Two Great Musical Plays. It is many years since any opera or musical comedy captivated the fancy of any operadity and forcibly as "A Country girl" and "The Cingelee," and for this reason there is no composer whose works are so cagerly anticipated as those of Lionel Moneton. His strength is in the fact that this melody while of the most seductive character is like-wises works are so can be a significant and the seductive character is like-wise replete with sensibility and signi-sance, brightened up by a varigated or-chestra coloring and seattered over with a dready stated the stage settings are aid to be "dreams" in themselves. CHAS. J. PARTRIDGE HONORED

On New Year's Eve the employees of Buntin, Gillies & Co. honored one of their number, Charles Partridge, by pre-senting him with a beautiful Morris chair. Mr. Partridge, who has been with the firm ever since leaving school, has recently joined the ranks of the benedicts and the present was a slight token of the esteem in which he is held by his. fellow employees. The chair presentation of the facts has great weight with an intelligent audience. Diveryone should hear him at Associa-tion Hall on Sunday at 4 p. m. Music token of the esteem in which he is held by his fellow employees. The chair was accompanied by an address convey-ing congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Partridge, and was suit-ably responded to by the recipient.
