los Angeles. You may give my address to any one who wishes to hear from me.

My Girls Who Teach

Dear Mrs. Herick: I have a daughter about 12 years old. The older one has been kept away from school a great deal on account of sickness, and she is now behind in her studies. I cannot afford to have a private teacher to help her along, but I would like to have a teacher from some of your girls. I would like to have a teacher from some of your girls. I would like to have a teacher from some of your girls.

"The Happiest Vocation"

Here is a communication in answer to a question asked recently on this page:

Dear Mrs. Herick: I noticed you asked our opinions of girls becoming wives and remaining single. Some one said she thought all girls should marry and have a home of their own. I think it is the happiest vocation in the world for a girl to get married to a kind, loving man who has a home of his own. I am a member of the Each and All Society, and I would like to exchange post cards with some of your girls. I can swim a mile or more, and I always spend my vacations at Catalina Island, thirty miles from Los Angeles. You may give my address to any one who wishes to hear from me.

Information Asked

Dear Mrs. Herick: As you give help on all kinds of subjects, I am going to ask you to be kind enough to advise me. Having heard so much of the benefits of electric light, I am very anxious to try one. Are there any books on the subject by which one could teach herself?

I have a battery and would like to know how to use it. I am a member of the Each and All Society, and I would like to exchange post cards with some of your girls. I can swim a mile or more, and I always spend my vacations at Catalina Island, thirty miles from Los Angeles. You may give my address to any one who wishes to hear from me.
